Movies and Meaning Stephen R. Prince, 2013-10-03 This comprehensive introduction to film text focuses on three topics how movies express meanings how viewers understand those meanings and how cinema functions globally as both an art and a business Using clear accessible and jargon free writing this is the only introductory film text to examine the elements of film style and the viewer's contribution to the cinema experience How do viewers interpret the effects filmmakers create How do filmmakers anticipate and build on the likely ways viewers will react to certain kinds of stories and audio visual designs The text examines both how filmmakers create images and sounds and the mechanisms and processes by which viewers make sense of images and stories on screen This approach helps students understand not only the basic concepts but also how their own reactions and opinions impact the overall film experience

Music, Movies, Meanings, and Markets Morris Holbrook, 2012-01-25 Music Movies Meanings and Markets Cinemajazzamatazz focuses on macro marketing related aspects of film music in general and on the cinemusical role of jazz in particular After a review of other work on music in motion pictures the book explores and illustrates the ways in which on screen jazz performances contribute to the development of dramatic meanings in various films many of which address the art versus commerce theme as a central concern

Instructor's Review Copy for Movies and Meaning Stephen Prince, 2012-01-26 This comprehensive introduction to film text focuses on three topics how movies express meanings how viewers understand those meanings and how cinema functions globally as both an art and a business Using clear accessible and jargon free writing this is the only introductory film text to examine the elements of film style and the viewer's contribution to the cinema experience How do viewers interpret the effects filmmakers create How do filmmakers anticipate and build on the likely ways viewers will react to certain kinds of stories and audio visual designs The text examines both how filmmakers create images and sounds and the mechanisms and processes by which viewers make sense of images and stories on screen This approach helps students understand not only the basic concepts but also how their own reactions and opinions impact the overall film experience

Movies to Manage By John Clemens, Melora Wolff, 2000-11 Movies do more than just entertain A good film can also teach Charles Foster Kane the tragic protagonist of Citizen Kane is the perfect example of how hoarding power can lead to chaos in business and personal matters Dead Poet Society's John Keating is the archetype of the employee who has affected change downward but has not solicited the support of superiors who may later stonewall other projects And Norma Rae in the movie of the same name a seemingly powerless factory worker shakes up the plant's male dominated management and becomes the company's most influential leader In this entertaining and instructive book you will discover that film is indeed an untapped source of leadership wisdom for businesses large and small You will see your own organization as well as your own management and leadership challenges mirrored here in the examination and analysis of nine compelling and highly accessible film narratives Book jacket

The Routledge Companion to Religion and Film John Lyden, 2009 The Routledge

Companion to Religion and Film brings together a lively and experienced team of contributors to introduce students to the key topics in religion and film and to investigate the ways in which the exciting subject of religion and film is developing for more experienced scholars. Divided into four parts, the Companion analyzes the history of the interaction of religion and film through periods of censorship as well as appreciation of the medium. Studies of religion in film examine how the world's major religions as well as Postcolonial Japanese and New Religions are depicted by and within films. Uses diverse methodologies to explore religion and film such as psychoanalytical, theological, and feminist approaches and audience reception. Analyzes religious themes in film including Redemption, the Demonic Jesus or Christ Figures, Heroes and Superheroes. Considers films as diverse as The Passion of the Christ, The Matrix, Star Wars, and Groundhog Day. This definitive book provides an accessible resource to this emerging field and is an indispensable guide to religion and film for students of Religion, Film Studies, and beyond.

Religion in Contemporary European Cinema Costica Bradatan, Camil Ungureanu, 2014-02-18 The religious landscape in Europe is changing dramatically. While the authority of institutional religion has weakened, a growing number of people now desire individualized religious and spiritual experiences, finding the self-complacency of secularism unfulfilling. The crisis of religion is itself a form of religious life. A sense of complex subterranean interaction between religious, heterodox, secular, and atheistic experiences has thus emerged, which makes the phenomenon all the more fascinating to study, and this is what Religion in Contemporary European Cinema does. The book explores the mutual influences, structural analogies, shared dilemmas, as well as the historical roots of such a post-secular constellation as seen through the lens of European cinema. Bringing together scholars from film theory and political science, ethics, and philosophy of religion, philosophy of film, and theology, this volume casts new light on the relationship between the religious and secular experience after the death of God.

