Substantive Perspectivism: An Essay on Philosophical Concern with Truth Bo Mou, 2009-09-16 I have been thinking about the philosophical issue of truth for more than two decades It is one of several fascinating philosophical issues that motivated me to change my primary reflective interest to philosophy after receiving BS in mathematics in 1982 Some serious academic work in this connection started around the late eighties when I translated into Chinese a dozen of Donald Davidson's representative essays on truth and meaning and when I assumed translator for Adam Morton who gave a series of lectures on the issue in Beijing 1988 which was co-sponsored by my then institution Institute of Philosophy Chinese Academy of Social Science I have loved the issue both for its own sake as one specific major issue in the philosophy of language and metaphysics and for the sake of its significant involvement in many philosophical issues in different subjects of philosophy Having been attracted to the analytic approach I was then interested in looking at the issue both from the points of view of classical Chinese philosophy and Marxist philosophy two major styles or frameworks of doing philosophy during that time in China and from the point of view of contemporary analytic philosophy which was then less recognized in the Chinese philosophical circle

Perception and Knowledge Walter Hopp, 2011-04-07 This book offers a provocative clear and rigorously argued account of the nature of perception and its role in the production of knowledge Walter Hopp argues that perceptual experiences do not have conceptual content and that what makes them play a distinctive epistemic role is not the features which they share with beliefs but something that in fact sets them radically apart He explains that the reason giving relation between experiences and beliefs is what Edmund Husserl called fulfilment in which we find something to be as we think it to be His book covers a wide range of central topics in contemporary philosophy of mind epistemology and traditional phenomenology It is essential reading for contemporary analytic philosophers of mind and phenomenologists alike

Günther Anders' Philosophy of Technology Babette Babich, 2021-10-21 Gunther Anders Philosophy of Technology is the first comprehensive exploration of the ground breaking work of German thinker Gunther Anders Anders philosophy has become increasingly prescient in our digitised technological age as his work predicts the prevalence of social media ubiquitous surveillance and the turn to big data Anders oeuvre also explored the technologies of nuclear power and the biotech concerns for the human and transhuman condition which have become so central to current theory Babette Babich argues that Anders offers important resources on streaming digital media through his writings on radio television and film and is unusually both a comprehensive and profound thinker Anders relationship with key philosophers like Hannah Arendt and Walter Benjamin and his thinking on Goethe Nietzsche and Rilke is also explored with a focus on the deep impact he made on his peers It reflects specifically on the intersection of Anders thought Heidegger and the Frankfurt school and how influential a figure he was on the landscape of 20th century philosophy A compelling rehabilitation of a thinker with profound contemporary relevance Unreal

Beliefs Krzysztof Poslajko, 2024-05-16 Krzysztof Poslajko offers a novel version of an anti realist view about beliefs rejecting the extreme proposal of eliminativism that beliefs do not exist He shows us we should rather say that beliefs exist but they are not real Poslajko demonstrates how we might make sense of this idea by providing a unified account of the debates in philosophical psychology The antirealist view interprets beliefs as being causally irrelevant that they do not constitute a natural kind and that their content cannot be naturalized Exploring the status of folk psychology Poslajko raises key questions in the analytic metaphysics of mind Are beliefs real Do people really possess mental states which are causally efficacious bearers of propositional content By arguing for the antirealist view and revising our common sense view about the nature of mind he makes a compelling case for adopting a pragmatic metaphilosophy when we deal with questions about belief

Philosophical and Scientific Perspectives on Downward Causation Michele Paolini Paoletti, Francesco Orilia, 2017-02-17 Downward causation plays a fundamental role in many theories of metaphysics and philosophy of mind It is strictly connected with many topics in philosophy including but not limited to emergence mental causation the nature of causation the nature of causal powers and dispositions laws of nature and the possibility of ontological and epistemic reductions Philosophical and Scientific Perspectives on Downward Causation brings together experts from different fields including William Bechtel Stewart Clark and Tom Lancaster Carl Gillett John Heil Robin F Hendry Max Kistler Stephen Mumford and Rani Lill Anjum who delve into classic and unexplored lines of philosophical inquiry related to downward causation It critically assesses the possibility of downward causation given different ontological assumptions and explores the connection between downward causation and the metaphysics of causation and dispositions Finally it presents different cases of downward causation in empirical fields such as physics chemistry biology and the neurosciences This volume is both a useful introduction and a collection of original contributions on this fascinating and hotly debated philosophical topic

