discrimination is a sad reality that numerous people face in different parts of their lives. As a Pakistani hijab Muslim, I have by and by experienced examples of uncalled for treatment that significantly affect my life. During my time in high school, I was the victim of a troubling act of discrimination. On a typical school day, a fellow student made a torrent of disparaging remarks about me based solely on my appearance as a hijab Muslim, fueling misconceptions and prejudices. The weight of injustice began to wear me down, despite my best efforts to ignore the taunts, affecting my confidence and well-being.

My emotional health was seriously harmed as a result of the unfair treatment I received. I felt a variety of negative emotions, including sadness, anger, and frustration. I wondered why I was being judged solely on the basis of my cultural and religious choices because I felt alone and misunderstood. The incident made me question my own identity and eroded my sense of self-worth. I realized how urgent it was to face this challenge head-on. In the midst of misery, looking for help from understanding people can give comfort and strength. I reached out to my mentors, friends, and family, who had always been there for me. Their immovable support and faith in my capacities assisted me with recapturing certainty. I was reassured by their perspective that my character and achievements were more important than the discriminatory actions of others.

education has forever been an amazing asset for destroying stereotypes and advancing inclusivity. Because of the segregation I confronted, I committed myself to teaching others about Islam and dissipating misguided judgments related with the hijab. Through open and deferential conversations, I drew in with my schoolmates, educators, and local area individuals, offering bits of knowledge into my confidence, culture, and individual encounters. By encouraging a climate of common getting it, I meant to make a more comprehensive and tolerating environment. As opposed to allowing discrimination to characterize me adversely, I decided to channel my encounters into self-improvement and inspiration. I came to the realization that the difficulties I faced could be used to advance my objectives. I made it a point to work hard in school and pursue my interest in science and engineering. I wanted to break the glass ceiling of low expectations and challenge the stereotypes of Muslim women by concentrating on my studies and setting high standards for myself.

I became actively involved in initiatives and organizations that promoted diversity, inclusion, and social justice because I was aware of the power of collective action. By drawing in with similar people, I tracked down strength in fortitude and a common perspective. We collaborated to create dialogues, cultural events, and awareness campaigns to combat discrimination and promote understanding. Through our efforts, we intended to make a more open minded and amicable society, one where no individual would confront the brunt of unreasonable treatment.

Msu Essay Questions 2013:

Just faith Stephan de Beer, 2018-12-01 The purpose of this scholarly book is to expand the body of knowledge available on urban theology. It introduces readers to the concept of planetary urbanisation with the view of deepening an understanding of urbanisation and its all pervasive impact on the planet people and places from a theological perspective. A critical theological reading of the urban is also provided, deliberating on bridging the divide between voices from the Global South and the Global North. In doing so, this book simultaneously seeks out robust and dynamic faith constructs expressed in various forms and embodiments of justice. The methodology chosen transcended narrow disciplinary boundaries, situating reflections between and across disciplines in the interface between scholarly reflection and an activist faith as well as between local rootedness and global connectedness. This was facilitated by the collected gathering of authors spanning all continents, various Christian faith traditions and multiple disciplines as well as a range of methodological approaches. The book endeavours to contribute to knowledge production in a number of ways. Firstly, it suggests the inadequacy of most dominant faith expressions in the face of all pervasive forces of urbanisation and it also provides clues as to the possibility of fostering potent alternative imaginaries. Secondly, it explores a decolonial faith that is expressed in various forms of justice. It is an attempt to offer concrete embodiments of what such a faith could look like in the context of planetary urbanisation. Thirdly, the book does not focus on one specific urban challenge or mode of ministry but rather introduces the concept of planetary urbanisation and then offers critical lenses with which to interrogate its consequences and challenges. It considers concrete and liberating faith constructs in areas ranging from gender, race, economic inequality, a solidarity economics and housing to urban violence, indigeneity and urbanisation, the interface between economic and environmental sustainability and grass roots theological education.

Middle-earth and the Return of the Common Good Joshua Hren, 2018-10-05 Political philosophy is nothing other than looking at things political under the aspect of eternity. This book invites us to look philosophically at political things in J.R.R. Tolkien's legendarium, demonstrating that Tolkien's potent mythology can be brought into rich, fruitful dialogue with works of political philosophy and political theology as different as Plato's Timaeus, Aquinas' De Regno, Hobbes' Leviathan and Erik Peterson's Monotheism as a Political Problem. It concludes that a political reading of Tolkien's work is most luminous when conducted by the harmonious lights of fides et ratio as found in the thought of Thomas Aquinas. A broad study of Tolkien and the political is especially pertinent in that the legendarium operates on two levels. As a popular mythology, it is in the author's own words a really long story that would hold the attention of readers, amuse them, delight them and at times maybe excite them or deeply move them. But the stories of The Silmarillion and The Lord of the Rings contain deeper teachings that can only be drawn out when read philosophically. Written from the vantage of a mind that is deeply Christian, Tolkien's stories grant us a revelatory gaze into the major political problems of modernity, from individualism to totalitarianism, sovereignty to surveillance, terror to technocracy. As an outsider in modernity, Tolkien invites us to question the modern in a manner that moves beyond reaction into a vivid and compelling vision of the common good
