Geography 2013 Grade 1gauteng:

Geography Teacher Education and Professionalization Eyüp Artvinli, Inga Gryl, Jongwon Lee, Jerry T. Mitchell, 2022-11-02

This book focuses on how current and prospective teachers worldwide are prepared for the significant task of teaching geography given the important role of teachers. It eschews a traditional career-centric framework pre-service in-service teaching in favor of a topical approach toward issues that all teachers face. The book updates thinking on geography education subfields such as GI education and fieldwork and traces important contemporary discourses such as digitalization and sustainability. The book further explains the broad variety of institutionalization of geography teacher education in various political systems. In short, this book collects strategies for geography teacher educators worldwide to provide insight into the challenges, conditions, and solutions present at the classroom and institutional level. As such, this book is a must-have for teacher educators and geography teachers worldwide.

Urban Geography in South Africa Ruth Massey, Ashley Gunter, 2019-08-17 This book embraces South Africa and its place in the Global South, providing a succinct theoretical and empirical analysis and discussion of urban issues in the country. There have been sporadic calls from the Urban Geography community for the development of an overarching and comprehensive text that explores contemporary processes and practices taking place in urban South Africa and more widely the Global South. This is an edited collection of chapters by leading urban theorists and practitioners working on various themes within urban South Africa and serves as a base for scholars and students interested in urban perspectives from countries in the Global South.

The Geography of South Africa Jasper Knight, Christian M. Rogerson, 2018-10-03 This edited collection examines contemporary directions in geographical research on South Africa. It encompasses a cross-section of selected themes of critical importance not only to the discipline of Geography in South Africa but also of relevance to other areas of the Global South. All chapters are original contributions providing a state-of-the-art research baseline on key themes in physical, human, and environmental geography and in understanding the changing geographical landscapes of modern South Africa. These contributions set the scene for an understanding of the relationships between modern South Africa and the wider contemporary world, including issues of sustainable development and growth in the Global South.

to K 12 teachers school administrators policymakers researchers in geography education professors and lecturers at universities around the world

Urban Inequality Owen Crankshaw, 2022-01-27 Based on new evidence that challenges existing theories of urban inequality Crankshaw argues that the changing pattern of earnings and occupational inequality in Johannesburg is better described by the professionalism of employment alongside high levels of chronic unemployment Central to this examination is that the social polarisation hypothesis which is accepted by many is simply wrong in the case of Johannesburg Ultimately Crankshaw posits that the post Fordist post apartheid period is characterised by a completely new division of labour that has caused new forms of racial inequality That racial inequality in the post apartheid period is not the result of the persistence of apartheid era causes but is the result of new causes that have interacted with the historical effects of apartheid to produce new patterns of racial inequality

An analysis of microscale segregation and socio-economic sorting in Gauteng Christian Hamann, 2024-04-30 This Occasional Paper analyses racial segregation and socio economic sorting in Gauteng at the microscale The three inquiries highlight continued segregation but also nuances in the nature of desegregation in the Gauteng province at various macro and microscales The analysis reveals barriers and opportunities for future spatial transformation and highlights the potential role of public and private housing expansion in shaping equality of opportunity

Ballard,Sandiswa Mapukata,2022-06-01 How do government officials elected politicians powerful economic actors and ordinary people think and talk about the urban geography of South Africa How do they describe and represent change that is happening in cities towns and villages Do they consider these changes to be good or bad How do they think such places should change What do they do to try to bring about the changes they desire Competing answers to these questions have been at the centre of South Africa's urban development Through the 19th and 20th centuries white minority governments straddled quite contradictory imaginaries about who could build lives for themselves in urban areas and on what terms Ordinary people held their own urban imaginaries that were quite different to those of white minority governments and were core to the fight for democracy In the democratic era a range of official and popular imaginaries offer diverse visions on how South Africans should be transformed In an earlier collection produced under the GCRO Spatial Imaginaries project we explored the sometimes contradictory nature of post apartheid urban visions with for example with some promoting the creation of new urban settlements on greenfield sites and others attempting to densify and diversify long urbanised spaces Research Report 13 South African urban imaginaries Cases from Johannesburg is a second edited collection under the Spatial Imaginaries project and it uses a series of cases from Johannesburg that illustrate the interactions between urban imaginaries and the material city These cases include the depiction of central business districts in film as spaces of aspiration the way in which the imaginaries of developers in Hillbrow were shaped by the lives of those living there the imaginaries of Alexandra Renewal Project practitioners the way in which residents of Brixton understand diversity and the construction of two new bridges across the M1 to better connect Sandton and Alexandra

