Higher Modern Studies: International Issues, Second Edition Frank Cooney, Gary Hughes, Steph O'Reilly, Pauline Kelly, 2020-02-17 Exam Board SQA Level Higher Subject Modern Studies First Teaching August 2018 First Exam June 2019 Updated specifically to match the SQA Higher Modern Studies syllabus for examination from 2019 onwards International Issues covers three of the world powers that students may choose to study in this unit of the course the United States of America the Republic of South Africa and the People's Republic of China along with Development Issues in Africa and Global Security Twenty Years of Education Transformation in Gauteng 1994 to 2014 Maringe, Felix, Prew, Martin, 2015-05-05 Twenty Years of Education Transformation in Gauteng 1994 to 2014 An Independent Review presents a collection of 15 important essays on different aspects of education in Gauteng since the advent of democracy in 1994 These essays talk to what a provincial education department does and how and why it does these things whether it be about policy resourcing or implementing projects Each essay is written by one or more specialist in the relevant focus area The book is written to be accessible to the general reader as well as being informative and an essential resource for the specialist reader It sheds light on aspects of how a provincial department operates and why and with what consequences certain decisions have been made in education over the last 20 turbulent years both nationally and provincially There has been no attempt to fit the book's chapters into a particular ideological or educational paradigm and as a result the reader will find differing views on various aspects of the Gauteng Department of Education's present and past We leave the reader to decide to what extent the GDE has fulfilled its educational mandate over the last 20 years Science Education in Countries Along the Belt & Road Ronghuai Huang, Bing Xin, Ahmed Tlili, Feng Yang, Xiangling Zhang, Lixin Zhu, Mohamed Jemni, 2022-01-18 This book aims to highlight science education in countries along the Belt and Road It consists of 30 chapters divided into three main parts namely Arab and African countries Asian countries and European countries We invited science education experts from 29 Belt and Road countries to introduce the current status of science education in their countries and the new requirements with the rapid evolution of Information Technology The major contributions of this book include 1 Provide the current status of science education in countries along the Belt and Road as well as the requirement for developing and improving science education in these countries 2 Discuss new insights of science education in future years 3 Inspire stakeholders to take effective initiatives to develop science education in countries along the Belt and Road Rethinking Linguistic Creativity in Non-native Englishes Sandra C. Deshors, Sandra Götz, Samantha Laporte, 2018-07-19 At a time when the paradigm gap Sridhar Sridhar 1986 between the EFL and ESL research areas is attracting much scholarly attention the contributions in the current volume explore this gap from the perspective of linguistic innovations across the two different types of non-native Englishes In this endeavour this volume unveils the many facets of linguistic innovations in non-native English varieties and explores the fine line between learners' erroneous versus creative use of a target language Adopting empirical corpus based

approaches to portray linguistic innovations characteristic of EFL and ESL varieties the contributions show how the interaction of linguistic and social forces influences the development of novel linguistic forms in both endonormative ESL contexts and exonormative EFL contexts This volume is of relevance to linguists who are interested in the features of non native English and who wish to gain a better understanding of the nature of innovations along the EFL ESL continuum Originally published as a special issue of International Journal of Learner Corpora Research 2 2 2016 Elusive Equity Edward B. Fiske, Helen F. Ladd, 2004-07-29 Elusive Equity chronicles South Africa's efforts to fashion a racially equitable state education system from the ashes of apartheid The policymakers who came to power with Nelson Mandela in 1994 inherited an education system designed to further the racist goals of apartheid Their massive challenge was to transform that system which lavished human and financial resources on schools serving white students while systematically starving those serving African coloured and Indian learners into one that would offer quality education to all persons regardless of their race Edward Fiske and Helen Ladd describe and evaluate the strategies that South Africa pursued in its quest for racial equity They draw on previously unpublished data interviews with key officials and visits to dozens of schools to describe the changes made in school finance teacher assignment policies governance curriculum higher education and other areas They conclude that the country has made remarkable progress toward equity in the sense of equal treatment of persons of all races For several reasons however the country has been far less successful in promoting equal educational opportunity or educational adequacy Thus equity has remained elusive The book is unique in combining the perceptive observations of a skilled education journalist with the analytical skills of an academic policy expert Richly textured descriptions of how South Africa's education reforms have affected schools at the grass roots level are combined with careful analysis of enrollment governance and budget data at the school provincial and national levels The result is a compelling and comprehensive study of South Africa's first decade of education reform in the post apartheid period Drum, 2009-04 Annual Report South Africa. Department of Basic Education, 2016 Research for Educational Change Jill Adler, Anna Sfard, 2016-06-17 Research for Educational Change presents ways in which educational research can fulfil its commitments to educational practice Focussing its discussion within the context of mathematics education it argues that while research generated insights can have beneficial effects on learning and teaching the question of how these effects are to be generated and sustained is far from evident The question of how to turn research into educational improvement is discussed here in the context of learning and teaching hindered by poverty and social injustice In the first part of the book four teams of researchers use different methodologies while analysing the same corpus of data collected in a South African mathematics classroom In the second part each of these teams makes a specific proposal about what can be done and how so that its research generated insights have a tangible beneficial impact on what is happening in mathematical classrooms Combining two discourses that of researchers speaking to one another and that of researchers communicating their insights to those responsible for educational practice the book deals with the perennial question of communication between those who study educational processes and those who are directly responsible for teacher education educational research and classroom practices This book will be key reading for postgraduates researchers and academics in education and particularly in the areas of mathematics education education research teacher education and classroom practice It will also appeal to teacher educators practitioners and undergraduate students interested in educational research

The past thirty years have seen a rapid expansion of testing exposing students worldwide to tests that are now more than ever standardized and linked to high stakes outcomes The use of testing as a policy tool has been legitimized within international educational development to measure education quality in the vast majority of countries worldwide The embedded nature and normative power of high stakes standardized testing across national contexts can be understood as a global testing culture The global testing culture permeates all aspects of education from financing to parental involvement to teacher and student beliefs and practices The reinforcing nature of the global testing culture leads to an environment where testing becomes synonymous with accountability which becomes synonymous with education quality Underlying the global testing culture is a set of values identified from the increasing literature on world culture These include education as a human right academic intelligence faith in science decentralization and neoliberalism Each of these values highlights different aspects of the dialogue in support of high stakes standardized testing The wide approval of these values and their ability to legitimate various aspects of high stakes testing reinforces the taken for granted notion that such tests are effective and appropriate education practices However a large body of literature emphasizes the negative unintended consequences teaching to the test reshaping the testing pool the inequitable distribution of school resources and teachers attention and reconstructing the role of the student teacher and parent commonly found when standardized census based tests are combined with high stakes outcomes for educators or students This book problematizes this culture by providing critical perspectives that challenge the assumptions of the culture and describe how the culture manifests in national contexts The volume makes it clear that testing per se is not the problem Instead it is how tests are administered used or misused and linked to accountability that provide the global testing culture with its powerful ability to shape schools and society and lead to its unintended undesirable consequences
