Latest Advances and New Domains Harald Sack, Eva Blomqvist, Mathieu d'Aquin, Chiara Ghidini, Simone Paolo Ponzetto, Christoph Lange, 2016-05-22
 The 47 revised full papers presented together with three invited talks were carefully reviewed and selected from 204 submissions. This program was completed by a demonstration and poster session in which researchers had the chance to present their latest results and advances in the form of live demos. In addition, the PhD Symposium program included 10 contributions selected out of 21 submissions. The core tracks of the research conference were complemented with new tracks focusing on linked data, machine learning, mobile web, sensors and semantic streams, natural language processing and information retrieval, reasoning, semantic data management, big data and scalability, services, APIs, processes and cloud computing, smart cities, urban and geospatial data, trust and privacy and vocabularies, schemas and ontologies      The Future of Information Architecture Peter Baofu, 2008-03-31
 The Future of Information Architecture examines issues surrounding why information is processed, stored and applied in the way that it has since time immemorial. Contrary to the conventional wisdom held by many scholars in human history, the recurrent debate on the explanation of the most basic categories of information (eg space, time, causation, quality, quantity) has been misconstrued to the effect that there exists some deeper categories and principles behind these categories of information with enormous implications for our understanding of reality in general. To understand this, the book is organised into four main parts. Part I begins with the vital question concerning the role of information within the context of the larger theoretical debate in the literature. Part II provides a critical examination of the nature of data taxonomy from the main perspectives of culture, society, nature and the mind. Part III constructively investigates the world of information network from the main perspectives of culture, society, nature and the mind. Part IV proposes six main theses in the author's synthetic theory of information architecture: namely a) the first thesis on the simpleness/complicatedness principle, b) the second thesis on the exactness/vagueness principle, c) the third thesis on the slowness/quickness principle, d) the fourth thesis on the order/chaos principle, e) the fifth thesis on the symmetry/asymmetry principle, and f) the sixth thesis on the post-human stage      Web Application Design Patterns Pawan Vora, 2009-03-12
 Ever notice that in spite of their pervasiveness, designing web applications is still challenging. While their benefits motivate their creation, there are no well-established guidelines for design. This often results in inconsistent behaviors and appearances even among web applications created by the same company. Design patterns for web applications, similar in concept to those for web sites and software design, offer an effective solution. In Web Application Design Patterns

Pawan Vora documents design patterns for web applications by not only identifying design solutions for user interaction problems but also by examining the rationale for their effectiveness and by presenting how they should be applied Design interfaces faster with a better rationale for the solutions you choose Learn from over more than 100 patterns with extensive annotation on use and extension Take a short cut into understanding the industry with more than 500 full color screenshots
