Jsc Board Science Question 2014:

Achieving Science with CubeSats National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Space Studies Board, Committee on Achieving Science Goals with CubeSats, 2016-11-06 Space based observations have transformed our understanding of Earth its environment the solar system and the universe at large During past decades driven by increasingly advanced science questions space observatories have become more sophisticated and more complex with costs often growing to billions of dollars Although these kinds of ever more sophisticated missions will continue into the future small satellites ranging in mass between 500 kg to 0.1 kg are gaining momentum as an additional means to address targeted science questions in a rapid and possibly more affordable manner Within the category of small satellites CubeSats have emerged as a space platform defined in terms of 10 cm x 10 cm x 10 cm sized cubic units of approximately 1-3 kg each called U.S. Historically CubeSats were developed as training projects to expose students to the challenges of real world engineering practices and system design Yet their use has rapidly spread within academia industry and government agencies both nationally and internationally In particular CubeSats have caught the attention of parts of the U.S. space science community which sees this platform despite its inherent constraints as a way to affordably access space and perform unique measurements of scientific value The first science results from such CubeSats have only recently become available however questions remain regarding the scientific potential and technological promise of CubeSats in the future Achieving Science with CubeSats reviews the current state of the scientific potential and technological promise of CubeSats This report focuses on the platform's promise to obtain high priority science data as defined in recent decadal surveys in astronomy and astrophysics Earth science and applications from space planetary science and solar and space physics heliophysics the science priorities identified in the 2014 NASA Science Plan and the potential for CubeSats to advance biology and microgravity research It provides a list of sample science goals for CubeSats many of which address targeted science often in coordination with other spacecraft or use sacrificial or high risk orbits that lead to the demise of the satellite after critical data have been collected Other goals relate to the use of CubeSats as constellations or swarms deploying tens to hundreds of CubeSats that function as one distributed array of measurements

Nordic Food Transitions Jesper Manniche, Bjornar Saether, 2018-12-07 The ambition of the book is to investigate a possible transition in the markets for food in the Nordic countries Six chapters from various disciplinary traditions study change and innovation within the food sectors in Denmark Sweden and Norway while an introductory chapter discusses the findings of these analyses Specialty food has established a strong position within product categories such as craft beer in Denmark and organic food in Sweden but has failed to do so in others The emergence of markets for specialty foods have been promoted by top down policy initiatives and bottom up entrepreneurial efforts Far from providing the only relevant platform for food transition and innovation the New Nordic Food manifesto has helped creating a territorialized action space for networks of food producers and distributors promoting diversity in local food and rural development Some of the specialty food networks have succeeded in re scaling their operations from a local to a national market Today even large retailers and food processing companies have to pay notice to the ongoing changes among consumers There is however a paradoxical constraint in a transition towards specialty food A large scale transition would imply that producers and consumers abandon precisely what constitute them their exclusiveness The chapters were originally published in a special issue of European Planning Studies

Strategic Investments in Instrumentation and Facilities for Extraterrestrial Sample Curation and Analysis National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Space Studies Board, Committee on Extraterrestrial Sample Analysis Facilities, 2019-04-29 The United States possesses a treasure trove of extraterrestrial samples that were returned to Earth via space missions over the past four decades Analyses of these previously returned samples have led to major breakthroughs in the understanding of the age composition and origin of the solar system Having the instrumentation facilities and qualified personnel to undertake analyses of returned samples especially from missions that take up to a decade or longer from launch to return is thus of paramount importance if the National Aeronautics and Space Administration NASA is to capitalize fully on the investment made in these missions and to achieve the full scientific impact afforded by these extraordinary samples Planetary science may be entering a new golden era of extraterrestrial sample return now is the time to assess how prepared the scientific community is to take advantage of these opportunities Strategic Investments in Instrumentation and Facilities for Extraterrestrial Sample Curation and Analysis assesses the current capabilities within the planetary science community for sample return analyses and curation and what capabilities are currently missing that will be needed for future sample return missions This report evaluates whether current laboratory support infrastructure and NASA's investment strategy is adequate to meet these analytical challenges and advises how the community can keep abreast of evolving and new techniques in order to stay at the forefront of extraterrestrial sample analysis
