Final Examination Of Geography Pgrade 2014:

Assessment in Geographical Education: An International Perspective Theresa Bourke, Reece Mills, Rod Lane, 2022-02-27 In recent years there has been increased attention paid to the importance of assessment in Geographical Education the chosen subject for this book Assessment is an important tool for collecting information about student learning and for providing timely data to inform key stakeholders including students teachers parents and policymakers To be effective assessment needs to be valid reliable and fair Validity is about ensuring that we assess what we claim we are assessing Reliability is about measuring performance and understanding in a consistent way Without validity and reliability assessment is unlikely to provide equitable opportunities for students to demonstrate what they know and can do As geography educators it is therefore important that we identify the core concepts and skills in geography that we want students to master We need a clear understanding of what the progression of learning looks like for each concept and skill so we can develop fit for purpose assessments that track and improve student learning While there is a substantial literature on evidence based assessment in secondary school contexts research exploring best practice assessment in geography is rare This is a concern given the distinctive nature of geography and the important role of assessment in the learning process This scholarly collection seeks to address this issue by connecting research in educational assessment with the domain of geography The chapters are written by leading researchers in Geographical Education from across the globe These chapters provide examples of innovation through the collective voices of geography teacher educator scholars from across Australia USA South Korea Germany Switzerland and Singapore What unifies the work in this book is that each chapter focuses on a key feature of the discipline of geography providing scholarly examples of evidence based practices for assessing student s knowledge and skills

The Divide Within Tina L. Heafner, Laura K. Handler, Tracy C.

Rock, 2021-01-01 Globalization modernization and technologization have brought rapid social and economic change while also increasing diversity of democratic societies Plurality of democracy once viewed as a progressive ideology has been met by the movement of identity politics to the margins of society Although social movements demanding recognition on the part of groups that were once invisible to mainstream society have brought attention to systemic inequities prejudice and discriminatory policies other groups feeling a loss of status and a sense of displacement have pushed back with counterclaims and protests These conflicting narratives have fractured society and segmented the populace along narrowly defined identities creating a new era of democracy and isolationism Today in the United States we see the troubling effects of increasingly polarized political discourse amplified gridlock within government the politicization and fragmentation of economic and social life and the suppression of the spread of information across ideological lines The socio political climate in America is characterized by skepticism hostility distrust claims of fake news and unwavering opposition The divide within our nation has shifted the narrative of democracy from promoting the common good to protecting the interests of likeminded factions and the preservation of power and privilege In recent decades researchers focused attention on studying the social geographic political and technological polarization in the United States Trends manifest in myriad ways both in politics and in everyday life and expose the divergence between urban and rural communities These inquiries also suggest that causes and effects of identity politics and polarization are too complex to be studied within the confines of a single discipline Its exploration therefore requires participation and collaboration from scholars in many different fields particularly those working in the social sciences In this edited volume we seek to leverage this research capacity to engage the reader in studies and instruction concerning the divide within and the intersections of realities facts theories and practices in social science education Download a sample article Teaching to a Statue Wade H Morris Georgia State University Chara Haessler Bohan Georgia State University

Meeting the Challenges to Measurement in an Era of Accountability Henry Braun, 2016-01-29 Under pressure and support from the federal government states have increasingly turned to indicators

based on student test scores to evaluate teachers and schools as well as students themselves The focus thus far has been on test scores in those subject areas where there is a sequence of consecutive tests such as in mathematics or English language arts with a focus on grades 4-8 Teachers in these subject areas however constitute less than thirty percent of the teacher workforce in a district Comparatively little has been written about the measurement of achievement in the other grades and subjects This volume seeks to remedy this imbalance by focusing on the assessment of student achievement in a broad range of grade levels and subject areas with particular attention to their use in the evaluation of teachers and schools in all It addresses traditional end of course tests as well as alternative measures such as portfolios exhibitions and student learning objectives In each case issues related to design and development psychometric considerations and validity challenges are covered from both a generic and a content specific perspective The NCME Applications of Educational Measurement and Assessment series includes edited volumes designed to inform research based applications of educational measurement and assessment Edited by leading experts these books are comprehensive and practical resources on the latest developments in the field The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Culture, Music Education, and the Chinese Dream in Mainland China Wai-Chung Ho,2018-01-04 This book focuses on the rapidly changing sociology of music as manifested in Chinese society and Chinese education It examines how social changes and cultural politics affect how music is currently being used in connection with the Chinese dream While there is a growing trend toward incorporating the Chinese dream into school education and higher education there has been no scholarly discussion to date The combination of cultural politics transformed authority relations and officially approved songs can provide us with an understanding of the official content on the Chinese dream that is conveyed in today s Chinese society and how these factors have influenced the renewal of values based education and practices in school music education in China

