Moi University Fees Structure 2015 2016:

Cultivating Membership in Taiwan and Beyond Hsin-I Cheng, 2020-12-10 Citizenship is traditionally viewed as a legal status to be possessed. Cultivating Membership in Taiwan and Beyond Relational Citizenship proposes the concept of relational citizenship to articulate the value laden interactive nature of belongingness. Hsin I Cheng examines the role of relationality which produces and is a product of localized emotions. Cheng attends to particular histories and global trajectories embedded within uneven power relations. By focusing on Taiwan a non Western society with a tradition to adeptly attune to local experiences and those from various global influences relational citizenship highlights the measures used to define and encourage interactions with newcomers. This book shows the multilayered communicative processes in which relations are gradually created, challenged, merged, disrupted, repaired, and solidified. Cheng further argues that this concept is not bound to nation state geographic boundaries as relationality bleeds through national borders. Relational citizenship has the potential to move beyond the East vs West epistemology to examine peoples lived realities wherein the sense of belonging is discursively accomplished, viscerally experienced, and publicly performed.

The Role of Taiwanese Civil Society Organizations in Cross-Strait Relations Šárka Waisová, 2017-08-23 Despite the instability of the political relationship between Taiwan and Mainland China, cross strait activities such as trade, education, marriage, and travel have prospered. While the main focus of current academic research has been on security and economic relationships between the two governments, relatively little attention has been paid to social interactions or the role of civil society actors. This book investigates the role of Taiwanese civil society organizations in shaping the relationship between Mainland China and Taiwan. It explores the role of civil society organizations (CSOs) in building confidence and peace and shows that Taiwanese CSOs hold a very complicated position which has in fact added to tensions. Waisov's research looks closely at the roles civil society organizations play in conflict transformation, reconciliation, and peacebuilding, the modalities of playing such roles, and the challenges facing them. It will be of interest to students and scholars researching cross strait relations and also to conflict resolution, think tanks, policy makers, and policy analysts.

North Korea's Foreign Policy Scott A. Snyder, Kyung-Ae Park, 2022-10-25 Since Kim Jong un's assumption of power in December 2011, North Korea has undergone expanded nuclear development, political isolation, and economic stagnation. Kim's early prioritization of the byungjin policy (simultaneous economic and military or nuclear development) highlighted his goal of transforming North Korea's domestic economic circumstances and strengthening its position in the world as a nuclear state. The central dilemma shaping Kim Jong un's foreign policy throughout his first decade in power revolves around ensuring North Korea's prosperity and security while sustaining the political isolation and control necessary for regime survival. In order to evaluate North Korea's foreign policy under Kim, this volume will examine the impact of domestic factors that have influenced the formation and implementation of Kim's foreign policy. Kim's distinctive use of summitry and effectiveness of such meetings as an instrument by which to attain foreign policy goals and the impact of international responses to North Korea's pursuit of nuclear capabilities on North Korea's foreign policy.

Middle Eastern Monarchies Anna Sunik, 2020-08-03 The monograph explores the dynamics of ingroup identity in the foreign policy making of Middle Eastern monarchies from the evolution of the regional system after the World Wars until the present. Utilising an innovative theoretical framework that combines Foreign Policy Analysis in the context of authoritarian regimes and Social Identity Theory, the book theorizes the origins and inner workings of a monarchic peace among hereditary regimes in the Middle East, including the Gulf monarchies as well as Jordan and Morocco. While the phenomenon of the democratic peace is well established in political science, this book argues that like the examined monarchic peace, it is in fact a sub-case of a broader Similar Political Systems Peace (SPSP). The theory posits that monarchies do not wage war against each other because they recognize each other as members of the same ingroup, which allows for other mechanisms of conflict resolution. Behaviour that is allowed against outsiders might be prohibited against members of the same club or family. The theory is illustrated with numerous case studies that look at overall regional dynamics as well as four crucial cases of monarchic interstate conflict: Bahraini-Qatari relations, the Saudi Hashemite rivalry, and the relations between Kuwait and Iraq, and Iran and the UAE. This in-depth account of the foreign policies and community connecting Middle Eastern monarchies will be of interest to readers in international relations, authoritarianism studies, Middle East and Persian Gulf politics.

A Critical Discourse Study of the "Chinese Dream" Junchen Zhang, 2024-11-29 Zhang's book focuses on the analysis of the sociohistorical context, linguistic patterns of discursive construction, and media representations of the Chinese Dream in Mainland China, Hong Kong, and the United States. Analyzing data from the Chinese leader's speeches and articles from China Daily, the South China Morning Post, and the New York Times, the author provides insights into the understanding of contemporary Chinese society through a critical discourse analysis of the Chinese Dream and its mediatized construction. Focusing on the discursive construction, the book examines the Chinese leader Xi Jinping's narratives on the Chinese Dream from multidimensional perspectives such as thematic representations, discursive strategies, and narrative frames, which emphasize the overall structure of the Chinese Dream as a political discourse. Methodologically, Zhang combines a discourse-historical approach, corpus linguistics, and framing analysis into a complementary framework which draws merits from the three approaches. This innovative research volume will be of interest to academics, researchers, and students in the fields of discourse analysis, political research, Chinese politics, and East Asian studies.
