The National Agricultural Directory 2009, 2009 Towards more effective collaboration by higher education institutions for greater regional development in the Gauteng City-Region Robert Bergman, 2014-11-19 Higher education institutions HEIs in the Gauteng City Region GCR and elsewhere are increasingly being called upon to do more than their traditional roles of teaching and research They are now expected to collaborate and engage with other stakeholders with a view to contributing directly and indirectly to social and economic development in their localities Such an orientation includes having HEIs actively fostering public private partnerships and other initiatives that enhance equitable regional development The adoption of such a focus has implications for all aspects of these institutions activities as well as for the policy and regulatory framework in which they operate This Occasional Paper reflects critically on the role of HEIs in regional development It surveys current debates on the matter and draws out some of the implications on how we ought to think further about the current state of government industry/academia interaction and collaboration for development in the GCR. It is motivated by an awareness of the increasing importance of higher education in the regional development discourse alongside a body of international theory and practice on the contribution of HEIs to regional development. A cornerstone of this body of literature is the so-called triple helix framework within which government, industry and academia work intimately, intensely and collaboratively towards a common vision of regional development. Within this framework, HEIs are considered to be a public good that must play a large, meaningful and relevant role in the development and improvement of the cities and regions where they are located.^{1, 2} They do not and cannot stand completely outside the realities of their geographic, social, cultural and political environment. The intended audience for this report extends beyond academics and HEI administrators to include government officials, business and labour leaders, civil society and citizens because a discussion on stimulating and improving the GCR must be much more than an academic exercise. The collaboration that is essential to regional development requires stakeholders to be familiar with a wide spectrum of issues of importance to individual constituencies. Each constituency must add value and insight to the discussion by drawing on their specific knowledge, experience and self-interests. Establishing this common ground is fundamental to initiating meaningful debate about what the GCR can and should be and how regional HEIs can work more collaboratively, creatively and effectively to improve and advance the region.

Waste Management and the Environment VIII C.A. Brebbia, H. Itoh, 2016-07-14. Waste Management and the Environment VIII contains papers presented at the 8th International Conference on Waste Management and the Environment organised every two years by the Wessex Institute. The contents were contributed by professionals, researchers, government departments and local authorities and cover the current situation of waste management. Waste Management is one of the key problems of modern society due to the ever-expanding volume and complexity of discarded domestic and industrial waste. There is a need to establish better practices and safer solutions for waste disposal. This requires further investigation into disposal methods and recycling as well as new technologies to monitor waste disposal sites, clean technologies, waste monitoring, public and corporate awareness and general education. Unfortunately, many of the policies adopted in the past were aimed at short-term solutions without regard to the long-term implications on health and the environment, leading in many cases to the need to take difficult and expensive remedial action. The development of sustainable strategies is the preferred trend for Waste Management. The approach which has emerged as the most promising has been called 4Rs where reduction, reuse, recycling and recovery including the sale of waste as Secondary Raw Materials

SRM and of Refuse Derived Fuel RDF are seen as the best actions This largely decreases the volume of waste that needs final disposal Contents cover such topics as Environmental impact Reduce reuse recycle and recovery 4Rs Waste incineration and gasification Energy from waste Industrial waste management Hazardous waste Agricultural waste Wastewater eWaste Landfill optimisation and mining Remote sensing Thermal treatment Emergent pollutants Environmental remediation Direct and indirect pre treatment of MSW Disposal of high level radioactive waste Legislation Behavioural issues Thermal Energy Yatish T. Shah,2018-01-12 The book details sources of thermal energy methods of capture and applications It describes the basics of thermal energy including measuring thermal energy laws of thermodynamics that govern its use and transformation modes of thermal energy conventional processes devices and materials and the methods by which it is transferred It covers 8 sources of thermal energy combustion fusion solar fission nuclear geothermal microwave plasma waste heat and thermal energy storage In each case the methods of production and capture and its uses are described in detail It also discusses novel processes and devices used to improve transfer and transformation processes Physical Science Franco Giuseppe Dal Bianco,2000 Physical Science Franco Giuseppe Dal Bianco,2001 Physical Science Franco Giuseppe Dal Bianco,2002 Physical Science ,1981 An Advanced Level Course in Physical Science Ian Robertson Sinclair,David Abbott,Tony Seddon,1975 Matter and Energy McDougal Littell Incorporated,2005 Glencoe Physical Science McLaughlin,1999-12