The Education System in Mexico David Scott,C.M. Posner,Chris Martin,Elsa Guzman,2018-03-15 Over the last three decades a significant amount of research has sought to relate educational institutions policies practices and reforms to social structures and agencies A number of models have been developed that have become the basis for attempting to understand the complex relation between education and society At the same time national and international bodies tasked with improving educational performances seem to be writing in a void in that there is no rigorous theory guiding their work and their documents exhibit few references to groups institutions and forces that can impede or promote their programmes and projects As a result the recommendations these bodies provide to their clients display little to no comprehension of how and under what conditions the recommendations can be put into effect The Education System in Mexico directly addresses this problem By combining abstract insights with the practicalities of educational reforms policies practices and their social antecedents it offers a long overdue reflection of the history effects and significance of the Mexican educational system as well as presenting a more cogent understanding of the relationship between educational institutions and social forces in Mexico and around the world

The Shifting Global World of Youth and Education Mabel Ann Brown,2017-08-15 The Shifting

Global World of Youth and Education explores how increasing migration and population changes are having an unprecedented impact on global education. Given that the number of children of migrant background is growing internationally, there is a need for increasing awareness of the educational attainment and cultural integration of this population group. This book presents international perspectives on migration and youth and analyses what kinds of effects such demographic changes are having on educational systems around the world. The chapters in this volume provide a fascinating insight into how countries around the world are dealing with loss or growth in their young population as well as changes to their education systems. Written by specialist academics from the relevant country, the book covers Cuba, Lithuania, the United Kingdom, the United States, Finland, Greece, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Latvia, China, Australia, India, Italy, and Poland. Taking into consideration the countries' social and political context, the chapters discuss educational issues surrounding curriculum, assessment, and the opportunities available for the support of young people. Conclusions are drawn about what could be done in the future for the benefit of both the migrant and the existing populations. The Shifting Global World of Youth and Education will be of great interest to academics, researchers, and postgraduate students in the disciplines of education, sociology, political sciences, and social work. The book will also give secondary teachers, teaching assistants, social workers, and youth workers the opportunity to reflect on their role within a national and international context.

Accountability in education: meeting our commitments UNESCO, 2017-10-30. The second edition of the Global Education Monitoring Report (GEM Report) presents the latest evidence on global progress towards the education targets of the UN Sustainable Development Goals. With hundreds of millions of people still not going to school and many not achieving minimum skills at school, it is clear education systems are off track to achieve global goals. The marginalized currently bear the most consequences but also stand to benefit the most if policy makers pay sufficient attention to their needs. Faced with these challenges along with tight budgets and increased emphasis on results-oriented value for money, countries are searching for solutions. Increased accountability often tops the list. The 2017 8 GEM Report shows the entire array of approaches to accountability in education. It ranges from countries unused to the concept where violations of the right to education go unchallenged to countries where accountability has become an end in itself instead of a means to inclusive, equitable, and high-quality education and lifelong learning for all. The report emphasizes that education is a shared responsibility. While governments have primary responsibility, all actors—schools, teachers, parents, students, international organizations, private sector providers, civil society, and the media—have a role in improving education systems. The report emphasized the importance of transparency and availability of information but urges caution in how data are used. It makes the case for avoiding accountability systems with a disproportionate focus on narrowly defined results and punitive sanctions. In an era of multiple accountability tools, the report provides clear evidence on those that are working and those that are not.
