

CHAPTER 2

Operations Strategy in a Global Environment

Discussion Questions

1. Global means the better label for Boeing since industry and responsibility reside in the U.S.—the home country.
2. Reasons to internationalize: Reduce costs, improve supply chain, provide better goods and services, attract new markets, learn to improve operations, attract and retain global talent.
3. Mr. Swenson at Coca-Cola is affected for the tastes of both global countries.
4. A mission is an organization's purpose—what good or service it will contribute to society.
5. Strategy is an organization's action plan—how it is going to achieve its purpose.
6. A mission specifies where the organization is going and a strategy specifies how it is going to get there.
7. The answer to this question will depend on the establishment studied, but should probably include some of the following considerations:

The mission: Diagnose automobile problems and make the necessary repair at a fair price for the local customer.

Policies to consider, or options, within the 10 direction areas are:

Decision	Options
Product	Repair work of American and/or foreign vehicles; specialized (tune-ups, lubrication, wheel alignment, etc.) versus general repair; frame and body repair versus engine and power train repair; repair and maintenance only, versus repair, maintenance, and sales of fuel; professional staffing versus rental of tools and space for do-it-yourself repair work
Quality	Appropriate level of quality; warranty; method of measuring and maintaining quality (customer complaints, inspection by supervising mechanic, etc.)
Process	Use of general versus special purpose diagnostic and repair equipment (in particular, the degree to which computer controlled diagnostic equipment is employed)
Location	In-town, shopping mall, highway
Layout	Single hydrocarbon bay versus general-purpose bay versus special-purpose bay (lubrication/oil change and inspection/wheel alignment/ engine and power train repair, etc.)

Human resources	Employment of certified versus noncertified repair persons; employment of specialists versus general mechanics
Supply Chain	Choice of supplier(s) for both general and original manufacturer parts and supplies
Scheduling	Hours of operation (8:00 a.m.–5:00 p.m.; 24-hour towing; weekends/evening), repairs versus motor vehicle safety inspections, etc.; service by appointment versus walk-in (or drive-up) service
Inventory	Quantity and variety of repair parts (oil, filters, wipers, headlights, etc.) to stock; whether to stock generic or original manufacturer parts
Maintenance	Steps with hydraulic lifts vs. service to maintain “baseline” work areas. Preventive maintenance of equipment vs. breakdown.

8. Library or Internet assignment: Student is to identify a mission and strategy for a firm. Southwest, Wal-Mart, The Wall Street Journal, and Procter & Gamble all have appropriate articles.

9. Old strategy change during a product's life cycle: During the introduction stage, issues such as product design and sales layout are critical, then during the growth stage the emphasis changes to product and process reliability; from there we move to concern for increasing the viability of the manufacturing process and cost cutting; and finally, in the decline stage providing the line to eliminate those not retaining good enough business becomes important. Figure 2.5 provides a more expansive list.

10. The text focuses on three conceptual strategies—cost leadership, differentiation and response. Cost leadership by Wal-Mart, with low overhead, without cost reduction in the supply chain; Differentiation, certainly any premium product—all fine dining restaurants, up-scale homes—Lexus, etc.; Response, your local pizza delivery service, FedEx, etc.

11. An operations strategy statement for Southwest Airlines would include a focus on efficient, low-cost service with high capital utilization (high aircraft and gate utilization), flexible non-union employees, low administrative overhead, etc. Southwest's strategy is complicated by the purchase of Air Tron. First, there is a major organizational culture issue. Southwest's culture is unique. The company really does think of itself as a family, with a fun culture. Air Tron's culture is different. Integrating the two cultures will be a challenge. Related to this are human resources issues such as seniority, pay rate, and promotion policies, all of which are complicated by union issues. On the tangible side, Southwest's use of just Boeing 737s is complicated by Air Tron's
