Hanscomb, 2023-06-28 Critical Thinking The Basics is an accessible and engaging introduction to the field of critical thinking drawing on philosophy communication and psychology Emphasising its relevance both to academic literacy and to decision making in a range of contexts this book introduces and explains the knowledge methods and skills needed to identify and avoid poor reasoning reconstruct and evaluate arguments and engage constructively in dialogues Topics covered include The relationship between critical thinking emotions and the psychology of persuasion The role of character dispositions such as open mindedness courage and self knowledge Argument identification and reconstruction Fallacies and argument evaluation This second edition has been revised and updated throughout and includes an additional chapter on the relationship between critical thinking and emotions There are also new sections on concepts such as the experiential mind and need for cognitive closure and contemporary examples drawn from issues including conspiracy theories the pandemic and misuses of social media With updated and expanded discussion questions exercises and suggestions for further reading at the end of each main chapter this book is an essential read for students approaching the field of critical thinking for the first time and for the general reader wanting to improve their thinking skills and decision making abilities Reconnecting Reading and Writing Alice S. Horning, Elizabeth W. Kraemer, 2013-09-06 Reconnecting Reading and Writing explores the ways in which reading can and should have a strong role in the teaching of writing in college Reconnecting Reading and Writing draws on broad perspectives from history and international work to show how and why reading should be reunited with writing in college and high school classrooms It presents an overview of relevant research on reading and how it can best be used to support and enhance writing instruction Everything's an Argument With Readings Andrea A. Lunsford, John J.

Ruszkiewicz, Keith Walters, 2010-01-22 Accessible in style while offering thorough and well organized content and heavyweight ideas The attention to visual design makes the text interesting and appealing as well as easy to navigate Anthony Baker Tennessee Technological University Everything's an Argument is the total package no other reader is this good a rhetoric and no other argument text is this good a reader Jim Coppoc Iowa State University For many years Everything's an Argument has been my favorite textbook to use for the second semester composition course It covers complex concepts in a way that is very accessible for students The text is up to date with contemporary issues Lisa Kirby North Carolina Wesleyan College Chapter 1 gets five stars from me it begins a semester long conversation about whether everything is indeed an argument I think students have never considered this concept and are challenged by and excited about it Ellen Johnson Arizona State University The readings are current and timely which helps students apply what they are reading to their lives and encourages making connections between what they are reading and what crosses their path outside the classroom walls Kristin Smith Durham Technical Community College Controversial at times very thorough interesting and has something for everybody's taste and teaching style Sarah Eichelman Walters State Community College Trained Capacities Brian Jackson, Gregory Clark, 2014-01-07 A collection examining Dewey's influence on effective communication in a healthy democratic practice The essays in this collection written by sixteen scholars in rhetoric and communications studies demonstrate American philosopher John Dewey's wide ranging influence on rhetoric in an intellectual tradition that addresses the national culture's fundamental conflicts between self and society freedom and responsibility and individual advancement and the common good Editors Brian Jackson and Gregory Clark propose that this influence is at work both in theoretical foundations such as science pragmatism and religion and in Dewey's debates with other public intellectuals such as Jane Addams Walter Lippmann James Baldwin and W E B Du Bois Jackson and Clark seek to establish Dewey as an essential source for those engaged in teaching others how to compose timely appropriate useful and eloquent responses to the diverse and often contentious rhetorical situations that develop in a democratic culture They contend that there is more at stake than instruction in traditional modes of public discourse because democratic culture encompasses a variety of situations private or public civic or professional where people must cooperate in the work of advancing a common project What prepares people to intervene constructively in such situations is instruction in those rhetorical practices of democratic interaction that is implicit throughout Dewey's work Dewey's writing provides a rich framework on which a distinctly American tradition of a democratic rhetorical practice can be built a tradition that combines the most useful concepts of classical rhetoric with those of modern progressive civic engagement Jackson and Clark believe Dewey's practice takes rhetoric beyond the traditional emphasis on political democracy to provide connections to rich veins of American thought such as individualism liberalism progressive education collectivism pragmatism and postindustrial science and communication They frame Dewey's voluminous work as constituting a modern expression of continuing education for the trained capacities required to participate in democratic culture For Dewey human potential is best realized in the free flow of artful communication among the individuals who together constitute society The book concludes with an afterword by Gerard A Hauser College Professor of Distinction in the Department of Communication at the University of Colorado Boulder

