EU Law and Obesity Prevention Amandine Garde, 2010-01-01 Since the 1980s there has been an alarming increase in the prevalence of obesity in virtually every country in the world As obesity is known to lead to both chronic and severe medical problems it imposes a cost not only on affected individuals and their families but also on society as a whole In Europe the Obesity Prevention White Paper of May 2007 followed by the adoption of an EU School Fruit Scheme the acknowledgement that food advertising to children should be limited and proposed legislation to make nutrition labeling compulsory has firmly placed obesity on the EU agenda by laying down a multi sectoral strategy and a basis for future action In accordance with this growing sense of urgency this is the first book to offer an in depth legal analysis of obesity prevention with particular reference to Europe It describes what the EU has done and could do to support Member States in fighting the obesity epidemic and clearly shows the way to locating advocacy strategies within the framework of EU law The thorough analysis includes a discussion of the following issues the need to address nutrition and physical activity as important health determinants the emphasis traditionally placed at EU level on food safety rather than food quality the need for the development of databases on nutrition and physical activity comparable common indicators and risk assessment mechanisms mainstreaming public health into all EU policies the scope of EU powers in the case law of the Court of Justice the role of information in the EU s obesity prevention strategy the Commission s proposed Mandatory Nutrition Declaration the Food Claims Regulation the regulation of food marketing to children and in particular the role of the Audiovisual Media Services Directive the Unfair Commercial Practices Directive and industry self regulation food reformulation the use of economic instruments in the EU s obesity prevention strategy with an emphasis on the Common Agricultural Policy and the EU s taxation policy and EU action in the fields of sport occupational health and safety and transport policy The author convincingly shows that conflicts of interest inherent in market forces demand a strong EU intervention preferably through legislation than self regulation She also demonstrates the urgent need to reach an agreement on the basis of reliable data about what is effective in practice to improve lifestyles The study acknowledges that the law is not a panacea but nonetheless has an influential role to play in making the healthy choice an easier choice and must move decisively towards ensuring that the societal costs associated with obesity are sustainable and that the ultimate goal of a healthy population is achievable The book is essential reading for everyone involved or interested in the development of the EU s obesity prevention policy

Urban Shrinkage, Industrial Renewal and Automotive Plants Andreas Luescher,Sujata Shetty,2018-12-13 This book focuses on the relationship between the auto industry and the built environment at multiple scales a topic of particular interest now as the industry is going through a period of major transformation Drawing from multiple perspectives including architecture urban design and urban planning the authors examine the changing form of the auto factory itself the changing geography of auto production and the challenges faced by communities as the auto plants that once brought them prosperity and often a sense of identity leave town They examine four places that are dealing in different ways and with varying success with the aftermath of a decommissioned auto plant in their midst These are Janesville Wisconsin and Willow Run Michigan in the U S and Bochum Germany and Genk Belgium in Europe Together these four cases provide some clues about what the future might look like for places that were once intimately connected with the manufacture of cars The Second

Automobile Revolution M. Freyssenet, 2009-04-30 The rapid takeoff of the continent sized national economies and the increasing expense of extraction have led to strong tensions in petrol prices and a race towards alternative driving systems This book analyses the emergence of a second automobile revolution through the trajectories of automobile firms since the nineties Integrated Design and Manufacture Using Fibre-Reinforced Polymeric Composites M J Owen, V

Middleton, I A Jones, 2000-06-19 This very practical book is intended to show how composites are increasingly being used in real world applications in areas where the primary material choice in the past would have been exclusively metals based A series of in depth case studies examines the design processes involved in putting together aircraft fuselages Formula 1 cars Transit van roofs infrastructure systems for water treatment and storage and many other novel applications for FRCs It shows how an awareness of engineering properties needs to be built into the design process at an early stage It is essential for professionals in and newcomers to the FRP industry executives in engineering and manufacturing who are considering using FRPs in place of more traditional materials students in materials science and engineering Human Factors in

Automotive Engineering and Technology Professor Neville A Stanton, Dr Guy H Walker, Professor Paul M Salmon, 2015-06-28 Offering a unique perspective on vehicle design and on new developments in vehicle technology this book bridges the gap between engineers who design and build cars and human factors as a body of knowledge with considerable value in this domain The work that forms the basis of the book represents more than 40 years of experience by the authors It offers actionable design guidance combined with a set of case studies highly relevant to current technological challenges in vehicle design
