

FORCE AND MOTION

READING COMPREHENSION

The Tug of War

Two groups of children are pulling on a rope. The force that each group exerts on the rope is equal and opposite to the force that the other group exerts on the rope. They are in a tug of war.

The Moving Car

A car moves forward when the driver presses the gas pedal. The engine produces a force that pushes the car forward. The brakes push the car back, because the brakes apply a force in the opposite direction.

The Bouncing Ball

When you drop a ball, it falls to the ground due to gravity. When the ball hits the ground, it bounces back up. The force of the ground pushing against it causes the ball to bounce. The higher the ball is, the higher it will bounce.

The Sliding

When you push a box down a hill, it slides. Gravity pulls the box down the hill. The force of gravity and the friction of the hill cause the box to slide. The steeper the hill, the faster the box will slide.

The Launcher

A rocket launcher launches a rocket. The explosion of gas inside the rocket pushes the rocket up. The gas explosion is the force that causes the rocket to move.

The Swingset

When you push someone on the swing, you are applying a force. The swing moves back and forth. The force of gravity pulls the swing down. The force of the swingset pushes the swing up. The swing moves up and down because of the forces applied to it.
