

Document 2: In 1992, Pope John Paul II signed an statement brought on behalf of the 17th century Galileo Galilei. Galileo Galilei was an Italian astronomer, physicist and engineer, among other things, and is considered one of history's greatest scientists.

During his visit to Italy, Pope John Paul II acknowledged in a speech today that the Roman Catholic Church had erred in condemning Galileo over 300 years ago. He admitted that the Church could see around the Sun.

The address by the Pope before the Pontifical Academy of Sciences closed a 35 year investigation into the Church's condemnation of Galileo in 1633, one of Galileo's most important scientific achievements. Galileo was forced to recant his astronomical findings to avoid being burned at the stake and spent the remaining eight years of his life under house arrest.

John Paul said the theologians who condemned Galileo did not recognize the formal distinction between the Bible and its interpretation.

This led them unduly to transpose into the realm of the doctrine of the faith, questions which in fact pertained to scientific investigations.

Though the Pope acknowledged that the Church had done Galileo a wrong, he said the 17th-century theologians were working with the knowledge available to them at the time.

Question 3:

Using Document 2, what was Pope John Paul II's main message according to this 1992 newspaper article? Pope John Paul II is trying to rectify the past wrongs of the Catholic Church in respect to Galileo's trial and condemnations. He states that Galileo was correct about heliocentricity and recognizes the error of the Catholic Church over 300 years earlier. He attempts to justify the actions of the Church based on the fact that theologians of the 1600s were "working with the knowledge available to them at the time."

Atlas of Material Worlds Matthew Seibert, 2021-08-17 Atlas of Material Worlds is a highly designed narrative atlas illustrating the agency of nonliving materials with unique ubiquitous and often hidden influence on our daily lives. Employing new materialism as a jumping off point, it examines the increasingly blurry lines between the organic and inorganic, engaging the following questions: What roles do nonliving materials play? Might a closer examination of those roles reveal an undeniable agency we have long overlooked or disregarded? If so, does this material agency change our understanding of the social structures, ecologies, economies, cosmologies, technologies, and landscapes that surround us? And perhaps most importantly, why does material agency matter? This is the story of the world's driest nonpolar desert, pink flamingos and cerulean blue lithium ponds, industrial shipping logistics, pudding-like jiggling substrates, and monuments of mud, galactic bodies, radioactive sheep, and the yellowcake of uranium. Put simply, this book dares readers to see the world anew from material up. Atlas of Material Worlds offers this new relationship to our host environment in a time of mounting crises: accelerating climate change, ballooning socioeconomic inequality, and rising toxic nationalism, uniquely telling materialist stories for practitioners and students in landscape architecture and other built environment disciplines.

Spatial Grasp as a Model for Space-based Control and Management Systems Peter Simon Sapaty, 2022-06-23 Governmental agencies and private companies of different countries are actively moving into space around Earth with the aim to provide smart communication and industry security and defense solutions. This often involves massive launches of small, cheap satellites in low Earth orbits, which is also contributing to the growth of space debris. The book offers a high-level holistic system philosophy, model, and technology that can effectively organize distributed space-based systems, starting with their planning, creation, and growth. The Spatial Grasp Technology described in the book, based on parallel navigation and pattern matching of distributed environments with high-level recursive mobile code, can effectively provide any networking protocols and important system applications by integrating and tasking available terrestrial and celestial equipment. This book contains practical examples of technology-based solutions for tracing hypersonic gliders, continuing observation of certain objects and infrastructures on Earth from space, space-based command and control of large distributed systems, as well as collective removal of increasing amounts of space junk. Earlier versions of this technology were prototyped and used in different countries, with the current version capable of being quickly implemented in traditional industrial or even university environments. This book is oriented toward system scientists, application programmers, industry managers, and university students interested in advanced MSc and PhD projects related to space conquest and distributed system management. Dr. Peter Simon Sapaty, Chief Research Scientist, Ukrainian Academy of Sciences, has worked with networked systems for five decades. Outside of Ukraine, he has worked in the former Czechoslovakia, now Czech Republic, and Slovakia, Germany, the UK, Canada, and Japan, as a group leader. Alexander von Humboldt researcher and invited and visiting professor, he launched and chaired the Special Interest Group (SIG) on Mobile

Cooperative Technologies in Distributed Interactive Simulation project in the United States and invented a distributed control technology that resulted in a European patent and books with Wiley Springer and Emerald He has published more than 250 papers on distributed systems and has been included in the Marquis Who's Who in the World and Cambridge Outstanding Intellectuals of the 21st Century Peter also works with several international scientific journals Holistic Analysis and Management of Distributed Social Systems Peter Simon Sapaty, 2018-09-22 This book describes the application of a high level technology to solve problems in distributed systems that have networked structures with millions to billions of nodes The main difference from other works is that the approach is based on holistically and simultaneously analysing these systems using a spatial pattern matching mode which produces solutions hundreds of times faster than usual The latest version of the technology is described together with implementation details and basic Spatial Grasp Language In addition the book highlights numerous solutions covering graph and network problems their use in large social industrial and business ecosystems social robotics and driverless transport and the possibility of extrapolating from known gestalt laws on distributed systems which could potentially be applied in civil and defence contexts The book is intended for system scientists business and industry managers economists application programmers security and defence personnel as well as university students Global Geography, 1986*
