Adrian Stewart, 2024-07-30 Field Marshal Bernard Law Montgomery had a dynamic personality that often led to difficulties with political or military superiors but made him an immensely effective leader of men He identified himself closely with his soldiers whose welfare was his continual concern and whom he treated almost as family In return they fought for him magnificently in some of the most important battles of the Second World War These battles varied in type terrain and tactics defended river crossings including that of the Rhine amphibious landings including the D Day landings defensive encounters including Alam Halfa and the Ardennes mobile operations including the capture of Tripoli the left hook at the Mareth Line and the dash from the Seine to the Scheldt culminating in the daring attempt to seize the Rhine bridges set piece conflicts against enemies in prepared positions equipped with often superior weapons including Alamein and Normandy In addition to describing the battles that made Montgomery the legendary military commander for which he is rightly remembered this fascinating book examines both his qualities and weaknesses Notwithstanding the latter there is no doubt that he fully justified the trust and loyalty that soldiers gave to the man they knew as Monty US World War II and Korean War Field Fortifications 1941-53 Gordon L. Rottman, 2011-10-20 The US Army and Marine Corps in World War II considered themselves highly mobile offensive forces Their mobile warfare doctrine envisioned field fortifications and obstacles as temporary in nature As a result their design was simple and made use of local materials and they could be constructed comparatively quickly whilst still providing adequate protection By the time of the Korean War only minor changes had been made to field fortification construction and layout and to small unit organization weapons and tactics This title addresses field fortifications built by US infantrymen during World War II and in Korea and covers rifle platoon positions trenches crew served weapon positions bunkers dugouts shelters observation posts and anti tank obstacles Bastions and Barbed Wire Tony Pollard,Iain Banks,2009-04-15 Various papers on the archaeology of conflict including battlefield archaeology The main focus of the volume is confinement as expressed by a wide variety of contexts Most obviously these include Nazi concentration camps which are in need of credible archaeological attention the editorial points out the dangers of the misappropriation of archaeological and scientific techniques by Holocaust deniers Other forms of confinement are examined in papers focussing on the archaeology of island defences and siege sites with the sieges of Leith from 1650 and of Fort William from 1646 both recently being subject to archaeological investigation Other contributions include a study of shell holes and field defences from the battle of the Bulge 1944 Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress.
