

MARK SCHEME for the May/June 2014 series

5054 PHYSICS

5054/22

Paper 2 (Theory), maximum raw mark 75

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge is publishing the mark schemes for the May/June 2014 series for most IGCSE, GCE Advanced Level and Advanced Subsidiary Level components and some Ordinary Level components.

Maintenance of Genome Integrity: DNA Damage Sensing, Signaling, Repair and Replication in Plants Alma Balestrazzi,V. Mohan Murali Achary,Anca Macovei,Kaoru Okamoto Yoshiyama,Ayako N Sakamoto,2016-05-06 Environmental stresses and metabolic by products can severely affect the integrity of genetic information by inducing DNA damage and impairing genome stability As a consequence plant growth and productivity are irreversibly compromised To overcome genotoxic injury plants have evolved complex strategies relying on a highly efficient repair machinery that responds to sophisticated damage perception signaling networks The DNA damage signaling network contains several key components DNA damage sensors signal transducers mediators and effectors Most of these components are common to other eukaryotes but some features are unique to the plant kingdom ATM and ATR are well conserved members of PIKK family which amplify and transduce signals to downstream effectors ATM primarily responds to DNA double strand breaks while ATR responds to various forms of DNA damage The signals from the activated transducer kinases are transmitted to the downstream cell cycle regulators such as CHK1 CHK2 and p53 in many eukaryotes However plants have no homologue of CHK1 CHK2 nor p53 The finding of Arabidopsis transcription factor SOG1 that seems functionally but not structurally similar to p53 suggests that plants have developed unique cell cycle regulation mechanism The double strand break repair recombination repair postreplication repair and lesion bypass have been investigated in several plants The DNA double strand break a most critical damage for organisms are repaired non homologous end joining NHEJ or homologous recombination HR pathway Damage on template DNA makes replication stall which is processed by translesion synthesis TLS or error free postreplication repair PPR pathway Deletion of the error prone TLS polymerase reduces mutation frequencies suggesting PPR maintains the stalled replication fork when TLS is not available Unveiling the regulation networks among these multiple pathways would be the next challenge to be completed Some intriguing issues have been disclosed such as the cross talk between DNA repair senescence and pathogen response and the involvement of non coding RNAs in global genome stability Several studies have highlighted the essential contribution of chromatin remodeling in DNA repair DNA damage sensing signaling and repair have been investigated in relation to environmental stresses seed quality issues mutation breeding in both model and crop plants and all these studies strengthen the idea that components of the plant response to genotoxic stress might represent tools to improve stress tolerance and field performance This focus issue gives researchers the opportunity to gather and interact by providing Mini Reviews Commentaries Opinions Original Research and Method articles which describe the most recent advances and future perspectives in the field of DNA damage sensing signaling and repair in plants A comprehensive overview of the current progresses dealing with the genotoxic stress response in plants will be provided looking at cellular and molecular level with multidisciplinary approaches This will hopefully bring together valuable information for both plant biotechnologists and breeders

Whiteson,2017-10-25 Since the late 1800s the discovery of new viruses was a gradual process Viruses were described one by one using a suite of techniques such as electron microscopy and viral culture Investigators were usually interested in a disease state within an organism and expeditions in viral ecology were rare The advent of metagenomics using high throughput sequencing has revolutionized not only the rate of virus discovery but also the nature of the discoveries For example the viral ecology and etiology of many human diseases are being characterized non pathogenic viral commensals are ubiquitous and the description of environmental viromes is making progress This Frontiers in Virology Research Topic showcases how metagenomic and bioinformatic approaches have been combined to discover classify and characterize novel viruses The Two-Way Link between Eating Behavior and Brain Metabolism Tanya Zilberter,2016-01-13 This research topic collected and connected information concerning both the underlying metabolic mechanisms and consequences of eating behaviors These two aspects are tremendously important for a better understanding of eating behavior abnormalities as well as for improving education on eating disorders and behaviors FIA Managing Costs and Finances MA2 BPP Learning Media,2016-03-01 Foundations in Accountancy FIA awards are entry level core skill focused qualifications from ACCA They provide flexible options for students and employers and as official ACCA Approved Learning Provider Content BPP Learning Media s study materials are tailored to the exams students will take UGC-NET/SET: Sociology JRF and Assistant Professor Exam Guide High Definition Books, 2024-25 NTA /UGC-NET/JRF Sociology Solved Papers YCT Expert Team , 2024 25 NTA UGC NET JRF Sociology Solved Papers 384 795 E This book contains previous year s solved papers from 2011 to 2023

MNEs from emerging markets is topical important and poses a number of questions and challenges that require considerable attention in the future from academia as well as business management The recent takeovers of high profile companies in developed or developing countries by non European emerging market MNEs EMNEs such as Lenovo Wanhua China Hindalco India CVRD Brazil Cemex Mexico Lukoil Russia etc as well as the greenfield or brownfield investments of emerging companies such as Huawei ZTE Tata Pepco etc show a new trend where new kind of firms become major players globally EMNEs have become important players in several regions around the globe ranging from the least developed countries of Africa through the developing markets in Latin America and Asia to the developed countries of the United States or the European Union including East Central European ECE countries EMNEs presence on the global level has resulted in numerous studies in the international literature but those research results barely cover EMNEs activities in the ECE region in the East Central European EU member countries including the Czech Republic Hungary Poland Slovakia and Slovenia The existing books typically focus on the investment activity of a single country or region such as China or East Asia but a comprehensive analysis is still missing in this regard The novelty of this edited volume is that it aims at exploring EMNEs location determinants strategies activities and challenges in East Central Europe by discussing its anomalies to the traditional theories as well as to other types of MNEs in the ECE region The authors focus on EMNEs not only from China but from other important emerging countries too such as Russia India South Korea Taiwan Turkey Brazil or South Africa
