Research Guide to Japanese Film Studies Abé Markus Nornes, Aaron

Gerow, 2016-02-02 The Research Guide to Japanese Film Studies provides a snapshot of all the archival and bibliographic resources available to students and scholars of Japanese cinema Among the nations of the world Japan has enjoyed an impressively lively print culture related to cinema The first film books and periodicals appeared shortly after the birth of cinema proliferating wildly in the 1910s with only the slightest pause in the dark days of World War II The numbers of publications match the enormous scale of film production but with the lack of support for film studies in Japan much of it remains as uncharted territory with few maps to negotiate the maze of material This book is the first comprehensive guide ever published for approaching the complex archive for Japanese cinema It lists all the libraries and film archives in the world with significant collections of film prints still photographs archival records books and periodicals It provides a full annotated bibliography of the core books and magazines for the field And it supplies hints for how to find and access materials for any research project Above and beyond that Nornes and Gerow's Research Guide to Japanese Film Studies constitutes a comprehensive overview of the impressive dimensions and depth of the print culture surrounding Japanese film and a guideline for future research in the field This is an essential book for anyone seriously thinking about Japan and its cinema

Ethnographic Film Karl G. Heider, 2009-04-20 From reviews of the first edition Ethnographic Film can rightly be considered a film primer for anthropologists Choice This is an interesting and useful book about what it means to be ethnographic and how this might affect ethnographic filmmaking for the better It obviously belongs in all departments of anthropology and most ethnographic filmmakers will want to read it Ethnohistory Even before Robert Flaherty released Nanook of the North in 1922 anthropologists were producing films about the lifeways of native peoples for a public audience as well as for research and teaching Ethnographic Film 1976 was one of the first books to provide a comprehensive introduction to this field of visual anthropology and it quickly became the standard reference In this new edition Karl G Heider thoroughly updates Ethnographic Film to reflect developments in the field over the three decades since its publication focusing on the work of four seminal filmmakers Jean Rouch John Marshall Robert Gardner and Timothy Asch He begins with an introduction to ethnographic film and a history of the medium He then considers many attributes of ethnographic film including the crucial need to present whole acts whole bodies whole interactions and whole people to preserve the integrity of the cultural context Heider also discusses numerous aspects of making ethnographic films from ethics and finances to technical considerations such as film versus video and preserving the filmed record He concludes with a look at using ethnographic film in teaching
