There is a growing concern in the United States, and in other industrialized nations, that the environment is being degraded by the actions of individuals and organizations. This concern is based on the fact that the environment is a finite resource, and it is being used at an unsustainable rate. The degradation of the environment is a result of a number of factors, including population growth, industrialization, and the use of fossil fuels. The environmental movement is a response to these concerns, and it is a movement that is growing in strength around the world. The environmental movement is a movement that is based on the belief that the environment is a resource that should be protected for the benefit of all. The environmental movement is a movement that is based on the belief that the environment is a resource that should be protected for the benefit of all.
