

SHORT STORY IDEAS

for Students

- Your story begins with two students inside the school, a note from the principal and a fish bowl. You must incorporate all of these elements into your short story.
- You and your best friend go to the local diner after school for a milkshake. Once you arrive, you stumble upon a mysterious note from your teacher. In your story, include what the note from the teacher says, and create a tale about what happens after the note is discovered.
- You walk into the cafeteria one day for lunch, only to discover that your two best friends are in an argument. What is the argument about, and how are you going to help them solve it?
- Write a story from the perspective of an animal at the local shelter. What type of animal is your main character going to be? Will your character go home with a family, or make friends at the shelter? Discuss the animal's experience and how the animal might be feeling.
- You are babysitting two kids after school, and it's a spooky, stormy night. You hear a loud crash... and your story begins. Write about what happens throughout the evening, and create a story about your adventures as a responsible babysitter.
- You just received the biggest surprise of your life. What is the surprise? Do you love it or hate it? Write a story that clearly states what the surprise is, and how your character reacts to that surprise.
- You walk onto the playground after school. You have two choices in front of you: You can join your three oldest friends by the swings, or you can meet up with your three new friends under the pavilion. Write a story about the choice that you make, and the things that happen as a result of your decision.

Text-Dependent Questions, Grades K-5 Douglas Fisher,Nancy Frey,Heather Anderson,Marisol Thayre,2014-09-02 Fisher Frey s answer to close and critical reading No doubt since the cave paintings of prehistoric times humans have asked questions to make sense of the message So what could possibly be new about posing questions about text Plenty and with TDQ Doug Fisher and Nancy Frey reveal it all After one quick read you will have learned all the very best ways to use text dependent questions as scaffolds during close reading and the big understandings they can yield especially when executed the Fisher and Frey way But that s just for starters Fisher and Frey also include illustrative video recommended texts and questions examples from across content areas and an online professional learning guide making the two volumes of TDQ a potent professional development tool across all of K 12 The genius of TDQ is the way Fisher and Frey break down the process into four cognitive pathways that help teachers organize the journey through a text and frame an extended discussion around it Step by step this approach ensures that in every close reading lesson students are guided to consider explicit and implied meanings and deeply analyze and appreciate various aspects of a text especially those that may be challenging or confusing Here s how the four inter related processes play out with every why and every how answered What does the text say general understandings and key details How does the text work vocabulary structure and author s craft What does the text mean logical inferences and intertextual connections What does the text inspire you to do write investigate present debate The cool thing These questions ignite students engagement and discussion because they strategically lead students to a place of understanding where explicit and implied meanings and interpretations can be debated Far from being overly literal or teacher led the questioning framework Fisher and Frey advance enhances the quality of student talk and idea generation All in all there s no better resource to cultivate students capacity for independent reading and incisive thinking Longtime collaborators and recipients of numerous teaching and leadership awards DOUGLAS FISHER and NANCY FREY are Professors of Educational Leadership at San Diego State University as well as teacher leaders at Health Sciences High Middle College

Reveals how young American Jewish children come to develop their views about Israel Israel has long occupied a prominent place in the lives and imaginations of American Jews serving as both a symbolic touchstone and a source of intercommunal conflict In My Second Favorite Country Sivan Zakai offers the first longitudinal study of how American Jewish children come to think and feel about Israel tracking their evolving conceptions from kindergarten to fifth grade This work sheds light on the perception of Israel in the minds of Jewish children in the US and provides a rich case study of how children more generally develop ideas and beliefs about self community nation and world In contrast to popular views of America s youth as naive or uninterested this book illuminates both the complexity of their thinking and their desire to be included in conversations about important civic and political matters Zakai draws from compelling empirical data to prove that children spend considerable effort contemplating the very concepts that adults often assume they are not ready to discuss Indeed the book argues that over the course of their elementary school education children develop and express deep interest in complex issues such as the intricacies of identity and belonging conflicting ways of framing the past and the demands of civic responsibility Ultimately Zakai argues that in order to take children s ideas seriously and better prepare them for a world full of disagreement a substantive shift in educational practices is necessary Reading Stories For Comprehension