Teaching Arguments Jennifer Fletcher, 2023-10-10 No matter where students' lives lead after graduation one of the most essential tools we can teach them is how to comprehend analyze and respond to arguments Students need to know how writers and speakers' choices are shaped by elements of the rhetorical situation including audience occasion and purpose In Teaching Arguments Rhetorical Comprehension Critique and Response Jennifer Fletcher provides teachers with engaging classroom activities writing prompts graphic organizers and student samples to help students at all levels read write listen speak and think rhetorically Fletcher believes that with appropriate scaffolding and encouragement all students can learn a rhetorical approach to argument and gain access to rigorous academic content Teaching Arguments opens the door and helps them pay closer attention to the acts of meaning around them to notice persuasive strategies that might not be apparent at first glance When we analyze and develop arguments we have to consider more than just the printed words on the page We have to evaluate multiple perspectives the tension between belief and doubt the interplay of reason character and emotion the dynamics of occasion audience and purpose and how our own identities shape what we read and write Rhetoric teaches us how to do these things Teaching Arguments will help students learn to move beyond a superficial response to texts so they can analyze and craft sophisticated persuasive arguments a major cornerstone for being not just college and career ready but ready for the challenges of the world

Arguments and Arguing Thomas A. Hollihan, Kevin T. Baaske, 2015-11-17 The latest edition of Arguments and Arguing contains the same balance of theory and practice breadth of coverage current and relevant examples and accessible writing style that made previous editions so popular in hundreds of classrooms The authors draw from classic and recent argumentation theory and research contextualized with well chosen examples to showcase a narrative style of argumentation and the values and attitudes of audiences Readers learn how to employ both formal and informal argumentative strategies in an array of communication forums from interpersonal interactions to academic debate to politics to business A newly added chapter on visual argumentation and a striking color photo insert demonstrate the value and power of visual elements in the construction of arguments The ability to argue is necessary if people are to solve problems resolve conflicts and evaluate alternative courses of action While many are taught that arguing is counterproductive and arguments should be avoided Hollihan and Baaske illustrate that arguing is an essential and fundamental human activity Learning the art of effective argumentation entails a grasp of not only the strategies and principles of analysis and logical reasoning but also the importance of arguing in a positive and socially constructive fashion

Argument as Dialogue Across Difference Jennifer Clifton, 2016-11-25 In the spirit of models of argument starting with inquiry this book starts with a question What might it mean to teach argument in ways that open up spaces for change changes of mind changes of practice and policy changes in ways of talking and relating The author explores teaching argument in ways that take into account the complexities and pluralities young people face as they attempt to enact local and global citizenship with others who may reasonably disagree The focus is foremost on social action the hard hopeful work of finding productive ways forward in contexts where people need to work together across difference to get something worthwhile done

Thinking with Bruno Latour in Rhetoric and Composition Paul Lynch, Nathaniel Rivers, 2015-04-20 Best known for his books We Have Never Been Modern Laboratory Life and Science in Action Bruno Latour has inspired scholarship across many disciplines In the past few years the fields of rhetoric and composition have witnessed an explosion of interest in Latour's work Editors Paul Lynch and Nathaniel Rivers have assembled leading and emerging scholars in order to focus the debate on what Latour means for the study of persuasion and written communication Essays in this volume discern rearticulate and occasionally critique rhetoric and composition's growing interest in Latour These contributions include work on topics such as agency argument rhetorical history pedagogy and technology among others Contributors explain key terms identify implications of Latour s work for rhetoric and composition and explore how his theories might inform writing pedagogies and be used to build research methodologies Thinking with Bruno Latour in Rhetoric and Composition shows how Latour s groundbreaking theories on technology agency and networks might be taken up enriched and extended to challenge scholars in rhetorical studies both English and communications composition and writing studies to rethink some of the field s most basic assumptions It is set to become the standard introduction that will appeal not only to those scholars already interested in Latour but also those approaching Latour for the first time

Inviting Understanding Sonja K. Foss, Cindy L. Griffin, 2020-08-20 Inviting Understanding A Portrait of Invitational Rhetoric is an authoritative reference work designed to provide a comprehensive overview of the theory of invitational rhetoric developed twenty five years ago by Sonja K Foss and Cindy L Griffin This theory challenges the conventional conception of rhetoric as persuasion and defines rhetoric as an invitation to understanding as a means to create a relationship rooted in equality immanent value and self determination Rather than celebrating argumentation division and winning invitational rhetoric encourages rhetors to listen across differences to engage in dialogue and to try to understand positions different from their own Organized into the three categories of foundations extensions and applications Inviting Understanding is a compilation of published articles and new essays that explore and expand the theory The book provides readers with access to a wide range of resources about this revolutionary theory in areas such as community organizing social justice activism social media film graffiti institutional and team decision making communication and composition pedagogy and interview protocols Everything's an Argument with Readings, 5th Ed ANDREA A.
