Customary Rights of Farmers in Neoliberal India Sophy K. Joseph, 2020-02-14 The Protection of Plant Varieties and Farmer s Rights Act 2001 promises to balance the intellectual property rights of plant breeders and farmers under one umbrella legislation However there remain several grey areas and the rights of farmers in reality are still tenuous Though the rights framework was foregrounded on an understanding between non governmental organizations and industry there is lack of clarity at both conceptual and procedural levels In this context Sophy K Joseph analyses the impact of legal policy reforms during the ongoing Second Green Revolution on farmers customary rights and livelihood The author discusses how the extension of private property rights to plant varieties seeds and other agrarian resources changed the demographic composition of the rural space with increased migration of cultivators to the cities The book argues that the transition from state interventionism during the First Green Revolution to state abstention in the Second Green Revolution has dramatically influenced India s conventional agrarian practices and traditions This work maps the evolutionary process of neoliberal economic and legal policies and its interference with primary concerns such as food security food sovereignty and agrarian self reliance of the country

Daily Graphic Ransford Tetteh, 2014-04-24 Urban China The World Bank; Development

Research Center of the State Council,2014-07-29 In the last 30 years China's record economic growth lifted half a billion people out of poverty with rapid urbanization providing abundant labor cheap land and good infrastructure While China has avoided some of the common ills of urbanization strains are showing as inefficient land development leads to urban sprawl and ghost towns pollution threatens people's health and farmland and water resources are becoming scarce With China's urban population projected to rise to about one billion or close to 70 percent of the country's population by 2030 China's leaders are seeking a more coordinated urbanization process Urban China is a joint research report by a team from the World Bank and the Development Research Center of China's State Council which was established to address the challenges and opportunities of urbanization in China and to help China forge a new model of urbanization The report takes as its point of departure the conviction that China's urbanization can become more efficient inclusive and sustainable However it stresses that achieving this vision will require strong support from both government and the markets for policy reforms in a number of areas The report proposes six main areas for reform first amending land management institutions to foster more efficient land use denser cities modernized agriculture and more equitable wealth distribution second adjusting the hukou household registration system to increase labor mobility and provide urban migrant workers equal access to a common standard of public services third placing urban finances on a more sustainable footing while fostering financial discipline among local governments fourth improving urban planning to enhance connectivity and encourage scale and agglomeration economies fifth reducing environmental pressures through more efficient resource management and sixth improving governance at the local level

Financial Capability and Asset Building in Vulnerable Households Margaret Sherraden,Julie Birkenmaier,J. Michael Collins,2018-03-28 Financial struggles of American families are headline news In communities across the nation families feel the pinch of stagnant and sometimes declining incomes Many have not recovered from the Great Recession when millions lost their homes and retirement savings They are bombarded daily with vexing financial decisions Which bills to pay Where to cash checks How to cover an emergency How to improve a credit report How to bank online How to save for the future Low and moderate income families have few places to turn for guidance on financial matters Not many can afford to pay a financial advisor to help navigate an increasingly complex financial world They do their best with advice from family and trusted individuals Social workers financial counselors and human services professionals can help As first responders they assist families and help in finding financial support from public and private sources But these professionals are too often unprepared to address the full range of financial troubles of ordinary working families Financial Capability and Asset Building in Vulnerable Households prepares social workers financial counselors and other human service professionals for financial practice with vulnerable families Building on more than 20 years of research the book sets the stage with key concepts historical antecedents and current financial challenges of families in America It provides knowledge and tools to assist families in pressing financial circumstances and offers a lifespan perspective of financial capability and environmental influences on financial behaviors and actions Furthermore the text details practice principles and skills for direct interventions as well as for designing financial services and policy innovations It is an essential resource for preparing the next generation of practitioners who can enable families to achieve economic security and development

Intellectual Property and Traditional Knowledge in the Global Economy Teshager W. Dagne,2014-09-04 Arising from recent developments at the international level many developing countries indigenous peoples and local communities are considering using geographical indications GIs to protect traditional knowledge and to promote trade and overall economic development Despite the considerable enthusiasm over GIs in diverse quarters there is an appreciable lack of research on how far and in what context GIs can be used as a protection model for traditional knowledge based resources This book critically examines the potential uses of geographical indications as models for protecting traditional knowledge based products and resources in national and international intellectual property legal frameworks By analysing the reception towards GIs from developing countries and advocates of development in the various legal and non legal regimes including the World Trade Organization World Intellectual Property Organization and the Convention on Biological Diversity and the Food and Agricultural Organization the book evaluates the development potential of GIs in relation to ensuing changes in international intellectual property law in accommodating traditional knowledge Teshager W Dagne argues for a degree of balance in the approach to the implementation of global intellectual property rights in a manner that gives developing countries an opportunity to protect traditional knowledge based products The book will be of great interest and use to scholars and students of intellectual property law public international law traditional knowledge and global governance

