Emotion Recognition Amit Konar, Aruna Chakraborty, 2015-01-27 A timely book containing foundations and current research directions on emotion recognition by facial expression voice gesture and biopotential signals This book provides a comprehensive examination of the research methodology of different modalities of emotion recognition Key topics of discussion include facial expression voice and biopotential signal based emotion recognition Special emphasis is given to feature selection feature reduction classifier design and multi modal fusion to improve performance of emotion classifiers Written by several experts the book includes several tools and techniques including dynamic Bayesian networks neural nets hidden Markov model rough sets type 2 fuzzy sets support vector machines and their applications in emotion recognition by different modalities The book ends with a discussion on emotion recognition in automotive fields to determine stress and anger of the drivers responsible for degradation of their performance and driving ability There is an increasing demand of emotion recognition in diverse fields including psycho therapy bio medicine and security in government public and private agencies The importance of emotion recognition has been given priority by industries including Hewlett Packard in the design and development of the next generation human computer interface HCI systems Emotion Recognition A Pattern Analysis Approach would be of great interest to researchers graduate students and practitioners as the book Offers both foundations and advances on emotion recognition in a single volume Provides a thorough and insightful introduction to the subject by utilizing computational tools of diverse domains Inspires young researchers to prepare themselves for their own research Demonstrates direction of future research through new technologies such as Microsoft Kinect EEG systems etc

Biochemistry of Collagens, Laminins and Elastin Morten Karsdal, 2019-05-28 There are 28 different collagens with 46 unique chains which allows for a collagen for each time and place Some collagens are specialized for basement membrane whereas others are the central structural component of the interstitial matrix There are eight collagens among the 20 most abundant proteins in the body which makes these molecules essential building blocks of tissues In addition lessons learned from monogenomic mutations in these proteins result in grave pathologies exemplifying their importance in development These molecules and their post translationally modified products serve as biomarkers of diseases in a range of pathologies associated with the extracellular matrix Biochemistry of Collagens Laminins and Elastin Structure Function and Biomarkers Second Edition provides researchers and students current data on key structural proteins collagens laminins and elastin reviews on how these molecules affect pathologies and information on how selected modifications of proteins can result in altered signaling properties of the original extracellular matrix component Further it discusses the novel concept that an increasing number of components of the extracellular matrix harbor cryptic signaling functions that may be viewed as endocrine function and it highlights how this knowledge can be exploited to modulate fibrotic disease Provides an updated comprehensive introduction to collagen and structural proteins Gives insight into emerging analytical technologies that can detect biomarkers of extracellular matrix degradation Includes seven new chapters including one on how collagen biomarkers are used in clinical research to support drug development and in precision medicine Contains insights into the biochemical interactions and changes to structural composition of proteins in disease states Proves the importance of proteins for collagen assembly function and durability Progress in Pattern
