Debates in Geography Education Mark Jones, David Lambert, 2017-09-07 Debates in Geography Education encourages early career teachers experienced teachers and teacher educators to engage with and reflect on key issues concepts and debates It aims to enable readers to reach their own informed judgements with deeper theoretical knowledge and understanding The second edition is fully updated in light of the latest research policy and practice in the field as well as key changes to the curriculum and examination specifications Expert contributors provide a range of perspectives on international historical and policy contexts in order to deepen our understanding of significant debates in geography education Key debates include geography s identity as an academic discipline what constitutes knowledge in geography places and regional geography what it means to think geographically constructing the curriculum how we link assessment to making progress in geography the contribution of fieldwork and outdoor experiences technology and the use of Geographical Information school geography and employability understanding the gap between school and university geography evidence based practice and research in geography education The comprehensive rigorous coverage of these key issues together with carefully annotated selected further reading will help support and shape further research and writing Debates in Geography Education is a key resource that is essential reading for all teachers and researches who wish to extend their grasp of the place of geography in education Mark Jones is Senior Lecturer in Education at the University of the West of England Bristol UK David Lambert is Professor of Geography Education at UCL Institute of Education London UK Written Corrective Feedback: The Role of Learner Engagement Alia Moser, 2020-12-21 The book provides new insights into written corrective feedback by describing students expectations as well as mediating factors that influence their engagement with it The book draws on an extensive dataset to illustrate secondary school students behavioural cognitive and emotional engagement with written corrective feedback and the extent to which mediating factors such as teachers peers feedback options attitudes and emotions foster or hinder it It shows why teachers need to provide students with the purpose of the corrective feedback they provide explain how such feedback works and introduce strategies that can be employed to engage with it Based on the finding that a combination of several feedback types is essential to ensure learner engagement the book also provides an extensive description and multiple authentic examples of the Engagement Feedback Mediator Model that was developed in the context of this study Designing and Teaching Undergraduate Capstone Courses Robert C. Hauhart, Jon E. Grahe, 2015-01-12 Enrich your students and the institution with a high impact practice Designing and Teaching Undergraduate Capstone Courses is a practical research backed guide to creating a course that is valuable for both the student and the school The book covers the design administration and teaching of capstone courses throughout the undergraduate curriculum guiding departments seeking to add a capstone course and allowing those who have one to compare it to others in the discipline The ideas presented in the book are supported by regional and national surveys that help the reader understand what's common, what's exceptional, what works and what doesn't within capstone courses. The authors also provide additional information specific to different departments across the curriculum including STEM, social sciences, humanities, fine arts, education, and professional programs. Identified as a high impact practice by the National Survey of Student Engagement (NSSE) and the Association of American Colleges and Universities (LEAP) initiative, capstone courses culminate a student's final college years in a project that integrates and applies what they've learned. The project takes the form of a research paper, a performance, a portfolio, or an exhibit and is intended to showcase the student's very best work as a graduating senior. This book is a guide to creating for your school or department a capstone course that ties together undergraduate learning in a way that enriches the student and adds value to the college experience. Understand what makes capstone courses valuable for graduating students. Discover the factors that make a capstone course effective and compare existing programs both within academic disciplines and across institutions. Learn administrative and pedagogical techniques that increase the course's success. Examine discipline-specific considerations for design, administration, and instruction. Capstones are generally offered in departmental programs but are becoming increasingly common in general education as well. Faculty and administrators looking to add a capstone course or revive an existing one need to understand what constitutes an effective program. Designing and Teaching Undergraduate Capstone Courses provides an easily digested summary of existing research and offers expert guidance on making your capstone course successful.

The Parliamentary Debates (Hansard). Great Britain. Parliament. House of Lords, 2013. Normal Instructor and Teachers World, 1924. Resources in Education, 1985. Getting into Secondary Teaching Andy Davies, Melanie Norman, 2025-02-28. This book is essential reading if you are considering making an application for secondary initial teacher education or preparing to begin your programme. It introduces you to a range of perspectives on teaching and teacher education and guides you through the application process to ensure you choose the training route that's right for you to achieve a successful outcome. Key chapters cover pathways into secondary teaching, professional learning, developing as a subject specialist, classroom management, and working with young people. Useful features such as jargon busters, progress checklists, and case studies make the material accessible and help you navigate the new landscape of teacher education. In addition, the text encourages you to reflect critically on your school experiences of learning and teaching and uses examples of theory, research, and practice to help you develop an informed stance on important themes within secondary education.

Myanmar's Education Reforms Marie Lall, 2020-11-02. This book reviews the state of education in Myanmar over the past decade and a half as the country is undergoing profound albeit incomplete transformation. Set within the context of Myanmar's peace process and the wider reforms since 2012, Marie Lall's analysis of education policy and practice serves as a case study on how the reform programme has evolved. Drawing on over 15 years of field research carried out across Myanmar, the book offers a cohesive inquiry into government and non-government education sectors, the reform process, and how the transition has played out across schools universities and wider society It casts scrutiny on changes in basic education the alternative monastic education higher education and teacher education and engages with issues of ethnic education and the debate on the role of language and the local curriculum as part of the peace process In so doing it gives voice to those most affected by the changing landscape of Myanmar s education and wider reform process the students and parents of all ethnic backgrounds teachers teacher trainees and university staff that are rarely heard South African national bibliography,1999 Classified list with author and title index Parliamentary Debates (Hansard).
