

Lab 7 Activity: Waves

In this laboratory you will learn about wave characteristics, including the propagation of a wave, the relationship between wave speed to the frequency and to the wavelength, and the wave's amplitude.

Exercise 1: Wave Characteristics

Waves are disturbances traveling through mediums (or propagating) and the medium are generally transverse waves that waves can be categorized through speed (v), wavelength (λ), or frequency (f). Waves include electromagnetic waves, sound waves, water waves, and gravitational waves. In this first activity, we will explore the characteristics of a wave, including wavelength (period) frequency.

In wave, we find wave's displacement. I found displacement has some wave but the graph on left character (period) was frequency, and the graph on the right character (period) was displacement.
