Research Handbook on Asian Financial Law Douglas W. Arner, Wai Yee Wan, Andrew Godwin, Wei Shen, Evan Gibson, 2020-01-31 This comprehensive Research Handbook provides an in depth analysis of the different financial law approaches legal systems and trends throughout Asia It considers how reforms following the crises have been critical for the development and growth of the region and explores a broad range of post crisis financial regulatory issues This timely book also examines how inconsistent and divergent approaches to financial market regulation are curtailing the region's potential

The Regulation of Financial Planning in Australia Angelique Nadia Sweetman McInnes, 2019-08-20 This book investigates the legitimacy of the current Australian Financial Services Licensee Authorised Representative AFSL AR licensing model as specified in the Commonwealth Corporations Act 2001 The book rectifies the deficiency in scholarly attention to this matter by developing a new conceptualised framework for the financial planning discipline It takes into account theories in agency legislation legitimacy and the independent individual regulatory regimes in other professions thereafter integrating this framework with the financial planning theory to examine the legitimacy or what was found to be the illegitimacy of licensing advisers via multiple third party conflicted commercially oriented licensees This book makes a very useful reference to understanding financial planning licencing model in Australia

Road Pricing and Provision Michael de Percy, John Wanna, 2018-07-27 Road pricing is not a new concept toll roads have existed in Australia since Governor Macquarie established one from Sydney to Parramatta in 1811 and distance based charging schemes have been trialled and implemented with varying success overseas But how would full market reform of roads look in a federation like Australia In its responses to the 2016 Australian Infrastructure Plan and the 2015 Competition Policy Review the Australian Government explicitly supported investigating cost reflective road pricing as a long term reform option and has committed to establishing a study chaired by an eminent Australian to look into the potential impacts of road pricing reform on road users The challenges we face in this space are manifold and complex and we still have a long road ahead of us However with advocacy for reform coming from interest groups as diverse as governments private transport companies peak industry bodies policy think tanks and state motoring clubs there is now more support than ever before for changing the way we provide for and fund our roads This book seeks to advance the road reform agenda by presenting some of the latest thinking on road pricing and provision from a variety of disciplinary approaches researchers economists and public sector leaders It stresses the need for reform to ensure Australians can enjoy the benefits of efficient and sustainable transport infrastructure as our population and major metropolitan cities continue to grow Traffic congestion is avoidable but we must act soon The works presented here all point to the need for change the expertise and the technology are available and the various reform options have been mapped out in some detail It is time for the policy debate to shift to how rather than if road reform should progress

What's for Dinner? Jill Griffiths,2023-05-30 What are we really eating How do we eat in a way that nourishes us and does least harm to the environment What exactly do farmers do Should the world go vegan Do food miles matter Never before has so much food been produced by so few people to feed so many Never before have Australian consumers been so disconnected from their food production yet so interested in how it is done What s for Dinner delves into the way our food is grown and our responsibilities as eaters Weaving together science history and lived experience What s for Dinner takes readers on a journey to meet the plants animals and people who put the food on our plates It s a book for anyone who eats

Sovereignty, Migration and the Law Patricia Rushton,2025-02-11 This book examines how states justify the creation of physical policy and legislative barriers of entry for migrants by drawing on a concept of sovereignty The movement of people across the world in search of refuge from persecution war and poverty is accelerating And as states confronted with this movement create physical policy and legislative barriers to entry they justify this exclusion by drawing on concepts of sovereignty This book interrogates that justification in an historical and theoretical context using the case study of Australian law and policy since 1900 as well as instances from other Western countries that have routinely copied from Australia But just as Australian migration policies are being replicated in the US Britain and Europe so this book argues is their employment of an anachronistic concept of sovereignty one that is reasserted precisely because of its waning power in the face of globalisation This book will be an important resource for law and political science scholars researchers and students in the fields of migration and refugee law and policy as well as to professional policy makers government institutions lawyers and international agencies with a particular focus on those fields

