Human-Automation Interaction Vincent G. Duffy, Mark Lehto, Yuehwen Yih, Robert W. Proctor, 2022-09-30. This book provides practical guidance and awareness for a growing body of knowledge developing across a variety of disciplines and many countries. This book is a celebration of the Gavriel Salvendy International Symposium on Human-Computer Interaction (GSI) and provides a survey of topics and emerging areas of interest in human-automation interaction. This book for the GSI emphasizes main thematic areas: manufacturing services and user experience. Main areas of coverage include: Section A: Advanced Production Management and Production Control; Section B: Healthcare Automation; Section C: Measuring and Modeling Human Performance; Section D: Usability and User Experience; Section E: Safety Management and Occupational Ergonomics; Section F: Manufacturing and Services; Section G: Data and Probabilistic Information; Section H: Training and Collaboration Technologies. Contributions from especially early-career researchers were featured as part of this virtual symposium and celebration. Gavriel Salvendy initiated the conferences that run annually as Human-Computer Interaction International and Applied Human Factors and Ergonomics International (AHFE) both within the Lecture Notes in Computer Science series. The book is inclusive of human-computer interaction and human factors and ergonomics principles yet it is intended to serve a much wider audience that has interest in automation and human modeling. The emerging need for human-automation interaction expertise has developed from an ever-growing availability and presence of automation in our everyday lives.

Models and Tools for Managing Development Processes Bernhard Westfechtel, 2003-07-31. The development of products in disciplines such as mechanical, electrical or software engineering is a challenging task. Costs have to be reduced, the time to market has to be shortened and quality has to be improved. Skilled engineers and sophisticated tools for supporting technical work are necessary prerequisites yet they are not sufficient for meeting these ambitious goals. In addition, the work of developers must be coordinated so that they cooperate smoothly.

To this end the steps of the development process have to be planned an engineer executing a task must be provided with documents and tools the results of development activities have to be fed back to management which in turn has to adjust the plan accordingly the documents produced in different working areas have to be kept consistent with each other etc This book reports on models and tools for managing development processes It provides both a survey of the current state of the art and presents our own contributions The material covered in this book is based on research in different engineering disciplines mechanical software and chemical engineering It presents a unified view on the management of development processes in these disciplines
