

The background of the entire cover is a photograph of a winter forest. A path of snow leads from the foreground into the distance, flanked by tall, thin trees whose branches are heavily laden with snow. In the far distance, a bright, low sun or moon is visible, casting a warm, golden glow that illuminates the snow and creates long, soft shadows. The overall color palette is a mix of cool blues and purples from the shadows and the sky, and warm yellows and oranges from the light source.

were strangers and honestly after eight years I never thought I'd see him again I lived in the world of the average of getting paid by the hour and budgeting to make ends meet But Dylan he lived in the world of wealth and success He'd achieved the great things I always suspected he would The dissatisfaction he'd felt as a teenager had obviously been an excellent motivator He started a business from scratch pioneered a brand and created perfumes adored by women across the globe I was just one of the people who'd been there before Now he was living his best life in the after And me well I'd been in a dark place for a while Slowly but surely I was letting the light back in but there was something missing I was an unfinished sentence with an ellipsis at the end And maybe if I was brave enough to take the chance Dylan could be my happy ending

How the Light Gets In Pat Schneider, 2013-04-25 When I begin to write I open myself and wait And when I turn toward an inner spiritual awareness I open myself and wait With that insight Pat Schneider invites readers to contemplate their lives and deepest questions through writing In seventeen concise thematic chapters that include meditations on topics such as fear freedom tradition in writing and in religions forgiveness joy social justice and death How the Light Gets In gracefully guides readers through the artistic and spiritual questions that life offers to everyone Praised as a fuse lighter by author Julia Cameron and the wisest teacher of writing I know by the celebrated writing guru Peter Elbow Pat Schneider has lived a life of writing and teaching passion and compassion With How the Light Gets In she delves beyond the typical how to's of writing to offer an extended rumination on two inner paths and how they can run as one Schneider's book is distinct from the many others in the popular spirituality and creative writing genre by virtue of its approach using one's lived experience including the experience of writing as a springboard for expressing the often ineffable events that define everyday life Her belief that writing about one's own life leads to greater consciousness satisfaction and wisdom energizes the book and carries the reader elegantly through difficult topics As Schneider writes All of us live in relation to mystery and becoming conscious of that relationship can be a beginning point for a spiritual practice whether we experience mystery in nature in ecstatic love in the eyes of our children our friends the animals we love or in more strange experiences of intuition synchronicity or prescience
