The Making of Elite Women Tanja Müller,2021-11-29 This book is a thorough study about the upcoming of elite women in Eritrea encompassing the time of the armed struggle for liberation as well as its aftermath up to the tenth anniversary of Eritrean independence in 2001 and beyond It is a multi disciplinary study combining a comprehensive analysis of Eritrean history society and political developments with extensive case study research into the lives of different groups of elite women Modernisation processes created by the Eritrean revolution fostered an environment in which women are regarded as equal and encouraged to occupy positions of leadership. At the same time the revolution's hegemonic ideology does not envisage women opting out of its version of modernity; thus new avenues open up only for those who subscribe to the revolution's narrative of progress. Furthermore, it is argued that while the Eritrean revolution played a decisive role in opening up possibilities for women's emancipation, a failure to implement democratic structures of governance puts the revolution's societal achievements at risk; its legacy might well rest with possibilities of personal liberation in individual lives.

Thinking Outside the Box Eva Poluha, 2016-01-28 This book sets out with the question why Ethiopia, a country with one of the oldest still existing state formations in the world and a farming population that has domesticated a number of indigenous food products including coffee, oilseeds and Eragrostis teff, remains one of the poorest in the world. To answer this question, the authors review the history of Ethiopia from the earliest centuries A.D. until the 21st century, dispelling a number of prevalent myths in the process. The book covers topics such as ethnicity, a hot issue in today's Ethiopian politics; international relations with, especially Britain and Italy; and the country's lack of technical and economic progress. A survey of the current situation in Ethiopia sets the scene for comparisons with other countries. An examination of the history of the West illustrates how the autonomy of intellectual inquiry could promote a spiral of knowledge, pave the way for the Industrial Revolution, and allow western countries to attain the highest standard of living in the world. A review of some East Asian countries, Japan, South Korea, and Taiwan, exemplifies how they could catch up with the West. Against the backdrop of these studies, the authors find the basic causes for Ethiopia's poverty to be missed or messed up opportunities to adopt available scientific knowledge and technology. Premising that a decent living standard, a catch up, should be the only reasonable goal also for Ethiopian citizens, the authors propose that the country must emphasize promotion of a knowledge and information rather than focusing numbers of school children and schools and of entrepreneurship in all economic sectors. To boost these requirements successfully, the authors argue that all involved in the present development agenda need to think outside the box and reassess at least two common assumptions about Ethiopia's future: namely, that only heavy-handed state guidance can bring about rapid development and that peasants and pastoralists are ignorant and must be told what to do.