Movies and Methods Bill Nichols, 1976 VOLUME 2 Movies and Methods Volume II captures the developments that have given history and genre studies imaginative new models and indicates how feminist, structuralist, and psychoanalytic approaches to film have achieved fresh, valuable insights. In his thoughtful introduction, Nichols provides a context for the paradoxes that confront film studies today. He shows how shared methods and approaches continue to stimulate much of the best writing about film, points to common problems most critics and theorists have tried to resolve, and describes the internal contradictions that have restricted the usefulness of post-structuralism. Mini-introductions place each essay in a larger context and suggest its linkages with other essays in the volume. A great variety of approaches and methods characterize film writing today, and the final part conveys their diversity, from statistical style analysis to phenomenology and from gay criticisms to neoformalism. This concluding part also shows how the rigorous use of a broad range of approaches has helped remove post-structuralist criticism from its position of dominance through most of the seventies and early eighties.

Publisher description

The Janus Paradigm Franklin J. Himes, 1998

Cinema-(to)-graphy Ellen Bishop, 1999 Film is simply too big and too influential a mass medium to ignore. Surprisingly enough although film is already a staple in many composition classrooms little has been written about its uses leaving many of us uncertain of how to proceed Cinema to Graphy takes you inside some of those classrooms offering new ideas on integrating film and other visual media with student writing Ellen Bishop divides the book into four sections based on where the authors locate themselves in the field of film and writing These essays if anything resist easy categorization all of them begin to unfold both theoretical and practical questions that arise from the conversation about film and writing cultural studies and undergraduate students These instructors offer special insight into both course structures and materials and the methods through which they make use of them Best of all they offer new strategies to help students become critical thinkers who can responsibly speak to and read their media saturated world and who can identify and work with the problems posed by language This anthology will be of great use to university and college teachers of all ranks especially graduate student teachers interested in integrating film into their composition classrooms

Directors Yoram Allon, Del Cullen, Hannah Patterson, 2001 The guide encompasses the careers of over 350 directors from the last 20 years A must for any film studies library it is a unique reference to the changing dynamics of these cinemas

Main Street Movies Martin L. Johnson, 2018-01-23 See yourself in the movies Prior to the advent of the home movie camera and the ubiquitousness of the camera phone there was the local film This cultural phenomenon produced across the country from the 1890s to the 1950s gave ordinary people a chance to be on the silver screen without leaving their hometowns Through these movies residents could see themselves in the same theaters where they saw major Hollywood motion pictures Traveling filmmakers plied their trade in small towns and cities where these films were received by locals as being part of the larger cinema experience With access to the rare film clips under discussion Main Street Movies documents the diversity and longevity of local film production and examines how itinerant filmmakers responded to industry changes to keep sponsors and audiences satisfied From town pride films in the 1910s to Hollywood knockoffs in the 1930s local films captured not just images of local people and places but also ideas about the function and meaning of cinema that continue to resonate today

Writing in Film Studies, from Professional Practice to Practical Pedagogy Bryan Mead, 2024-01-09 A common refrain heard from instructors in offices across the world is that students have a hard time producing quality written discourse This is no different in the world of film studies where many undergraduate students struggle to cogently discuss the films they watch in class How can film instructors help students become better writers This book answers this question by first uncovering the disciplinary expectations we have for students and then offering strategies to explicitly teach those expectations in the classroom This book examines and identifies the disciplinary conventions of professional film studies discourse along with the expectations we have for student writing in undergraduate film courses What becomes clear from this analysis is that the pedagogical expectations we have for students are aligned with and shaped by professional writing in the discipline It helps to uncover the argument types instructors take for granted and helps those teaching undergraduate students not only to know what those expectations are but also how to use that knowledge to foster better student writing
