generally South African Schooling: The Enigma of Inequality Nic Spaull, Jonathan D. Jansen, 2019-11-05 This volume brings together many of South Africa's leading scholars of education and covers the full range of South African schooling from financing and policy reform to in depth discussions of literacy numeracy teacher development and curriculum change The book moves beyond a historical analysis and provides an inside view of the questions South African scholars are now grappling with Are there different and preferential equilibria we have not yet thought of or explored and if so what are they In practical terms how does one get to a more equitable distribution of teachers resources and learning outcomes While decidedly local these questions resonate throughout the developing world South Africa today is the most unequal country in the world The richest 10% of South Africans lay claim to 65% of national income and 90% of national wealth This is the largest 90/10 gap in the world and one that is reflected in the schooling system Two decades after apartheid it is still the case that the life chances of most South African children are determined not by their ability or the result of hard work and determination but instead by the colour of their skin the province of their birth and the wealth of their parents Looking back on almost three decades of democracy in South Africa it is this stubbornness of inequality and its patterns of persistence that demands explanation justification and analysis This is a landmark book on basic education in South Africa an essential volume for those interested in learning outcomes and their inequality in South Africa The various chapters present conceptually and empirically sophisticated analyses of learning outcomes across divisions of race class and place The book brings together the wealth of decades of research output from top quality researchers to explore what has improved what has not and why Prof Lant Pritchett Harvard University There is much wisdom in this collection from many of the best education analysts in South Africa No surprise that they conclude that without a large and sustained expansion in well trained teachers early childhood education and adequate school resources South Africa will continue to sacrifice its people's future to maintaining the privileges of the few Prof Martin Carnoy Stanford University Altogether one can derive from this very valuable volume if not an exact blueprint for the future then certainly at least a crucial and evidence based itinerary for the next few steps Dr Luis Crouch RTI

Togetherness in South Africa J.M. Vorster,Nico Vorster,Jan A. du Rand,Riaan Rheeder,Dirk van der Merwe,Theuns Eloff,Ferdi P. Kruger,Reginald W. Nel,2017-11-24 Race and inequality have always been sensitive topics in South African society due to its colonial past diverse social composition and apartheid legacy of legal discrimination against people on the basis of their skin colour Racial tensions seem to be escalating in South African society and disturbing racialised rhetoric and slogans are re entering the political and social landscape Another disturbing phenomenon has been violent incidents of xenophobia against African immigrants The question probed by this book is What perspectives can theology offer in addressing the roots of racism inequality and xenophobia in South Africa and how can it and the church contribute to reconciliation and a sense of togetherness among South African citizens Various methodologies and approaches are used to address this question In chapter 1 Theuns Eloff employs a historical and socio analytical approach to describe the social context that has given rise and is still giving impetus to racism and other forms of intolerance in South African society Nico Vorster approaches the issue of distorted racial identity constructions from a theological anthropological perspective Utilising various empirical studies he attempts to provide conceptual clarity to the concepts of racism nationalism ethnocentrism and xenophobia and maps the various racisms that we find in South Africa His contribution concludes with a theological anthropological discussion on ways in which theology can deconstruct distorted identities and contribute to the development of authentic identities Koos Vorster provides a theological ethical perspective on social stratification in South Africa He identifies the patterns inherent to the institutionalisation of racist social structures and argues that many of these patterns are still present albeit in a new disguise in the South African social order Jan du Rand provides in chapter 4 a semantic discussion of the notions of race and xenophobia He argues that racist ideologies are not constructed on a factual basis but that racial ideologies use semantic notions to construct social myths that enable them to attain power and justify the exploitation and oppression of the other Du Rand s second contribution in chapter 5 provides Reformed exegetical and hermeneutic perspectives on various passages and themes in the Bible that relate to anthropology xenophobia and the imperative to xenophilia love of the stranger Dirk Van der Merwe s contribution analyses evaluates and compares both contemporary literature and ancient texts of the Bible to develop a model that can enable churches to promote reconciliation in society while Ferdi Kruger investigates the various ways in which language can be used as a tool to disseminate hate speech He offers an analytical description of hate language provides normative perspectives on the duty to counter hate speech through truth speaking and phronesis wisdom and concludes with practical theological perspectives that might enable us to address problematic praxis Reggie Nel explores the Confessions of Belhar and the Declaration of Accra as theological lenses to provide markers for public witness in a postcolonial South African setting The volume concludes with Riaan Rheeder s Christian bioethical perspective on inequality in the health sector of sub Sahara Africa This book contains original research No part was plagiarised or published elsewhere The target audience are theologians ministers and the Christian community but social activists social scientists politicians political theorists sociologists and psychologists might also find the book applicable to their fields

Cross-cultural Behaviour in Tourism Yvette Reisinger,Lindsay W.

Turner,2003 Reisinger and Turner illustrate the importance of cultural background in the tourist experience in this in depth study The authors cover the concepts definitions and measures of these cultural components and the tools used to analyse them

Contradictions of Neoliberal Planning Tuna Taşan-Kok,Guy Baeten,2011-09-24 This book argues that the concepts of neoliberalism and neoliberalisation while in common use across the whole range of social sciences have thus far been generally overlooked in planning theory and the analysis of planning practice Offering insights from papers presented during a conference session at a meeting of the Association of American Geographers in Boston in 2008 and a number of commissioned chapters this book fills this significant hiatus in the study of planning What the case studies from Africa Asia North America and Europe included in this volume have in common is that they all reveal the uneasy cohabitation of planning some kind of state intervention for the betterment of our built and natural environment and neoliberalism a belief in the superiority of market mechanisms to organize land use and the inferiority of its opposite state intervention Planning if anything may be seen as being in direct contrast to neoliberalism as something that should be rolled back or even annihilated through neoliberal practice To combine neoliberal and planning in one phrase then seems awkward at best and an outright oxymoron at worst To admit to the very existence or epistemological possibility of neoliberal planning may appear to be a total surrender of state planning to market superiority or in other words the simple acceptance that the management of buildings transport infrastructure parks conservation areas etc beyond the profit principle has reached its limits in the 21st century Planning in this case would be reduced to a mere facilitator of market forces in the city be it gentle or authoritarian Yet in spite of these contradictions and outright impossibilities planners operate within contribute to resist or temper an increasingly neoliberal mode of producing spaces and places or the revival of profit driven changes in land use It is this contradiction between the serving of private profit seeking interests while actually seeking the public betterment of cities that this volume has sought to describe explore analyze and make sense of through a set of case studies covering a wide range of planning issues in various countries This book lays bare just how spatial planning functions in an age of market triumphalism how planners respond to the overruling profit principle in land allocation and what is left of non profit driven developments

Ekurhuleni Phil Bonner, Noor Nieftagodien, 2012-11-01 The first academic work to provide an historical account and explanation of the development of this extended region to the east of Johannesburg since its origins at the end of the nineteenth century From the time of the discovery of gold and coal until the turn of the twenty first century the region comprised a number of distinctive towns all with their own histories In 2000 these towns were amalgamated into a single metropolitan area but unlike its counterparts across the country it does not cohere around a single identity Drawing on a significant body of academic work as well as original research by the authors the book traces and examines some of the salient historical strands that constituted what was formerly known as the East Rand and suggests that notwithstanding important differences between towns and the racial fragmentation generated by apartheid the region s history contains significant common features Arguably its centrality as a major mining area and then as the country s engineering heartland gave Ekurhuleni an overarching distinctive economic character
