Health And Safety Issues In Automotive Manufacturing:

The Global Automotive Industry Paul Nieuwenhuis, Peter Wells, 2015-08-06 The automotive industry is still one of the world's largest manufacturing sectors but it suffers from being very technology focused as well as being relatively short term focused. There is little emphasis within the industry and its consultancy and analyst supply network on the broader social and economic impacts of automobility and of the sector that provides it. The Global Automotive Industry addresses this need and is a first port of call for any academic official or consultant wanting an overview of the state of the industry. An international team of specialist researchers both from academia and business review and analyse the key issues that make vehicle manufacturing still the world's premier manufacturing sector closely tied in with the fortunes of both established and newly emerging economies. In doing so it covers issues related to manufacturing both established practices as well as new developments issues relating to distribution marketing and retail vehicle technologies and regulatory trends and crucially labour practices and the people who build cars. In all this it explains both how the current situation arose and also likely future trajectories both in terms of social and regulatory trends as the technological marketing and labour practice responses to those leading in many cases to the development of new business models. Key features: Provides a global overview of the automotive industry covering its current state and considering future challenges. Contains contributions from international specialists in the automotive sector. Presents current research and sets this in an historical and broader industry context. Covers threats to the industry including globalization economic and environmental sustainability. The Global Automotive Industry is a must have reference for researchers and practitioners in the automotive industry and is an excellent source of information for business schools governments and graduate and undergraduate students in automotive engineering.

Advanced Automotive Technologies Annual Report to Congress, Fiscal Year ..., 1995 Advanced Automotive Technologies: Annual Report to Congress, Fiscal Year 1996, 1998 Globalization and Employment Relations in the Auto Assembly Industry Roger Blanpain, Russell D. Lansbury, 2008-02-25 This important study based on a three year empirical research project in seven countries focuses on employment relations in the auto assembly industry and shows that the influence of globalisation is tempered to varying degrees by institutional employment patterns at the local level. Twenty one scholars and researchers representing all seven countries analyse the data clearly describe the differences across both countries and firms and offer conclusions and recommendations that greatly facilitate our understanding of the globalisation process at the level of human resources in industrial production. For each of the seven countries two liberal market economies the United States and Australia two coordinated market economies Germany and Sweden and three Asian market economies Japan South Korea and China the book describes five key issues in detail work organisation skill formation remuneration systems staffing arrangements and employment security and enterprise governance and employee management relations. The authors offer in depth comparative analysis of these central issues in the context of such overriding factors as corporate strategy local institutional constraints and advantages competitive pressures among automakers to capture emerging markets power relations within firms and the role that agency and interests play in shaping social action