South African Urban Change Three Decades After Apartheid Anthony Lemon, Ronnie Donaldson, Gustav Visser, 2021-06-10 This book provides an analysis of South African urban change over the past three decades It draws on a seminal text Homes Apart and revisits conclusions drawn in that collection that marked the final phases of urban apartheid It highlights changes in demography social as well as economic structure and their differential spatial expression across a range of urban sites in South Africa The evidence presented in this book points to a very complex set of narratives in urban South Africa and one that cannot be reduced to a singular statement so the conclusions of the various investigations are in many ways open As urban apartheid represented one clear outcome its post apartheid urban legacies varies greatly from city to city As such this book is a great resource to students and academics focused on urban change in South African cities since the demise of apartheid and scholars of urban policy making in South Africa and Southern urbanists generally

The Routledge Handbook of Planning Megacities in the Global South Deden Rukmana, 2020-06-04 Cities are now home to 55% of the world's population and that number is rising Urban populations across the world will continue to grow including in megacities with populations over ten million In 2016 there were 31 megacities globally according to the United Nations World Cities Report with 24 of those cities located in the Global South That number is expected to rise to 41 by 2030 with all ten new megacities in the Global South where the processes of urbanization are intrinsically distinct from those in the Global North The Routledge Handbook of Planning Megacities in the Global South provides rigorous comparative analyses discussing the challenges processes best practices and initiatives of urbanization in Middle America South America the Middle East Africa South Asia East Asia and Southeast Asia This book is indispensable reading for students and scholars of urban planning and its significance as a resource will only continue to grow as urbanization reshapes the global population

Motherhood in Johannesburg: Mapping the experiences and moral geographies of women and their children in the city Alexandra Parker, Margot Rubin, 2017-11-30