Pivoting and Producing for Online TV Alexa Scarlata, 2025-05-02 The introduction and diffusion of international subscription video on demand SVOD services in the 2010s represented the most significant disruption of established national broadcast and pay TV ecologies in their long history Using an in depth Australian case study this book narrates this profound period of proliferation It also considers how incumbent commercial networks pay TV providers and public service broadcasters developed into online TV providers albeit in assorted ways In so doing it conceives of the early impact of online TV 2015 2020 more broadly and acknowledges the role of both new and old TV players The industry wide shift towards online TV over this period also impacted existing television drama production cultures SVOD services provided a fruitful avenue for the distribution of existing archives and slowly began to support the production of new Australian content with an increasingly global focus However the formal arrival of online TV certainly did not usher in the boom in original local television drama many anticipated Pivoting and Producing for Online TV Australia s Transition advances the macro analysis of television production strategies This book will be useful to students and researchers interested in media film and cultural studies

Resources in Education, 1993 Curtin's Empire James Curran, 2011-01-31 John Curtin remains a venerated leader His role as Labor s wartime supremo is etched deep into the national psyche the man who put Australia first locked horns with Churchill forged the alliance with the United States and became the saviour of the nation in its darkest hour Drawing on new archival material including sensitive and private correspondence from Curtin never before seen or quoted Curtin s Empire shows that this

British world vision was not imposed on him from abroad rather it animated Curtin from deep within Since entering politics Curtin had fought a bitter battle with his opponents both inside and outside his party over loyalty identity and national security At stake was how he and his party related to the defining idea of Australian politics for their times Britishness

Water Infrastructure Cecilia Tortajada, Asit Biswas, 2017-10-02 Water infrastructure is an essential element in water management Together with institutions policies and regulation it provides basic services to growing populations especially in developing countries where much of the growth is taking place In the Asia Pacific region for instance populations are growing not only in size but also in affluence straining further the existing infrastructure and demanding urgently the development of a new one While 79% of total water use in Asia occurs in agriculture the fastest increases in demand are emanating from industry and from urban areas This trend is a natural consequence of the fastest industrialization and urbanization process in history By 2030 more than 55% of Asia's population will live in urban areas an increase of 1.1 billion people Nevertheless water infrastructure is of concern not only in the global South but also in the North where much of the drinking water infrastructure needs upgrading or replacement a significant undertaking as infrastructure is more than a hundred years old in many cases The American Water Works Association estimates that changing all of the water pipes in the United States would cost more than USD 1 trillion In this book in depth case studies on water infrastructure challenges and policy solutions are presented from different parts of the world This book was published as a special issue of the International Journal of Water Resources Development Why Knowledge Matters in Curriculum Leesa Wheelahan, 2012 What should we teach in our schools and vocational education and higher education institutions Is theoretical knowledge still important This book argues that providing students with access to knowledge should be the raison d'être of education Its premise is that access to knowledge is an issue of social justice because society uses it to conduct its debates and controversies Theoretical knowledge is increasingly marginalised in curriculum in all sectors of education particularly in competency based training which is the dominant curriculum model in vocational education in many countries This book uses competency based training to explore the negative consequences that arise when knowledge is displaced in curriculum in favour of a focus on workplace relevance The book takes a unique approach by using the sociology of Basil Bernstein and the philosophy of critical realism as complementary modes of theorising to extend and develop social realist arguments about the role of knowledge in curriculum Both approaches are increasingly influential in education and the social sciences and the book will be helpful for those seeking an accessible introduction to these complex subjects Why Knowledge Matters in Curriculum is a key reading for those interested in the sociology of education curriculum studies work based learning vocational education higher education adult and community education tertiary education policy and lifelong learning more broadly

Housing Policy in Australia Hal Pawson, Vivienne Milligan, Judith Yates, 2025-11-01 This book extensively revised and updated in its second edition presents a comprehensive overview of housing policy in Australia over the last quarter century At a time of widespread concern about declining housing system performance it investigates the many dimensions of housing affordability and housing wealth inequality together with government actions affecting these outcomes The authors analyse the causes and implications of falling home ownership rising rental stress rates and the long term neglect of social housing as well as the housing situation of Indigenous Australians Building on its analysis of housing policy evolution in modern Australia this new edition also documents and critiques the numerous government efforts of the early 2020s to halt the decline in housing affordability These reforms span tenancy regulation land use planning and housing supply first home buyer assistance and social affordable housing investment Throughout the book identifies current and future housing challenges for Australian governments recognising these as a complex set of inter connected problems Drawing on its coverage of the economics politics and governance of housing provision the final chapter outlines a pathway to the transformational national strategy needed for a fairer and more productive housing system
