Post Traumatic Stress Disorder and the Law Trevor Hicks, 2003 Nervous shock cases form an area of law which illustrates well the operation of judicial policy It is possible from such cases to trace the changing attitudes of lawyers doctors and of society in general to psychiatric injury over the last century These cases also highlight the changing judicial attitudes to the scope of duty of care and to the whole issue of policy decisions The recognition of nervous shock similarly illustrates the development of medical knowledge in relation to psychiatric injury The recognition of Post traumatic Stress Syndrome PTSD has been a relatively new and controversial phenomenon and this disorder has now been incorporated into the various classifications of mental disorder as a recognisable psychiatric illness This book examines the development of the law and medical knowledge in relation to cases of nervous shock and in particular to PTSD The expansion and subsequent contraction of liability is shown to be dynamic in nature as both legal and medical knowledge have increased The intention of this book is to provide a concise review of the law comparing it to current medical knowledge in relation to PTSD The book is intended to be of use to professionals involved in psychiatric injury cases who

Compensation for Personal Injury in English, German and Italian Law Basil Markesinis,Michael Coester,Guido Alpa,Augustus Ullstein,2005-02-24 Cross border claims for personal injuries are becoming more common Furthermore European nationals increasingly join class actions in the USA These tendencies have created a need to know more about the law of damages in Europe and America Despite the growing importance of this subject there is a dearth of material available to practitioners to assist them in advising their clients as to the heads of damage recoverable in other countries This book aims to fill that gap by looking at the law in England Germany and Italy It sets out the raw data in the wider context of tort law then provides a closer synthesis largely concerned with methodological issues and draws some comparative conclusions

Loss of Housekeeping Capacity Ernst Karner,Ken Oliphant,2012-07-30 The topic is of particular interest for insurers as compensation for loss of housekeeping capacity is one of the main heads of damages awarded for personal injury Naturally it also has considerable importance for accident victims Yet it has received relatively little scholarly attention at least from a comparative perspective The aim of this study is to examine national approaches to the award of damages under the head of loss of housekeeping capacity and to compare the levels of damages so awarded The research will therefore address both the concepts employed in different national systems and by means of practical case studies the compensation actually paid in individual cases The results of the research comprise ten country reports Austria England and Wales France Germany Italy The Netherlands Norway Poland Spain and Switzerland based on a Questionnaire Part I General Part and Doctrine Part II Concrete Assessment Examples and a concluding Comparative Report This project Loss of Housekeeping Capacity was undertaken at the request of the Swiss Insurance Association The Foundations of Tort Law in the Civilian Tradition Enrique Barros,2025-08-21 The leading Spanish language treatise on the law on torts has now been translated into English making it accessible to jurists scholars and practitioners throughout the world It addresses the central analytical questions in modern tort theory by reference to first principles explaining how doctrinal tension has resulted from the law s evolution The book also offers a theoretical framework for understanding and analysing the doctrines behind the main tort rules found in different jurisdictions including their interrelationship and historical development Steeped in Chilean legal doctrine and case law on torts it also considers authorities from Britain Germany the USA France and Spain This is a magisterial and important work
