Graduation List For Jkuat:

Entrepreneurship in Micro-enterprises Kenneth R. Gray, 1996 This timely and important work studies Kenya's small scale manufacturers What makes the book unique is Gray's sub sector approach which focuses on the particular industries of tailoring woodwork and metalwork Gray investigates the development of these sub sectors by taking a strategic management approach Such an approach allows the author to assess enterprise competitiveness and profitability within industries Readers will find that the information in this book serves as a well needed supplement to the literature on the World Bank's July 1995 decision to focus more on micro enterprise development The book will appeal to many different audiences including development agencies concerned with the economic development community and the international academic community Business and social science students who are interested in how work is organized in the family and the effects of modernization on traditional society will also benefit from reading this book Promoting the Conservation and Use of Plant

Genetic Resources by Training and Research Peter M. A. Tigerstedt, 2002 Accessions List of the Library of Congress

Office, Nairobi, Kenya Library of Congress. Library of Congress Office, Nairobi, Kenya, 2001 Bold Dream Gladys Chepkirui Ngetich, 2021-01-13 What exactly does it take to bring out the best in you Pure luck or simply one's fate How far can one go through sheer grit hard work and consistency In The Bold Dream Transcending the Impossible a medical doctor and an aerospace engineer tell of how they scaled academic heights from under resourced rural primary schools deep in the heart of the Rift Valley in Kenya to the University of Oxford as Rhodes scholars Through narration of real life experiences this book explores the challenges they faced while growing up and schooling the push that their bold dreams gave them and how they ended up in one of the most prestigious academic institutions in the world Most importantly they share deep thought provoking views on the sacrifices women in their community make through the experiences of their mothers Dr Elisha Ngetich and Dr Gladys Ngetich explore some of the consistent themes in their serendipitous climb to the University of Oxford to pursue PhD An inspirational read this book is a must read for anyone who wants to persistently pursue their bold dreams

Second Class No Longer Phillip L. Beukema, 2023-10-19 No one could have predicted thirty years ago that online learning would become such a key facet of our educational landscape in nearly every corner of the world Online teaching and learning have evolved rapidly and far more widely than imaginable accompanied by huge impacts on business society and our entire educational enterprise Drawing on his extensive experience in online teaching at both the graduate and undergraduate level as well as his 25 years in higher ed administration the author paints a global picture of the evolution of online education He describes how one country after another has witnessed the astonishing growth of online degrees and microcredentials of all kinds Along the way he dispels the myths and misperceptions that have grown up around online learning With incisive analysis built on solid data the author demonstrates that online programs are no longer regarded as second class but in fact are fully in the mainstream of higher education Not only that but he predicts that by 2030 they will become the gold standard by which the more traditional degrees will be judged Trails in Academic and Administrative Leadership in Kenya

Michieka, Ratemo Waya, 2017-05-03 Scholars especially those interested in understanding how leadership has inhibited academic freedom and hindered effectiveness of institutions of higher learning have for long been engaged by the very important manner in which governance and leadership of higher education institutions in Africa is constituted and managed The fact that there has been a dearth of work based on the experiences of those who have served as university leaders has created a major gap Questions remain on how leaders of higher education institutions are identified how they are prepared the personal predispositions that individuals bring to the exercise of such positions and their personal experiences regarding what energizes or inhibits the performance of their work Until recently presidents in most African countries served as chancellors of public universities identification of those who served as university leaders was largely a political process But much has changed with most countries establishing oversight bodies and the overall governance of higher education institutions divorced from the day to day political processes Trails in Academic and Administrative Leadership in Kenya provides a personal account of the experiences in higher education leadership from an individual whose tenure in leadership straddled the two eras In this book Prof Michieka provides an account of how his early education prepared him for roles in academic and institutional leadership in Kenya The author shares his experiences on the trails he had to navigate as an academic a vice chancellor and a chairperson of university council at a time when universities in Kenya were transiting from extreme government administrative control to a greater degree of operational autonomy Readers will find in this work thought provoking insights on how leaders of higher education institutions in Kenya have had to balance between demands of the political system and the need to safeguard academic traditions in the everyday management of the institutions
