Nature of Science Review

SC.5.N.1.1 SC.5.N.1.2 SC.4.N.1.1 SC.4.N.1.1	• Investigation – When you carefully make observations, study, or test something to learn more about it, it does not have a variable. • Experiment – Procedure carried out under controlled conditions to test a hypothesis. Has a variable and a hypothesis. • Variable – The one thing you are changing or testing in an experiment. (Ex: fertilizer in plants) • Control group – Do nothing to this group and compare all other setups to it. • Models – Used to understand things that are too big (the universe) or too small (cells) or to describe the way things work. Examples: Experiment: Does plant food help to produce more tomatoes? Variable: Plant Food Control Group: The plants without plant food. (This group does not have the variable, if you gave all plants the food, how would you know if the plant food was helping at all? You wouldn't, you need a control. This way, you can compare the number of tomatoes the control makes and compare it to the number of tomatoes the plant with the food makes.) Data: You would count the number of tomatoes produced in all of the plants, the one with the variable and the one without.
SC.5.N.2.1 SC.5.N.1.6 SC.4.N.1.3 SC.5.N.1.5	Science does not always follow a specific order, but science does use observations to ask questions about the natural world (or identify problems) and uses evidence (data) to support our findings/theories/hypothesis. Science is making observations and testing those observations. Explanations must always have evidence. • Testable – experiments should be based on observations and facts that are measurable • Opinion – someone's personal preference or interpretation, it is not based on evidence or facts, if I say earthworms are afraid of light that is an interpretation. A factual observation would be earthworms move away from light.

International Guide to Student Achievement John Hattie, Eric M. Anderman, 2013-01-17 The International Guide to Student Achievement brings together and critically examines the major influences shaping student achievement today. There are many often competing claims about how to enhance student achievement raising the questions of What works and What works best. World renowned bestselling authors John Hattie and Eric M. Anderman have invited an international group of scholars to write brief empirically supported articles that examine predictors of academic achievement across a variety of topics and domains. Rather than telling people what to do in their schools and classrooms this guide simply provides the first ever compendium of research that summarizes what is known about the major influences shaping students' academic achievement around the world. Readers can apply this knowledge base to their own school and classroom settings. The 150 entries serve as intellectual building blocks to creatively mix into new or existing educational arrangements and aim for quick easy reference. Chapter authors follow a common format that allows readers to more seamlessly compare and contrast information across entries guiding readers to apply this knowledge to their own classrooms, their curriculums and teaching strategies and their teacher training programs.

Parent's Guide to the FCAT Cynthia Johnson, Drew Johnson, 2001 A complete guide to understanding the test and preparing your child for a successful test taking experience.
