MODEL ANSWER (STREAMLINED) - 'What is the purpose of Source B?' (7/8 marks)

Cambridge IGCSE History

2025 - KQ2

The purpose of Source B is to highlight the optimism and readiness of the League of Nations to treat the world into a more peaceful and stable world, whilst also alluding to the potential challenges the League may face in getting their mission off the ground. The intended audience is the British public, and the message the cartoonist is attempting to send is one of cautious optimism. The cartoon depicts an archway labelled 'League of Nations' that appears to be perfectly constructed out of a stiff material like the 'statue of liberty' above, there is a signpost labeled 'The League of Nations' pointing away from the main archway, above the signpost and towards the horizon where the sky becomes clear, and the cartoonist begins, 'The optimism of the cartoon is 'ready to burst'. The cartoon symbolises the League of Nations and how glad to take the world out of the dark and turbulent times of WWI, as symbolised by the clouds above and towards a brighter future, symbolising the cloud that WWI created and ending war. However, the lack of a doorway, required for a system to successfully take off, could also suggest a reservation about whether the League of Nations will successfully be able to get their mission off the ground or whether their plans are perhaps overly ambitious and their structural flaws and limited resources for general criticism in their long term success.

Using your knowledge, know that the League of Nations was created as part of Woodrow Wilson's plans for lasting peace following the signing of the Treaty of Versailles in 1919. However, the League had many structural and operational flaws from the very outset of its creation. A lack of representation, unbalanced and uneven structure where underrepresented democracies possessed a number of votes disproportionate among others that it would be able to carry out its job effectively. Coupled with this was the lack of leadership and leading states were from countries like America's unwillingness. Without America, some doubted whether the League had the power to regulate and enforce international conflicts and peacekeeping powers, as represented in the cartoon. The cartoonist's viewpoint is one of cautious optimism. It represents the idea of hope for the future and growth with the League of Nations determined to achieve its aim, but also highlights the fact that the mission may be a difficult one to achieve. In short, the purpose of the cartoon is to acknowledge the lofty goals of the League while also highlighting the fragile foundation upon which these ambitions are set. The cartoon suggests that the success of the League is uncertain and that it is about to undertake a significant challenge.
