| ABSTRACT

On the implementation level of the National Foreign Language Project for the period 2008 – 2020, now extended to 2025 in Vietnam, Level 3/6 – VNFLPF (B1- CEFR) has been set as the learning outcomes for high school language learners. The English curriculum for Vietnamese upper secondary schools was promulgated, and guiding documents were launched, officially supporting EFL teachers in teaching and assessing language learners effectively to achieve the required learning outcomes. This paper reports the findings from an investigation into high school EFL teachers' practices of assessing language learners in a city in Central Vietnam using interviews and assessment samples. From the findings, practical suggestions are made with the hope of providing a valuable basis for both learning improvement and teaching development.

1. Introduction

The decision No. 1400/QĐ-TTg dated 30 September 2008 by the Vietnamese Prime Minister approving the National project named "Teaching and Learning Foreign Languages in the National Formal Educational System in the Period of 2008-2020" (now extended to 2025) (henceforth the National 2020 project) was launched "to comprehensively renew foreign language teaching and learning in the national education system, to implement new foreign language teaching and learning programs at different education levels and training levels in order to remarkably improve human resources' foreign language proficiency, especially in a number of prioritized domains, by 2015; by 2020, most young Vietnamese graduates of professional secondary schools, colleges and universities will have a good command of foreign language which enables them to independently and confidently communicate, study and work in a multilingual and multicultural environment of integration; to turn foreign languages into a strength of Vietnamese to serve national industrialization and modernization" (Prime Minister, 2008). These objectives have made English language learning at all levels promising but challenging not only to learners but also to teachers. English language teaching for upper secondary learners is no exception.

In the implementation of this English curriculum for Vietnamese upper secondary schools, a variety of issues, such as selecting entrance learners at the CEFR-A2, selecting high schools well-equipped with necessary facilities, and teachers well-qualified with level CEFR-C1, are required. Teachers are also offered some training workshops, including language teaching methodology, language testing and assessment, and new curricula accompanied by new textbooks (MOET, 2013). Among these groups of significant knowledge and skills, English language testing and assessment is of great concern as effective assessment provides valuable information to students, educators, parents, and administrators for making the right decisions or setting upcoming goals.

Peer Response in Second Language Writing Classrooms, Second Edition Jun Liu, Jette G. Hansen

Edwards, 2018-05-25 Since the publication of the first edition in 2002 there have been two major developments in L2 writing and peer response teaching and research. The first is the increased interest in CALL and computer mediated communication CMC for L2 pedagogy; the second is the accessibility and viability of research on L2 peer response from all over the world. Both developments are thoroughly addressed in this new edition. Now that classes are as likely to be online as held in physical classrooms and now that a new generation of digital natives can routinely read and respond to what others write via laptops, tablets and phones, peer response as pedagogical practice is not just more easily implemented but it is more likely to feel natural to L2 learners. The Second Edition is a highly accessible guide to how the world is using peer response and serves as a motivator and facilitator for those who want to try it for the first time or want to increase the effectiveness of the activities, whether via CMC or not. The volume includes 11 forms useful in training students to provide good peer feedback, including a final checklist to ensure teachers have taken all the necessary steps to achieve a successful peer feedback activity.

Integrating Assessment into Early Language Learning and Teaching Danijela Prošić-Santovac, Shelagh Rixon, 2019-08-07

The volume unites research and practice on integrating language learning, teaching and assessment at preschool and early school age. It includes chapters written by experts in the field who have studied some of the very youngest pre-primary children through to those up to the age of 12 in a variety of private and state contexts across Europe. The collection makes a much needed contribution to the subject of appropriate assessment for children, with the focus of many chapters being classroom based assessment, particularly formative assessment or the case for developing assessment skills in relation to even the youngest children. As a whole, the book provides useful case study insights for policymakers, teacher educators, researchers and postgraduate students with interest in or responsibility for how children are assessed in their language learning. It also provides practical ideas for practitioners who wish to implement greater integration of assessment and learning in their own contexts.

