

Glory Movie Questions

1. How does the attitude of Colonel Robert Gould Shaw toward African-Americans change and why?

Colonel Shaw's attitude toward African-Americans changes over the course of the movie. At first, he is a white supremacist who believes that African-Americans are inferior and should not be allowed to fight in the military. However, as he sees the bravery and sacrifice of the men of the 54th Massachusetts, he begins to change his mind and becomes a more progressive leader.

2. What differences exist among the black soldiers who make up the 54th Massachusetts? Volunteered Infantry? Forced into this hell you discuss the different experiences of blacks in 18th-century America? Think about their regions of origin, former status (enslaved), and educational background.

The 54th Massachusetts was a volunteer unit, but it was made up of a mix of men from different backgrounds. Some were former slaves, some were free men, and some were educated. This diversity was a strength of the unit, as it allowed them to represent the entire African-American community.

3. What attitudes did white soldiers have about the 54th? Did these attitudes change and why?

At first, the white soldiers of the 54th were often treated with disrespect and prejudice. They were seen as inferior and were often given the most dangerous and difficult tasks. However, as they saw the bravery and sacrifice of the 54th, their attitudes began to change.

4. Were blacks treated equally to whites in the Union army? Explain.

No, blacks were not treated equally to whites in the Union army. They were often given the most dangerous and difficult tasks, and they were often paid less than white soldiers. However, their bravery and sacrifice helped to change the way that the Union army viewed African-Americans.

5. What is significant about Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender?

Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender was significant because it showed that African-Americans were capable of fighting and dying for their country. It also showed that white soldiers were capable of fighting and dying for their country.

6. Did that incident end as you expected? What feelings?/thoughts come over you last night?

The incident ended as I expected. The 54th was killed to a man, and their bodies were buried in a mass grave. This was a tragic end, but it was also a heroic one. The 54th's bravery and sacrifice helped to change the way that the Union army viewed African-Americans, and it helped to pave the way for the Civil Rights Movement.
