GROPING THE MUSE Michael Whalen, 2014-10-25 BAROQUE ELBOWS BREAKING lyric stripped to the springs wired electric restitched as skeletal gab spontaneous aleatoric angled to a jab stagger rolled to a ribpoke a stumble stuttering ornament nosed to a stab to an adipose bumble movement forced into mass shoved through a gaslight a mirror an irregular pearl The muse's tragedy Edith Newbold Jones Wharton, 2001 Quicksand Steve Toltz, 2015-09-15 This fearlessly funny outrageously inventive dark comedy about two lifelong friends is a delightful literary novel extraordinarily imaginative Psychology Today from Man Booker Prize finalist Steve Toltz for fans of Dave Eggers Martin Amis and David Foster Wallace Liam is a struggling writer and a failing cop Aldo his best friend and muse is a haplessly criminal entrepreneur with an uncanny knack for disaster As Aldo's luck worsens Liam is inspired to base his next book on his best friend's exponential misfortunes and hopeless quest to win back his one great love his ex wife Stella What begins as an attempt to make sense of Aldo's mishaps spirals into a profound story of faith and friendship Steve Toltz channels a poet's delight in crafting the perfect phrase on every highly quotable page Publishers Weekly With the same originality brilliance and buoyancy that catapulted his first novel A Fraction of the Whole onto prize lists around the world Toltz has created a rousing hysterically funny but unapologetically dark satire about love faith friendship and the artist's obligation to his muse Quicksand is a subversive portrait of twenty first century society in all its hypocrisy and absurdity that confounds and astonishes in equal measure often on the same page A tour de force Australian Book Review The Ghost Orchid Carol Goodman, 2006-01-31 In her enthralling novels of literary suspense Carol Goodman writes stories that resonate with emotion set in lush landscapes that entice the senses Now with The Ghost Orchid a narrative that seamlessly weaves together the past and the present Goodman creates her most lyrical and haunting work to date For more than one hundred years creative souls have traveled to Upstate New York to work under the captivating spell of the Bosco estate Cradled in silence inspired by the rough beauty of overgrown gardens and crumbling statuary these chosen few fashion masterworks and have cemented Bosco's reputation as a premier artists colony This season five talented artists in residence find themselves drawn to the history of Bosco from the extensive network of fountains that were once its centerpiece but have long since run dry to the story of its enigmatic founder Aurora Latham and the series of tragic events that occurred more than a century ago Ellis Brooks a first time novelist has come to Bosco to write a book based on Aurora and the infamous summer of 1893 when wealthy powerful Milo Latham brought the notorious medium Corinth Blackwell to the estate to help his wife contact three of the couple's children lost the winter before in a diphtheria epidemic But when a snake turned deadly Corinth and her alleged accomplice Tom Quinn disappeared taking with them the Lathams only surviving child The more time she spends at Bosco the more Ellis becomes convinced that there is an even darker more sinister end to the story And she's not alone biographer Bethesda Graham uncovers stunning revelations about Milo and Corinth landscape architect David Fox discovers a series of hidden tunnels underneath the gardens poet Zalman Bronsky hears the long dry fountain's waters beckoning him and novelist Nat Loomis feels something lingering just out of reach After a bizarre series of accidents befalls them the group cannot deny the connections between the long ago and now the living and the dead as Ellis realizes that the tangled truth may ensnare them all in its cool embrace

Driving Home Jonathan Raban, 2011-09-13 Spanning two decades this frank witty and provocative volume part essay collection part diary charts a course through the Pacific Northwest American history and current events as witnessed by one of our most gifted observers Newsday For more than thirty years Jonathan Raban has written with infectious fascination about people and places in transition or on the margins about journeys undertaken and destinations never quite reached and as an Englishman transplanted in Seattle about what it means to feel rooted in America Stops en route include a Missoula bar a Tea Party convention in Nashville hosted by Sarah Palin the Mississippi in full flood a trip to Hawaii with his daughter a steelhead river in the Cascades and the hidden corners of his adopted hometown Seattle He deftly explores public and personal spaces poetry and politics geography and catastrophe art and economy and the shifts in various arenas that define our society Whether the topic is Robert Lowell or Barack Obama or how various painters explorers and homesteaders have engaged with our mythical and actual landscape he has an outsider's eye for the absurd and his tone is intimate never nostalgic and always fresh Driving Home is irresistibly insightful about America's character contradictions and idiosyncrasies

The Bird Singers Jean Boucault, Johnny Rasse, 2025-05-20 In the vein of H is for Hawk and The Book of Eels this moving memoir shines a light on the transformative power of nature as it tells the story of two boys Jean and Johnny who learned the language of birds I read this book in one sitting I loved the story of the two boys of their relationships with the nature around them their community and their relationship with each other Marc Hamer author of the Indie Next Picks How to Catch a Mole and Spring Rain This captivating book brings together two birds of a feather Jean and Johnny boys from very different worlds growing up in a small village in France Jean is the genteel pharmacist's son dressed in his Sunday best Johnny's father is a rough working class sheep herder always with the odor of animals clinging to him Each year over three hundred bird species visit their village which intersects a major migratory flyway The two boys' stories converge when Jean enters a bird calling contest He places second and at only eleven years old becomes a child celebrity on the bird calling circuit Then Johnny starts to compete as well At the annual bird festival both boys are standouts and a long admiring rivalry develops between them eventually culminating in the European championships As they evolve as performers the two boys' identities become more distinct Jean is soft spoken while Johnny likes to play to the crowd While most of their competitors are adult men hunters who learned to call birds for sport the two boys are fascinated with the pure beauty of birdsong and in trying to transcend themselves through imitating birds Their shared passion develops into an enduring partnership as performers and they go on to tour the world in concert as the Bird Singers This is a story as much about friendship as it is about birdsong The setting is timeless and bucolic with long walks to small village schools games of pick up soccer and father son birding trips The chapters which bounce back and forth between the two narrators are woven through with descriptions of colorful characters in the bird calling competition circuit and the kind of ornithological detail that can only come from a true passion for birds There is poetry in the description of the different birds from common seagulls to thrushes and bluethroats and nightingales and something like communion in the way Jean and Johnny understand the feathered friends they imitate Unique evocative and cinematic The Bird Singers is the story of an unlikely friendship sparked by a desire to speak with the avian world Euripides and the Boundaries of the Human Mark Ringer,2016-07-29

Euripides and the Boundaries of the Human presents the first single volume reading in nearly fifty years of all of Euripides surviving plays Rather than examining one or a handful of dramas in monograph or article form Mark Ringer insists on the thematic and stylistic parallels that unite a diverse canon of works Euripides is often referred to as the most modern of the three Ancient Greek tragedians but in what way can the work of this fifth century B C artist be claimed as modern The multi layered presentation of character is new within the context of Athenian Tragedy The plays also reveal equal concern with the preservation and re vitalization of tradition especially with respect to the portrayal of the Olympian gods Euripidean drama upholds tradition just as vigorously as it posits a new kind of realism in character portrayal in the Ancient Theatre Euripidean drama fuses what was old with what was new in order to revitalize and perpetuate the art of tragedy This book will be of interest to professionals and students in the fields of classics Greek drama in translation or in the original Greek theater studies comparative literature tragedy and religion The Yale Courant ,1887