Reconstructing Response to Student Writing Dan Melzer, 2023-08-07

In Reconstructing Response to Student Writing, Dan Melzer makes the argument that writing instructors should shift the construct so that peer response and student self assessment are more central than teacher response. Presenting the results of a national study of teacher and peer response and student self assessment at institutions of higher education across the United States, Melzer analyzes teacher and peer response to over 1 000 pieces of student writing as well as 128 student portfolio reflection essays. He draws on his analysis and on a comprehensive review of the literature on response to introduce a constructivist heuristic for response aimed at both composition instructors and instructors across disciplines. Melzer argues that teachers and researchers should focus less on teacher response to individual pieces of student writing and more on engaging in dialogue with student self assessment and peer response, focusing on growth and transfer rather than products.

and grades Reconstructing Response to Student Writing especially when taken together with Melzer's previous book Assignments across the Curriculum provides a comprehensive and large scale view of college writing and responding across the curriculum in the United States

Classroom Discourse Competence Katrin Thomson, 2022-04-04 In language learning contexts the role of the language teacher is a particularly crucial one it is the teacher who through and with their use of the foreign language has a significant influence on the extent to which language learners are linguistically cognitively activated and thus determines whether processes of language learning are initiated and promoted or perhaps even impeded or prevented Thus it is of utmost importance for language teachers to acquire a high level of classroom discourse competence CDC a professional competence that goes far beyond the notions of FL proficiency and communicative competence Located at the intersection of theory classroom research and practical approaches to E FL teacher education Classroom Discourse Competence Current Issues in Language Teaching and Teacher Education offers university students trainee teachers in service teachers and teacher educators a comprehensive conceptualization of CDC Part I Furthermore the chapters in this book explore facets of CDC Part II and present good practice examples of CDC development in the context of pre service teacher education Part III

Evaluating Second Language Education J. Charles Alderson, Alan Beretta, 1992-02-27 Counter Responsibility for planning language teaching programs now carries with it a strong element of accountability Evaluation of the whole process of course design development and implementation is therefore a necessary area of activity for course designers language planners and researchers This book brings together accounts of recent work in this increasingly important field and will be a valuable resource both for those already engaged in evaluation and for those in training Part One presents a review of the literature covering past developments in the wider field of educational evaluation as well as specifically in second language education Part Two contains a series of eight original case studies written by scholars involved in evaluations in widely divergent settings The focus in each case is on how the evaluator addresses the difficulties central to each study and the findings are also included The final Part Three provides practical guidance for evaluators offering suggestions about how to set up and carry out evaluations in any given setting Publisher's website

Revisiting the Assessment of Second Language Abilities: From Theory to Practice Sahbi Hidri, 2018-01-12 This book presents an overview of revisiting the assessment of language abilities It also showcases how the measurement of such constructs can result in negative or positive washback and how outcomes might be conducive to repercussions that decide on the future of many stakeholders The 23 chapters were selected among tens of chapters received from different contexts that addressed the issue of revisiting the assessment of language abilities such as Tunisia Ukraine Algeria Russia KSA Sudan Egypt Canada Kurdistan UK USA Iran Turkey etc These contexts have highlighted the necessity to revisit the different constructs which should be assessed with a clear and straightforward foundation on students learning objectives and their actual language ability To do so most of the chapters present hands on use of relevant statistical tests that might serve in revisiting the construct definition both theoretically and operationally Perhaps the sole and intricate question that the authors of these contributions ask is what it means to revisit the assessment of the construct of individualized language ability and how In addition the book accentuates the momentousness and significance of reflecting on test fairness and validation as the mainspring and backbone for democratization of assessment This book appeals to a broad readership such as English Language Teaching ELT practitioners language teachers students testing organizations policy makers test designers writers of test specifications testing experts researchers program evaluators especially in the Middle East and North Africa MENA as well as other international contexts

Language Testing and Assessment: Practices and Challenges in the 21st Century Dr. Heny Hartono, Despite the fact that language assessment has become one of the most crucial aspects of language teaching there have been many challenges faced by teachers and language test designers New challenges include online language classroom assessment and language assessment for class teachers who use English as the medium of instruction EMI The time of covid 19 pandemic will not stop the increased need for language assessment Therefore issues in language testing and assessment are worth to be well documented through academic articles Attitudinal Evaluation in Chinese University Students' English Writing Xinghua Liu, Anne McCabe, 2017-09-15 This book offers up-to-date insights into the long-standing controversy of whether or not Chinese learners of English adequately express their attitudes in written English. It compares four writing datasets from three groups of student writers: English-speaking students' English texts, Chinese-speaking students' Chinese texts, and both English and Chinese texts produced by the same group of Chinese-speaking students majoring in English. It applies the appraisal framework, an analytical tool developed in the field of Systemic Functional Linguistics. The book provides a nuanced view of the deployment of attitudinal patterns and the linguistic resources used for attitudinal evaluation in Chinese students' English writing. Accordingly, it offers a valuable resource for all those interested in second language writing, contrastive rhetoric, second language acquisition, and systemic functional linguistics.