Self-Reflection for the Opaque Mind T. Parent, 2016-12-01 This volume attempts to solve a grave problem about critical self reflection The worry is that we critical thinkers are all in epistemic bad faith in light of what psychology tells us After all the research shows not merely that we are bad at detecting ego threatening thoughts la Freud It also indicates that we are ignorant of even our ordinary thoughts e g reasons for our moral judgments of others Haidt 2001 and even mundane reasons for buying one pair of stockings over another Nisbett Wilson 1977 However reflection on one s thoughts requires knowing what those thoughts are in the first place So if ignorance is the norm why attempt self reflection The activity would just display naivety about psychology Yet while respecting all the data this book argues that remarkably we are sometimes infallible in our self discerning judgments Even so infallibility does not imply indubitability and there is no Cartesian ambition to provide a foundation for empirical knowledge The point is rather to explain how self reflection as a rational activity is possible The Fragmented Mind Cristina Borgoni,Dirk

Kindermann,Andrea Onofri,2021-07-29 Mental fragmentation is the thesis that the mind is fragmented or compartmentalized Roughly this means that an agent s overall belief state is divided into several sub states fragments These fragments need not make for a consistent and deductively closed belief system The thesis of mental fragmentation became popular through the work of philosophers like Christopher Cherniak David Lewis and Robert Stalnaker in the 1980s and has recently attracted increased attention This volume is the first collection of essays devoted to the topic of mental fragmentation It features important new contributions by leading experts in the philosophy of mind epistemology and philosophy of language Opening with an accessible introduction providing a systematic overview of the current debate the fourteen essays cover a wide range of issues foundational issues and motivations for fragmentation the rationality or irrationality of fragmentation fragmentation s role in language the relationship between fragmentation and mental files and the implications of fragmentation for the analysis of implicit attitudes Spaces of Tolerance Igea Troiani,Suzanne Ewing,2021-03-28 Spaces of Tolerance

Seitz,2017-04-13 This volume answers the question Why do we believe what we believe It examines current research on the concept of beliefs and the development in our understanding of the process of believing It takes into account empirical findings in the field of neuroscience regarding the processes that underlie beliefs and discusses the notion that beyond the interactive exploratory analysis of sensory information from the complex outside world humans engage in an evaluative analysis by which they attribute personal meaning and relevance to the probabilistic representations of objects and events Beliefs exert a strong influence on behaviour decision making and identifying and solving problems Despite their importance beliefs have until recently not been at the centre of scientific interest In fact belief is an ill defined phenomenon From a transdisciplinary perspective the actual approaches to understanding belief seem incompatible as they attempt to highlight such different topics as belief religion belief spirituality belief faith belief knowledge belief attitude belief disbelief belief illusion and believing brain function This situation contradicts the idea that belief is close to pathological phenomena and that it should be eliminated from scientific discussions Rather believing is fundamental for understanding the many problems of every day life In fact the book shows that beliefs are relevant for politics international affairs economy law or religions also in modern societies This book presents the increasing scientific interest in beliefs and believing and reflects the change in focus from the content aspect of belief towards the fluid nature of believing Exhibiting the German Past Peter M.

In medical settings machines are in close proximity with human beings with patients who are in vulnerable states of health who have disabilities of various kinds with the very young or very old and with medical professionals. Machines in these contexts are undertaking important medical tasks that require emotional sensitivity knowledge of medical codes human dignity and privacy. As machine technology advances ethical concerns become more urgent should medical machines be programmed to follow a code of medical ethics. What theory or theories should constrain medical machine conduct. What design features are required. Should machines share responsibility with humans for the ethical consequences of medical actions. How ought clinical relationships involving machines to be modeled. Is a capacity for empathy and emotion detection necessary. What about consciousness. This collection is the first book that addresses these 21st century concerns.
