INTRODUCTION

RISK ASSESSMENT

TYPE INJURY

- The most common type of injury is to the lower back. These are repetitive strain injuries which can lead to long-term damage. The spine is made up of many small vertebrae and discs. The discs act as shock absorbers and help to support the weight of the body. When the spine is bent or twisted, the discs can become damaged, leading to pain and stiffness.

The purpose of a risk assessment is to identify hazards and assess the risk of injury or illness. It is a systematic process that involves identifying the hazards, assessing the risk, and implementing measures to control the risk.

The process of carrying out the assessment should be:

1. Identify the hazards and assess the risk of injury or illness.
2. Identify the measures that can be taken to control the risk.
3. Implement the measures to control the risk.

Signs: The whole body should be involved in the lifting process. The legs should be used to lift the load, not the back. The back should be kept straight and the feet should be shoulder-width apart. The load should be held close to the body and the arms should be straight.

INDIVIDUAL

- Are they fit to do the task?
- Does it require a capability?
- Does personal protective equipment need to be worn?
- Is the load a problem for people e.g. people with a back problem?

EMPLOYERS & EMPLOYEES

HANDLING TECHNIQUES

EMPLOYERS DUTIES

Employers should:

1. Assess the likely risk of injury or illness from the handling operation.
2. Put in place a safe system of work to control the risk.
3. Provide training and information to employees.

EMPLOYEES DUTIES

Employees should:

1. Follow the safe system of work.
2. Report any hazards or risks to the employer.
3. Report any injury or illness to the employer.
4. Report any equipment that is faulty or damaged.

PREVENTING BACK PAIN

As well as the general advice there are certain things you can do to help prevent back pain.

1. Keep your weight under control.
2. Do not smoke.
3. Exercise regularly.
4. Use the correct lifting technique.
5. Take regular breaks.
6. If you get back pain, stop the activity immediately and seek medical advice.

Think - PLAN

- Where am I going?
- What am I lifting?
- What are the options?
- Are there any aids available?
- Do I need help?
- Do I need to remove any obstacles?
