Nationalism, Politics and Anthropology Ilana van Wyk, Jimmy Pieterse, 2022-02-28 In this book Ilana van Wyk and Jimmy Pieterse interrogate the question of political subjectivity and its role in the making of anthropology and anthropologists by revisiting the pitched battles between so called liberal social anthropologists and conservative nationalist volkekundiges in South Africa They pay particular attention to the social and cultural lives of two men who were central proponents of South African anthropology s two tales Kees van der Waal a former volkekundige and John Sharp once one of volkekunde s fiercest critics Through a series of conversations with Kees and John they show that the issues that once divided a local field still animate the ways in which centres and peripheries of global anthropology relate to one another and to foundational questions about the discipline s epistemology and political positionality

African Handbook of Climate Change Adaptation Nicholas Oguge, Desalegn Ayal, Lydia Adeleke, Izael da Silva, 2021-05-20 This open access book discusses current thinking and presents the main issues and challenges associated with climate change in Africa It introduces evidences from studies and projects which show how climate change adaptation is being and may continue to be successfully implemented in African countries Thanks to its scope and wide range of themes surrounding climate change the ambition is that this book will be a lead publication on the topic which may be regularly updated and hence capture further works Climate change is a major global challenge However some geographical regions are more severely affected than others One of these regions is the African continent Due to a combination of unfavourable socio economic and meteorological conditions African countries are particularly vulnerable to climate change and its impacts The recently released IPCC special report Global Warming of 1.5o C outlines the fact that keeping global warming by the level of 1.5o C is possible but also suggested that an increase by 2o C could lead to crises with crops agriculture fed by rain could drop by 50% in some African countries by 2020 and livestock production could damage water supplies and pose an additional threat to coastal areas The 5th Assessment Report produced by IPCC predicts that wheat may disappear from Africa by 2080 and that maize a staple will fall significantly in southern Africa Also arid and semi arid lands are likely to increase by up to 8% with severe ramifications for livelihoods poverty eradication and meeting the SDGs Pursuing appropriate adaptation strategies is thus vital in order to address the current and future challenges posed by a changing climate It is against this background that the African Handbook of Climate Change Adaptation is being published It contains papers prepared by scholars representatives from social movements practitioners and members of governmental agencies undertaking research and or executing climate change projects in Africa and working with communities across the African continent Encompassing over 100 contributions from across Africa it is the most comprehensive publication on climate change adaptation in Africa ever produced

The Palgrave Handbook of Incarceration in Popular Culture Marcus Harmes,Meredith Harmes,Barbara Harmes,2020-02-03 The Handbook of Incarceration in Popular Culture will be an essential reference point providing international coverage and thematic richness

The chapters examine the real and imagined spaces of the prison and perhaps more importantly dwell in the uncertain space between them. The modern fixation with seeing inside prison from the outside has prompted a proliferation of media visions of incarceration from high minded and worthy to voyeuristic and unrealistic. In this handbook the editors bring together a huge breadth of disparate issues including women in prison, the view from inside prisons as a source of entertainment, the real worlds of prison and issues of race and gender. The handbook will inform students and lecturers of media, film, popular culture, gender and cultural studies as well as scholars of criminology and justice.

Anchored in Place Bank, Leslie, Cloete, Nico, 2018-11-05. Tensions in South African universities have traditionally centred around equity, particularly access and affordability, historical legacies such as apartheid and colonialism, and the shape and structure of the higher education system. What has not received sufficient attention is the contribution of the university to place based development. This volume is the first in South Africa to engage seriously with the place based developmental role of universities. In the international literature and policy there has been an increasing integration of the university with place based development, especially in cities. This volume weighs in on the debate by drawing attention to the place based roles and agency of South African universities in their local towns and cities. It acknowledges that universities were given specific development roles in regions, homelands and towns under apartheid and comments on why sub national place based development has not been a key theme in post apartheid higher education planning. Given the developmental crisis in the country, universities could be expected to play a more constructive and meaningful role in the development of their own precincts, cities and regions. But what should that role be? Is there evidence that this is already occurring in South Africa despite the lack of a national policy framework? What plans and programmes are in place and what is needed to expand the development agency of universities at the local level? Who and what might be involved? Where should the focus lie and who might benefit most and why? Is there a need perhaps to approach the challenges of college towns, secondary cities and metropolitan centers differently? This book poses some of these questions as it considers the experiences of a number of South African universities including Wits, Pretoria, Nelson Mandela University and especially Fort Hare as one of its post centenary challenges.
