MULTIPLE CHOICE

1. A patient who was diagnosed with senile dementia has become incontinent of urine. The patient's daughter asks the nurse why this is happening. The best response by the nurse is:

a.	"The patient is angry about the dementia diagnosis."
b.	"The patient is losing sphincter control due to the dementia."
c.	"The patient forgets where the bathroom is located due to the dementia."
d.	"The patient wants to leave the hospital."

ANS: B

Anger, wanting to leave the hospital, and forgetting where the bathroom is really have no bearing on the urinary incontinence. The patient is incontinent due to the mental ability to voluntarily control the sphincter. This is happening because of the dementia.

Experimental Methods for the Analysis of Optimization Algorithms Thomas Bartz-Beielstein, Marco Chiarandini, Luís Paquete, Mike Preuss, 2010-11-02. In operations research and computer science, it is common practice to evaluate the performance of optimization algorithms on the basis of computational results, and the experimental approach should follow accepted principles that guarantee the reliability and reproducibility of results. However, computational experiments differ from those in other sciences, and the last decade has seen considerable methodological research devoted to understanding the particular features of such experiments and assessing the related statistical methods. This book consists of methodological contributions on different scenarios of experimental analysis. The first part overviews the main issues in the experimental analysis of algorithms and discusses the experimental cycle of algorithm development; the second part treats the characterization by means of statistical distributions of algorithm performance in terms of solution quality, runtime, and other measures; and the third part collects advanced methods from experimental design for configuring and tuning algorithms on a specific class of instances with the goal of using the least amount of experimentation. The contributor list includes leading scientists in algorithm design, statistical design, optimization, and heuristics, and most chapters provide theoretical background and are enriched with case studies. This book is written for researchers and practitioners in operations research and computer science who wish to improve the experimental assessment of optimization algorithms and consequently their design. Congressional Record, United States Congress, 1999. Journal of the American Bankers Association, American Bankers Association, 1923. IBPS RRB (Regional Rural Bank) Office Assistant Mains Exam Book 2024 (English Edition) - 10 Practice Tests with Free Access to Online Tests, EduGorilla Prep Experts, 2024-07-12.
