Hunt,2010-04-08 Examines how Union veterans of the Army of the Cumberland employed the extinction of slavery in the trans Appalachian South in their memory of the Civil War Robert Hunt examines how Union veterans of the Army of the Cumberland employed the extinction of slavery in the trans Appalachian South in their memory of the Civil War Hunt argues that rather than ignoring or belittling emancipation it became central to veterans retrospective understanding of what the war and their service in it was all about The Army of the Cumberland is particularly useful as a subject for this examination because it invaded the South deeply encountering numerous ex slaves as fugitives refugees laborers on military projects and new recruits At the same time the Cumberlanders were mostly Illinoisans Ohioans Indianans and significantly Kentucky Unionists all from areas suspicious of abolition before the war Hunt argues that the collapse of slavery in the trans Appalachian theater of the Civil War can be usefully understood by exploring the post war memories of this group of Union veterans He contends that rather than remembering the war as a crusade against the evils of slavery the veterans of the Army of the Cumberland saw the end of slavery as a by product of the necessary defeat of the planter aristocracy that had sundered the Union a good and necessary outcome but not necessarily an assertion of equality between the races Some of the most provocative discussions about the Civil War in current scholarship are concerned with how memory of the war was used by both the North and the South in Reconstruction redeemer politics the imposition of segregation and the Spanish American War This work demonstrates that both the collapse of slavery and the economic and social post War experience convinced these veterans that they had participated in the construction of the United States as a world power built on the victory won against corrupt Southern plutocrats who had impeded the rightful development of the country The 250Th Field Artillery Men Remember World War I RUBY GWIN,2012-06-13 The war memories for each were not easy to tell or write for some had repressed them long ago We have been able to live the American Dream through dedicated soldiers as the 250th Field Artillerymen They spent many nights together away from home with ties that would bind them together that has never loosened over the years Their stories are inspiring ones of faith courage patriotism and some told with humor which helped to put their experience into perspective somewhat During this time our people here at home were doing their part in everyway they could Everyone listened to the radio for further news The good news finally came from Day of Infamy to VE VJ Day As a light weight 105mm howitzer battalion they would become known for their firing power They made history and are leaving a legacy to be most proud They proved they still can answer to the call of duty I am proud to say never once did I not enjoy my work with each of these men Let s just say we have a deeper friendship than when we began this project together I became their ears and wrote the word for many of them I scribbled making notes as they talked and then when hunched over my keyboard to translate from them working into the early morning hours I pray I conveyed each story as each of them would have As I wrote I got the sense what the American flag meant to each it symbolized a Tradition of Caring I wrote with a lump in my throat and a tear in my eyes and yes a little snicker