South African cities were designed and legislated to enforce spatial marginalisation of Africans coloureds and Indians to peripheral urban settlements The legacy of this intentionally constructed racially segregated space has been reinforced in the post apartheid period by market forces around property prices informal settlement of land and the unintended consequences of state housing policy amongst other factors Patterns of race based spatial marginalisation have also been overlaid by income and gender factors creating hostile conditions for women and poor women in particular Whilst there is a rich mine of literature on spatial exclusions due to race very little study has focused on the gendered spatial experiences of women and more particularly mothers in South African cities Mothers sustain a number of multifaceted roles through and beyond the care of and provision for their children They engage in multiple spheres of work home education community and politics Straddling these various realms mothers are increasingly active users of a diversity of city spaces In some cases the daily routines of mothers are confined within a single neighbourhood but most often mothers enact their many roles on a day to day basis in many different areas of the city The nature of motherhood as both a relationship of care and a role constructed in society and highly unequal urban conditions often impose heavy burdens financial temporal and emotional However the choices mothers make in the city by traversing diverse spaces in order to fulfil their multiple roles and the responsibilities and costs this inflicts is not well understood This Occasional Paper speaks to this gap by exploring the spatial dynamics of mothers in Johannesburg It investigates how women who self identify as mothers navigate their own and their families daily lives in the city in facing a variety of challenges and obstacles Methodologically the research involved studying the everyday practices and experiences of 25 mothers in the city who agreed to in depth interviews and mapping exercises The participants were a diverse group in terms of geographic location income race age and family situation The women narrated their daily lives and the routes they took through various places and spaces that made up their everyday experiences of the city They discussed their decision making around the choice of home work school shopping and recreation and detailed the social and spatial dynamics of their support networks Exploring these moral geographies of motherhood provides valuable insights into a group of people who engage the city extensively in ways that are under recognised In turn understanding the spatial negotiations that typify mothers lives exposes the depth of spatial inequality and poor urban management of our city region in new ways This Occasional Paper is the result of a partnership between the South African Research Chair in Spatial Analysis and City Planning SA CP and the GCRO and specifically involved a collaboration between researchers Yasmeen Dinath Margot Rubin and Alexandra Parker The insights presented here reflect results from a first phase of research that will be deepened through a larger study in 2018 Conceiving, producing and managing neighbourhoods: Comparing urban upgrading initiatives in Johannesburg Thembani Mkhize, Aidan Mosselson, 2019-05-24 At present there are a great number of urban interventions taking place within the Gauteng City Region including transport and area based upgrading projects Corridors of Freedom Transit Oriented Development mega human settlements inner city renewal schemes and the establishment of City Improvement Districts CIDs in various locations As they are envisioned planned and implemented all of these projects will make significant alterations to the urban fabric It is therefore crucial that research engages with these processes and captures their dynamics contradictions contestations and outcomes This Occasional Paper contributes to this endeavour by examining how two very different area based management and urban upgrading projects have been imagined and executed The report comprises a case study of the expanding Ekhaya precinct in Hillbrow a densely populated economically stressed inner city neighbourhood and the development of a precinct plan in Norwood a middle class suburb situated to the north of the inner city Ekhaya is a Residential City Improvement District RCID and was an intervention led primarily by private commercial developers The Grant Avenue Precinct Plan GAPP in contrast was initiated by local government as part of broader efforts to manage change and facilitate residential intensification and improved inclusion in the suburb Comparing and contrasting approaches in two vastly different sub local areas gives an opportunity to explore the varying actors governance arrangements urban upgrading ambitions and ideals resources practices mechanisms and infrastructures alliances and partnerships and compromises and experiments that are assembled at the neighbourhood scale to bring urban upgrading interventions to fruition The paper also draws particular attention to the fault lines points of divergence and conflicts in the two settings and how these frequently hinder or frustrate efforts at urban improvement The Occasional Paper is divided into three main sections The first section Conceiving neighbourhoods outlines the visions and ideals that have shaped neighbourhood formation planning processes and urban upgrading initiatives in the two case study sites It shows that Johannesburg's vastly unequal landscape hinders the articulation of a single unified vision for the city Improvement in Hillbrow has entailed dealing with day to day deprivations service delivery failings and deficits in basic urban management The visions that informed urban regeneration in the Ekhaya RCID are therefore relatively mundane but are capable of bringing about significant improvements to the area as well as to the lives of its residents In contrast the visions behind the precinct strategy for Norwood were far more ambitious as they aimed at generating drastic change in the suburb's built environment and social landscape However various socio economic challenges financial constraints organised opposition from affluent residents and lack of support from the private sector have rendered these broad ambitions unattainable The second section Producing neighbourhoods examines the various tactics strategies planning mechanisms and material objects that were used to bring visions to life and give form to the two neighbourhood improvement schemes For example it explores how different security infrastructures mobilised in the Ekhaya RCID have defined the neighbourhood and separated it from the general disorder and decay that characterise the wider Hillbrow area. While these infrastructures have had significant effects on the neighbourhood and contributed to improved feelings of safety, they have also introduced inequality as the area has come to enjoy improved levels of policing and safety, crime has been displaced to surrounding neighbourhoods yet to attract private investment. The section further shows that while physical infrastructure is important, it is not sufficient to generate neighbourhoods and associational life. Rather, the realisation of visions for improved forms of belonging and social cohesion rely on the creation of social networks and opportunities for socialisation and shared recreation. Highlighting experiences of upgrading two parks, Ekhaya Park in Hillbrow and Norwood Park, this section emphasises the importance of public space and the shared ideals and commitments to social inclusion that should inform planning processes and urban interventions at the local level. However, the section also documents the prejudices and exclusionary attitudes that frequently emerge during such processes. The third section, Managing neighbourhoods, describes the institutional arrangements, day to day activities, forms of partnership and adaptive strategies being used to sustain urban interventions and regulate neighbourhoods. It investigates contrasting viewpoints and approaches to dealing with various urban challenges, particularly the role and place of informal activities in the two neighbourhoods. In Hillbrow, the official position is that informal trading is not permitted. However, in reality, actors with degrees of authority and power in the area have recognised the need to be tolerant towards people engaged in such practices and frequently cooperate with some informal traders. The section therefore shows that urban governance requires the formation of arrangements and partnerships of convenience at the sub local level and that adaptive, flexible urban management practices are required, particularly in stressed neighbourhoods characterised by high levels of poverty. In contrast, although the official plans formulated for the GAPP stipulated that vulnerable groups such as homeless people, car guards and informal traders were to be protected, in reality, intolerant attitudes were evident and powerful residents and businesses used a variety of tactics to marginalise these groups and attempt to remove them from the area. The section therefore shows how everyday power and resource differentials can often supersede or subvert good intentions towards inclusivity. The realisation of visions for urban improvement unavoidably seems to generate new forms of exclusion that planners, officials and civil society need to be aware of.

Beyond the Mountain B Camminga, zethu Matebeni, 2023-02-10. Beyond The Mountain: Queer Life in Africa. s. Gay Capital contributes to the body of knowledge on the lived experiences of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer and intersex (LGBTQI) communities in Cape Town. The book provides insight on the lives of the LGBTQI communities in Cape Town and challenges the stereotypes and prejudices against these communities. The chapters consist of both narratives of lived experiences and academic discussions presented by novice as well as experienced scholars. The imagery of beyond the mountain is a depiction of the lives of the LGBTQI community and immovable negative perceptions the general public have to them and seeks to expose their world.

and the kinds of violence and abuse they are subjected to as well as unveiling the racial discrimination within these communities The book revolves around five themes education emancipation protection acceptance and integration of those who identify as LGBTQI people in society
