Telling Stories Differently Janet Condry, 2015-09-01 The aim of this book is to share a relatively loose collection of studies using digital storytelling as a pedagogical tool in Cape Peninsula University of Technology CPUT The book takes an informed social justice approach to teaching and learning at the heart of which is the exploration of DST as a practice of voice and agency Voice and agency are important in excavating and recovering subjugated identities and moving the concerns of those occupying subaltern spaces to the mainstream of teaching and learning Yet this discursive shift is not without inherent challenges Multi modal technologies are reflective of wider inequities in the so called technological divide Whilst this is a book about higher education there are important lessons for schooling On the one hand the book is a powerful demonstration of the potential of DST for enhancing learning in schools particularly in schools serving the poor and marginalised On the other hand improving teaching and learning in higher education through the creative use of technology is essential to overcome the learning challenges of those entering tertiary level institutions Annual Performance Plan KwaZulu-Natal (South Africa). Office of the Premier, 2017 Guide to Government Youth Programmes South Africa. National Youth Commission, 1999 Climate Change Debra D. Joseph, Maud Mthembu, Camille Huggins, 2025-04-28 This book highlights the challenges with respect to climate change in the Global South It demonstrates what has been happening in varying countries in this geographic location and how sustainable adaptation interventions could be used to alleviate these challenges Most countries in the Global South are extremely vulnerable and unprepared for the present and future impact of climate change Some climate change events that are presently plaguing these locations are extreme weather events such as flooding food insecurity disasters and droughts The book provides case studies and interventions that can be a source to others who are seeking to find solutions to these adverse climate change events Skills Development in Very Small and Micro Enterprises Simon A. McGrath, 2005 This volume draws together two studies for the Department of Labour a picture of the dynamism of many such firms emerges Considerable learning is going on amongst the highly diverse VSME population and the challenge for the state lies in how to support what is already going on how to spread it and how to avoid over interference in enterprises whose success has typically been irrespective of or in spite of external interventions The Research Programme on Human Resources Development HRD at the Human Sciences Research Council HSRC aims to inform the development of skills that will meet national social and economic needs In addition to producing an HRD Review and an electronically accessible cross sectoral warehouse the Research Programme undertakes user driven research in education and training focusing on further and higher education and science technology and education with a strong emphasis on learning pathways especially the transition between different levels of education and training and between education and
