Recycling and Reuse in the Roman Economy Chloë N. Duckworth, Andrew Wilson, 2020-09-10 The recycling and reuse of materials and objects were extensive in the past but have rarely been embedded into models of the economy even more rarely has any attempt been made to address the scale of these practices Recent developments including the use of large datasets computational modelling and high resolution analytical chemistry are increasingly offering the means to reconstruct recycling and reuse and even to approach the thorny issue of quantification This volume is the first to bring together these new approaches and the first to present a consideration of recycling and reuse in the Roman economy taking into account a range of materials and using a variety of methodological approaches It presents integrated cross referential evidence for the recycling and reuse of textiles papyrus statuary and building materials amphorae metals and glass and examines significant questions about organization value and the social meaning of recycling

Normativity and Naturalism Peter Schaber, 2013-05-02 At the centre of the metaethical debate that took off from G E Moore s Principia Ethica 1903 was his critique of ethical naturalism While Moore s own arguments against ethical naturalism find little acceptance these days an alternative ground for thinking that ethical properties and facts could not be natural has gained prominence No natural account can be given of normativity This collection contains original essays from both sides of the debate Representing a wide range of metaethical views the authors develop diverse accounts of normativity and discuss what it means for a concept to be natural Contributions are by Norbert Anwander David Copp Neil Roughley Peter Schaber Thomas Schmidt Tatjana Tarkian and Theo van Willigenburg
