Hingham America Through Time:

Hingham Stephen Dempsey and Alexander Macmillan, 2014 When the Reverend Peter Hobart disembarked in 1635 near what is now the intersection of North and Ship streets he knew that he had found a gem Roughly 20 miles south of Boston Massachusetts Hingham has a rich history of fishing industry and recreation Once the leading mackerel fishing port on the eastern seaboard and later known as Bucket Town for the woodenware it produced Hingham gradually became a bedroom community whose population works elsewhere for the most part The Town has fortunately preserved much of its historic character which in addition to its waterfront amenities recreational facilities and outstanding educational system continue to make us an attractive and sought after place to live Never before published photographs along with some old favorites from various collections help to bring Hingham's evolutionary story to life in this series and provide a window into its heritage Enjoy these glimpses of Hingham then and now to see for yourself that although there are many new buildings and altered neighborhoods many scenes from yesterday are still familiar As former town resident Governor John D Long once wrote Not all has changed A Guide to Seventeenth and Eighteenth Century Hingham Volume I Stephen Dempsey, 2017 Hingham is one of the oldest towns in America settled 1633 The town's primary resource that underlies the environmental excellence is its distinctive contiguous wood frame architectural resource is an aesthetic cultural and economic resource that is also a national heritage During each year many questions are posed to me regarding Hingham's natural and historic resources Without question the most sought after information is for a history of the town's old buildings Invariably I am asked Where is and how old is the oldest house in Hingham Unfortunately the oldest house is not yet known There are no comprehensive records Hingham's pioneers were too fully occupied in clearing the land for planting and grazing fields building stone fences and in other pursuits necessary for survival in a new land to record the date on which their house barn or saw mill frame was raised Many of them could not write further than to put their mark on official documents How then could they know that every swing of the axe and hammer was paving the way toward that day when the shot heard round the world would give birth to the American Republic The Journal of American History, 1911 Unitarianism in America George Willis Cooke, 1902 Magazine of American History, 1910 Annual Report of the American Historical Association American Historical Association, 1920 The Bulletin of the American Iron and Steel Association American Iron and Steel Association, 1882 Catalog ... of the American Historical Library, Collection of Alfred S.
