Confronting Female Genital Mutilation Marie-Hélène Mottin-Sylla, Joëlle Palmieri, Mamsaï Jagne, 2011-07-14 Excision or female genital mutilation FGM in Africa is no longer the private concern only of women it is a social and political issue that concerns both men and women and this book reports on an innovative research and action project amongst girls and boys in Burkina Faso Mali and Senegal The project explores whether young people's use of information technology could contribute to the abandonment of FGM In the age of the internet beliefs and practices of FGM are shifting particularly among young people The results of this project show how in the era of globalized citizenship a cross sectional vision that puts young people and gender at the center of development can produce real change

Reducing Inequalities Rémi Genevey, R. K. Pachauri, Laurence Tubiana, 2013-01-01 The reduction of inequalities within and between countries stands as a policy goal and deserves to take centre stage in the design of the Sustainable Development Goals agreed during the Rio 20 Summit in 2012 The 2013 edition of A Planet for Life represents a unique international initiative grounded on conceptual and strategic thinking and most importantly empirical experiments conducted on five continents and touching on multiple realities This unprecedented collection of works proposes a solid empirical approach rather than an ideological one to inform future debate The case studies collected in this volume demonstrate the complexity of the new systems required to accommodate each country's specific economic political and cultural realities These systems combine technical financial legal fiscal and organizational elements with a great deal of applied expertise and are articulated within a clear well understood growth and job generating development strategy Inequality reduction does not occur by decree neither does it automatically arise through economic growth nor through policies that equalize incomes downward via ill conceived fiscal policies Inequality reduction involves a collaborative effort that must motivate all concerned parties one that constitutes a genuine political and social innovation and one that often runs counter to prevailing political and economic forces

Trade in the Service of Sustainable Development Olivier De Schutter, 2015-09-10 In the Bretton Woods era trade liberalization the improvement of labour rights and working conditions and the strengthening of environmental policies were seen as mutually supportive But is this always true Can we continue to pretend to protect the rights of workers and to improve environmental protection particularly through climate change mitigation strategies within an agenda focused on trade liberalization Is it credible to pursue trade policies that aim to expand the volumes of trade without linking such policies to labour and environmental standards seen as non trade concerns This book asks these questions offering a detailed analysis of whether linkage is desirable and legally acceptable under the disciplines of the World Trade Organization WTO It concludes that trade can work for sustainable development but only if we see it as a means for social and environmental progress including climate change mitigation and if we avoid fetishizing it as an end to be pursued for its own sake
