Bekey,2012-12-06 All life came from sea but all robots were born on land The vast majority of both industrial and mobile robots operate on land since the technology to allow them to operate in and under the ocean has only become available in recent years A number of complex issues due to the unstructured hazardous undersea environment makes it difficult to travel in the ocean while today s technologies allow humans to land on the moon and robots to travel to Mars Clearly the obstacles to allowing robots to operate in a saline aqueous and pressurized environment are formidable Mobile robots operating on land work under nearly constant atmospheric pressure their legs or wheels or tracks can operate on a firm footing their bearings are not subjected to moisture and corrosion they can use simple visual sensing and be observed by their creators working in simple environments In contrast consider the environment where undersea robots must operate The pressure they are subjected to can be enormous thus requiring extremely rugged designs The deep oceans range between 19 000 to 36 000 ft At a mere 33 foot depth the pressure will be twice the normal one atmosphere pressure of 29.4 psi The chemical environment of the sea is highly corrosive thus requiring the use of special materials Lubrication of moving parts in water is also difficult and may require special sealed waterproof joints Popular Science ,1991-07 Popular Science gives our readers the information and tools to improve their technology and their world The core belief that Popular Science and our readers share The future is going to be better and science and technology are the driving forces that will help make it better PC Mag ,1994-09-13 PCMag.com is a leading authority on technology delivering Labs based independent reviews of the latest products and services Our expert industry analysis and practical solutions help you make better buying decisions and get more from technology Numerical Methods in Geotechnical Engineering IX António Cardoso,José Borges,Pedro Costa,António Gomes,José Marques,Castorina Vieira,2018-06-19 Numerical Methods in Geotechnical Engineering IX contains 204 technical and scientific papers presented at the 9th European Conference on Numerical Methods in Geotechnical Engineering NUMGE2018 Porto Portugal 25-27 June 2018 The papers cover a wide range of topics in the field of computational geotechnics providing an overview of recent developments on scientific achievements innovations and engineering applications related to or employing numerical methods They deal with subjects from emerging research to engineering practice and are grouped under the following themes Constitutive modelling and numerical implementation Finite element discrete element and other numerical methods Coupling of diverse methods Reliability and probability analysis Large deformation large strain analysis Artificial intelligence and neural networks Ground flow thermal and coupled analysis Earthquake engineering soil dynamics and soil structure interactions Rock mechanics Application of numerical methods in the context of the Eurocodes Shallow and deep foundations Slopes and cuts Supported excavations and retaining walls Embankments and dams Tunnels and caverns and pipelines Ground improvement and