How College Students Succeed Nicholas A. Bowman,2023-07-03 Receiving a college education has perhaps never been more important than it is today While its personal societal and overall economic benefits are well documented too many college students fail to complete their postsecondary education As colleges and universities are investing substantial resources into efforts to counter these attrition rates and increase retention they are mostly unaware of the robust literature on student success that is often bounded in disciplinary silos The purpose of this book is to bring together in a single volume the extensive knowledge on college student success It includes seven chapters from authors who each synthesize the literature from their own field of study or perspective Each describes the theories models and concepts they use summarizes the key findings from their research and provides implications for practice policy and or research The disciplinary chapters offer perspectives from higher education public policy behavioral economics social psychology STEM sociology and critical and post structural theory The First Year of College Robert S. Feldman, 2017-12-28 This book is premised on a very powerful social educational concern about college retention rates one third of first year students seriously consider leaving college during their first term and only half of all students who start college ultimately graduate This book examines the first year of college from a variety of perspectives to paint a comprehensive picture of the intersecting challenges facing today's students and higher education institutions Technological advances increases in college attendance costs and increasing political pressure on colleges to prove their value have changed the landscape of the first year of college but researchers have identified new approaches to improve student and institutional success that have shown considerable success and promise In this comprehensive volume top educational researchers explore topics of student success persistence and retention in the first year of college Educating Public Interest Professionals and the Student Loan Debt Crisis Robert Leslie Fisher, 2021-11-08 In Educating Public Interest Professionals and the Student Loan Debt Crisis Robert Leslie Fisher examines the student loan debt crisis and its effects on America's citizens and economies Exploring the shortage of professionals in fields such as education medicine and law Fisher analyzes the causes and effects of the student loan debt crisis in America and argues for higher wages student loan debt forgiveness and an updated financial model to pay for training for public interest professionals Supported by economic research and a sociological background Fisher proposes a path forward that will ease the student loan debt crisis and revitalize the economy Rich State, Poor State Greg Mills, 2023-09-01 Why do some states thrive grow their economies and uplift their people while others facing similar challenges slide into low growth social dysfunction and failure After decades of work on the ground in Africa Latin America Asia Europe and the Middle East bestselling author Greg Mills seeks to provide answers in Rich State Poor State After decades of work on the ground in Africa Latin America Asia Europe and the Middle East bestselling author Greg Mills seeks to provide answers in Rich State Poor State On each continent he traverses Mills interrogates the how and why How did Botswana go from being one of the least developed and poorest nations at independence to enjoying the highest rate of per capita growth of any country in the world Why has South Africa failed to attain similar heights How did the Baltic states achieve reforms that have positioned them among the best performing economies in Europe How did Vietnam overcome a traumatic past in favour of a rapid and positive development transformation Why is Mexico the only large developing economy that competes with China in manufacturing Drawing from interviews with current and former presidents prime ministers and key government officials across the globe as well as research from leading institutions to enrich his fieldwork Mills contrasts the successes and the failures and in so doing seeks to determine a path for the next generation of leaders Insightful and inspiring Rich State Poor State shows that with better choices the right policies and the will to implement them it is entirely possible to travel the road from poverty to prosperity Higher Education and the Palestinian Arab

Minority in Israel Khalid Arar, Kussai Haj-Yehia, 2016-04-08 Higher Education and the Palestinian Minority in Israel examines perceptions concerning the characteristics of higher education acquisition in the indigenous Palestinian Arab minority in Israel. Arar and Haj Yehia show that Palestinian Arabs in Israel clearly understand the benefit of an academic degree as a lever for social status and integration within the state of Israel. The authors discuss difficulties met by Palestinian high school graduates when they attempt to enter Israel's higher education institutes and the alternative phenomenon of studying abroad. The cultural difference between Palestinian traditional communities and Western Israeli campuses exposes Arab students to a mix of ethnicities and nationalities which proves to be a difficult transformative experience. The book analyzes patterns of higher education acquisition among the indigenous Palestinian minority, describing the disciplines they choose, the challenges they encounter, particularly for Palestinian women students, and explore the implications for the Palestinian minority and Israeli society. Sessional Papers British Columbia. Parliament, 1940 Beyond the Bubble

Test Linda Darling-Hammond, Frank Adamson, 2014-05-14 Performance assessment is a hot topic in school systems and educators continue to analyze its costs, benefits, and feasibility as a replacement for high stakes testing. Until now, researchers and policymakers have had to dig to find out what we know and what we still have to learn about performance assessment. Beyond the Bubble Test: How Performance Assessments Support 21st Century Learning synthesizes the latest findings in the field and is not a moment too soon. Statistics indicate that the United States is in danger of falling behind if it fails to adapt to our changing world. The memory and recall strategies of traditional testing are no longer adequate to equip our students with the skills they need to excel in the global economy. Instead, teachers need to engage students in deeper learning, assessing their ability to use higher order skills. Skills like synthesizing information, understanding evidence, and critical problem solving are not achieved when we teach to multiple choice exams. Examples in Beyond the Bubble Test paint a useful picture of how schools can begin to supplement traditional tests with something that works better. This book provides new perspectives on current performance assessment research, plus an incisive look at what's possible at the local and state levels. Linda Darling-Hammond, with a team of leading scholars, brings together lessons learned, new directions, and solid recommendations into a single, readily accessible compendium. Beyond the Bubble Test situates the current debate on performance assessment within the context of testing in the United States. This comprehensive resource also looks beyond our U.S. borders to Singapore, Hong Kong, and other places whose reform-mindedness can serve as an example to us. Identification and Citizenship in Africa Séverine Awenengo Dalberto, Richard Banégas, 2021-05-09 In the context of a global biometric turn, this book investigates processes of legal identification in Africa from below, asking what this means for the relationship between citizens and the state. Almost half of the population of the African continent is thought to lack a legal identity, and many states see biometric technology as a reliable and efficient solution to the problem. However, this book shows that biometrics, far from securing identities and avoiding fraud or political distrust, can even participate in reinforcing exclusion and polarizing debates on citizenship and national belonging It highlights the social and political embedding of legal identities and the resilience of the documentary state Drawing on empirical research conducted across 14 countries the book documents the processes practices and meanings of legal identification in Africa from the 1950s right up to the biometric boom Beyond the classic opposition between surveillance and recognition it demonstrates how analysing the social uses of IDs and tools of identification can give a fresh account of the state at work the practices of citizenship and the role of bureaucracy in the writing of the self in African societies This book will be of an important reference for students and scholars of African studies politics human security and anthropology and the sociology of the state
