

A Closer Look at Area of Regular Polygons NOT

A regular polygon is a polygon in which all sides are congruent and all angles are congruent.

Equilateral triangle
Equilateral triangle

Square

Regular pentagon

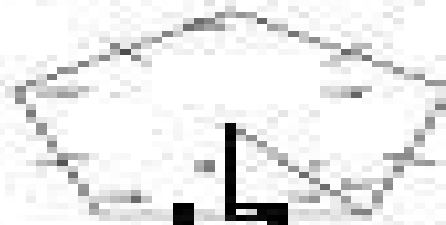

Any regular polygon can be decomposed into congruent triangles. The area of this regular polygon can be found by finding the area of one of the triangular regions and multiplying by the number of sides of the polygon. This method can be written as follows in the formula.

$$\text{Area of a regular polygon} = \frac{1}{2}Pn$$

where P represents the perimeter and n represents the number

The apothem is a segment that connects the center of a regular polygon perpendicularly to a side of this regular polygon. The apothem is also the perpendicular distance from the center of this figure to a side. The apothem divides P into the regular polygon. In Figure 1 below, a is the length of the apothem.

The radius is a segment that connects from the center of this regular polygon to a vertex of this polygon. The radius is also the distance from the center of the polygon to a vertex of the polygon. The radius divides an interior angle of this regular polygon. In Figure 1 below, r is the length of the radius.

Triangles of special right triangles, $30^\circ-60^\circ-90^\circ$ and $45^\circ-45^\circ-90^\circ$ and the trigonometric ratios can be used to solve problems involving regular polygons.

students who take advanced mathematics courses performed substantially below students in most other nations The results also suggest that the demands made by the U S school mathematics curriculum and mathematics classroom instruction are not as challenging as in other countries This document reports the major findings from TIMMS and makes some recommendations for enhancing mathematics teaching and learning in the middle grades Contains 40 references ASK
