Clean Coaching Angela Dunbar, 2016-10-14 Most coaches today see their role as mainly non directive helping to uncover their coachee s own wisdom However coaches may unwittingly and unconsciously constrain what their coachees talk and think about getting in the way of unique self generated solutions Clean Coaching provides a different simple yet highly effective approach to one to one facilitation It is a style strategy and set of techniques that help coachees gain insight and make changes through discovering more about their own insider perspective of themselves and the world around them Through the use of specifically phrased structured coaching questions the coach s own biased perspectives are stripped from their language ensuring the coachee s unique personal experience is honoured In Clean Coaching Angela Dunbar explains how this approach works in practical terms with descriptions of how to structure a Clean Coaching session and the steps to take within such a session The book gives detailed descriptions of the kinds of questions to ask and provides a wealth of analogues examples and case studies to bring the descriptions alive offering a clear blueprint for action In addition the book explains where Clean Coaching has come from describing the development of Clean Language and other Clean approaches by the psychologist and psychotherapist David Grove It also tracks how Clean approaches have been adopted and adapted by other practitioners Dunbar draws on current research in the fields of developmental neurological cognitive and social psychology to demonstrate why Clean Coaching works so successfully Exploring Clean Coaching in detail and informed by both research and practice this book will be a valuable resource for coaches at all levels including executive coaches and those in training as well as managers and executives acting in a coaching capacity

Teacher Education through Active Engagement Lori Beckett, 2013-12-04 Teacher Education through Active Engagement identifies and addresses a contemporary issue the ways in which teaching and teacher education are articulated by politicians civil servants business leaders and educational entrepreneurs intent on profit making in the current global neoliberal policy context This is often characterised by narrow and ill conceived ideas about teacher characteristics and competences recruiting and fast tracking graduates from elsewhere into the profession the reform of teacher training with less emphasis on theory and academic study a narrow focus on teachers core skills and the promotion of training in model teaching schools In this book contributors challenge this conceptualisation and demonstrate practitioners necessary intellectual activity to wrest back professional control By drawing on practice focused research carried out in sites of educational policy and practice each chapter exemplifies for teachers student teachers and teacher educators the sort of knowledge work to coordinate a professional reply to non educationalists who dictate the terms of teaching and teacher education The book provides directions for encouraging critical thinking analytical skills and political activism which consider the needs and interests of diverse children and young people in real classrooms real schools and real communities Illustrated throughout with practice focused research and drawing on the historical case of Winifred Mercier and her colleagues at the City of Leeds training college who challenged the establishment to leave a legacy of professional control the book will appeal to practitioners academics and researchers in the fields of teacher education and education studies
