Complete with a variety of pedagogical resources, it provides tasks and further reading to support CPD and reflective practice. This book will be an invaluable tool for students on PGCE social science training courses as well as School Direct candidates and undergraduates studying BEds in similar fields. The Metric Tide James Wilsdon, 2016-01-20 Represents the culmination of an 18-month long project that aims to be the definitive review of this important topic. Accompanied by a scholarly literature review, some new analysis and a wealth of evidence and insight, the report is a tour de force, a once-in-a-generation opportunity to take stock. Dr Steven Hill, Head of Policy, HEFCE LSE Impact of Social Sciences Blog. A must-read if you are interested in having a deeper understanding of research culture, management issues and the range of information we have on this field. It should be disseminated and discussed within institutions, disciplines and other sites of research collaboration. Dr Meera Sabaratnam, Lecturer in International Relations at the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London LSE Impact of Social Sciences Blog. Metrics evoke a mixed reaction from the research community. A commitment to using data and evidence to inform decisions makes many of us sympathetic, even enthusiastic about the prospect of granular real-time analysis of our own activities. Yet we only have to look around us at the blunt use of metrics to be reminded of the pitfalls. Metrics hold real power; they are constitutive of values, identities and livelihoods. How to exercise that power to positive ends is the focus of this book. Using extensive evidence, gathering analysis and consultation, the authors take a thorough look at potential uses and limitations of research metrics and indicators. They explore the use of metrics across different disciplines, assess their potential contribution to the development of research excellence and impact.

and consider the changing ways in which universities are using quantitative indicators in their management systems Finally they consider the negative or unintended effects of metrics on various aspects of research culture Including an updated introduction from James Wilsdon the book proposes a framework for responsible metrics and makes a series of targeted recommendations to show how responsible metrics can be applied in research management by funders and in the next cycle of the Research Excellence Framework The metric tide is certainly rising Unlike King Canute we have the agency and opportunity and in this book a serious body of evidence to influence how it washes through higher education and research state and in key respects has been so for many years The aim of this volume is therefore to take stock to try and capture what the current state of educational policy and practice is across the whole of the UK This has been achieved by commissioning two different papers from each of the four countries Wales Scotland Northern Ireland and England The first is an overview exploring the distinctive history principles and current policies of each country The second paper has been specifically chosen as a case study of a key policy that highlights the distinctiveness of each country the Foundation Phase for Wales assessment policy in Scotland shared education initiatives in Northern Ireland and higher education policy in England Taken together these eight papers give an important insight into the complexities of educational policy and practice across the whole of the UK today This volume was originally published as a special issue of Oxford Review of Education What is a Mathematical Concept? Elizabeth de Freitas,Nathalie Sinclair,Alf Coles,2017-06-22 Responding to widespread interest within cultural studies and social inquiry this book addresses the question what is a mathematical concept using a variety of vanguard theories in the humanities and posthumanities Tapping historical philosophical sociological and psychological perspectives each chapter explores the question of how mathematics comes to matter Of interest to scholars across the usual disciplinary divides this book tracks mathematics as a cultural activity drawing connections with empirical practice Unlike other books in this area it is highly interdisciplinary devoted to exploring the ontology of mathematics as it plays out in different contexts This book will appeal to scholars who are interested in particular mathematical habits creative diagramming structural mappings material agency interdisciplinary coverings that shed light on both mathematics and other disciplines Chapters are also relevant to social sciences and humanities scholars as each offers philosophical insight into mathematics and how we might live mathematically 2012 GCSE English results Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Education Committee,2013-06-11 The 2012 GCSE English results prompted significant controversy which ultimately resulted in an application for judicial review This report sets out the background to these events and identifies lessons to be learned The problems with GCSE English can be traced back to the 2007 09 development phase of the qualification in particular the turbulence which resulted from the shift away from a mostly linear to a modular system combined with a high proportion of controlled assessment and generous marking tolerances Exam board experts raised concerns at the time but these were not acted upon by the regulator the then interim Ofqual Further difficulties arose because of pressures from the school accountability system The problems experienced with GCSE English in 2012 highlighted serious weaknesses in the moderation of speaking and listening with consequences for grade awarding The current status of Ofqual as an independent regulator accountable to Parliament is the right one However the Coalition Government is bringing in wholesale changes to GCSEs and A levels to a tight timetable and at the same time Ofqual must have systems in place The Committee is also concerned that there is a rush towards separate exam systems for England Wales and Northern Ireland without careful reflection on what might be lost or consensus that this is the right thing to do
