Anneau de Moebius Christian Moncelet, 1976 Imperialisms Pierre Bourdieu, 2025-08-19 While Bourdieu's work on cultural production the reproduction of inequality and the rise of the modern state is well known his writings on the phenomena of internationalization and imperialism have received much less attention Bourdieu's analyses of the international circulation of ideas and the imperialisms of the universal where two political powers such as the United States and France clash on matters of cultural legitimacy generated multiple research programmes on topics ranging from translation and scientific exchange to global economic policy The constitution of globalized domains where national problems like unemployment ethnicity and poverty are subjected to international import export processes serves to naturalize the dominant vision of dominant countries and impose it on national political contexts Freedom democracy and human rights have been constituted as universal values and some countries claim to embody these values more than others However historical analysis shows that things are not so simple and that the actual content given to these values does not necessarily have the universality they claim For example the claim to universality of past colonial or imperial policies arouses suspicion in the eyes of some to the point of calling into question the very idea of universality But it is possible to move beyond the alternative between on the one hand a naive belief in universality and on the other a disenchanting relativism that sees the universal as nothing more than a disingenuous way to legitimize particular interests Bourdieu argues that the theory of fields enables us to move beyond this alternative by showing that the struggle for the universal can produce its own forms of universality that transcend particular interests This volume of Bourdieu's writings on internationalization imperialism and the struggle for the universal will be of interest to students and scholars in sociology anthropology politics and the social sciences and humanities generally

Circulations in the Global History of Art Thomas DaCosta Kaufmann, Catherine Dossin, Béatrice Joyeux-Prunel, 2016-03-03 The project of global art history calls for balanced treatment of artifacts and a unified approach This volume emphasizes questions of transcultural encounters and exchanges as circulations It presents a strategy that highlights the processes and connections among cultures and also responds to the dynamics at work in the current globalized art world The editors' introduction provides an account of the historical background to this approach to global art history stresses the inseparable bond of theory and practice and suggests a reevaluation of materialist historicism as an underlying premise Individual contributions to the book provide an overview of current reflection and research on issues of circulation in relation to global art history and the globalization of art past and present They offer a variety of methods and approaches to the treatment of different periods regions and objects surveying both questions of historiography and methodology and presenting individual case studies An Afterword by James Elkins gives a critique of the present project The book thus deliberately leaves discussion open inviting future responses to the large questions it poses
